Bolens Mulching Mower offers a new way to get rid of grass clippings...

Don't have any.

Instead of raking, bagging and hauling clippings, or watching them turn brown on the lawn, get a Bolens 22" Mulching Mower.™ When it cuts your grass, it also cuts and recuts the clippings into tiny particles that disappear down into your lawn. Out of sight. Where they become a mulch that feeds the lawn.

And since this mower doesn't throw out clippings, there's no discharge chute. So you mow with greater safety. And trim around trees and borders with both sides of the mower.

Other features include sure-footed front wheel drive. Grip 'n Go™ squeeze bar drive control. And your choice of manual or electric start. Also available in 20" and 18" hand-propelled models. Bolens Mulching Mower. "A good yard ahead."

CHANGES OVER THE LAKE

This whole Florida 'happening' came up so quickly last fall that practically the only thing we had time to think about was packing. Of course, that was more than enough — what to bring and what to leave in Tecumseh had us all in a tizzy. Happily I can report that we made surprisingly few mistakes.

However, all of the decision making left little time for speculating. And, in a way, that was good too.

We arrived by the small lake with few preconceived ideas of what would be going on. Therefore we have been surprised over and over again whereas had there been time to think, we would have known much of what was in store. Bird migration for example — had we thought much we would have known and expected the change in the bird population of the lake.

At first, of course, there were the gulls who came every day at tea-time. One of my early Florida articles dealth with them.

There were herring gulls, ring-billed gulls and a few immature great black-backed gulls. What made them so difficult to 'sort out' is that gulls change outfits with the seasons. Some are quicker to slip into up-to date fashions than others. Also, a gull's garb depends on his age, some taking as much as four years to acquire adult plumage.

A couple of months ago the tea-time gang left. They were replaced by a smaller flock of laughing gulls. These are handsome birds - white bodies, black heads and gray mantles on their wings. And the noise - their talk is a marvelously coarse and loud ha-ha-ha.

The laughters are still with They are not the beggars that the other gulls were and are not so easy to attract. A crust of bread or a stale cracker tossed on the lake any time of day would have the winter gulls, here, and in abundance.

The laughing gulls apparently keep no such sentinel posted. They do not keep close track of what is going on. The best way to feed laughing gulls is to wait until a few are investigating the lake and then hurry out with food.

I am strongly tempted to say that the best was saved for the last, but that would be wrong. We have enjoyed each and every bird who has flown over our lake. I admit though that we all have special spots in our hearts for the latest visitors. They are real charmers.

Terns found our lake about five weeks ago. I believe they are the least terns. White bodies, black on the heads, gray wings and a white tail. The tail is usually fanned wide and is forked. The fork is not the deep indentation that the common terns have.

We saw them at Dinedin Beach. Our birds are much smaller too - they could easily be the 8 inches long the bird-books say they should be.

To pick out more detailed field marks is next to impossible. These terns are superb fliers. They dart and dash, zig zag.

It is most frustrating to use binoculars and actually, it is the flying and diving we enjoy - who cares what color their eyes are? Eaters of tiny fish and insects, these terns fly quite high and then drop straight down to grab their lunch. These dives are something to watch.

As the bird flies along his head is bent so that his bill points straight down. Suddenly he spots something that looks tasty and immediately his long pointed wings quit their fast - well, actually those long and pointed wings beat so fast that it almost looks like fluttering - anyway, when the bird spots his prey, he drops straight down. Usually there is a little splash and he starts an upward flight to again resume the patrol.

Once in a while the bird changes his mind before he reaches the water and it is unbelieveable how fast he pulls out of his dive and begins flying. It is also amazing how dangerously close to shore they dive. Thank goodness there have been no broken necks.

So it is the antics and the actions that have all been exciting, - there was no time to guess what might happen, but we have thoroughly enjoyed the many changes over the lake.

Don't use scouring powder on your plumbing fittings or fixtures. Use only a mild soap and soft cloth. Scouring powder will dull the finish even on china or porcelain enamel. Toilet bowl cleaners will not dull the finish if they do not have abrasives in them. If you have gold faucets, you should be twice as careful, as it is only a thin layer of gold. You would wear it off if you used abrasives. Gold being softer, it would wear off faster than chrome.

HANDY HINT: Keep faucets from dripping so the lime or rust will not build up.

Mother and Daughter Buffet Held

Mrs. John Brantingham, daughter-in-law of a former pastor of Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church, addressed guests at the church's mother and daughter salad buffet, May 9.

She spoke on "Loving Letters," the banquet theme, and shared vignettes from her letters written to her own missionary mother.

The decorations and agenda of the program were set up like a post office.

Mrs. Mary King, Postmaster, presented each guest her mail, a program. Judy Schweikert, mail carrier delivered mail to postal inspector, Mrs. Russell Rieve.

Each letter marked "air mail," "special delivery," etc. announced a new part of the program when opened and read.

"Thank you note," or prayer before the banquet was led by Mrs. Amos Wilson.

At "pick up time," 200 guests were seated to eat. A "special delivery," piano duet was given by Mrs. Ashley Chase and daughter, Jackie. Tributes to mothers and daughters followed.

Amy Baker, Kay Linden and Grace Ann Carlson read letters to their mothers. Prizes were awarded to guests. Mrs. Larry Bush, delivered a vocal solo. Group singing was led by Mrs. Clarence Randolph.

Krista and Kim Rieve delivered a song. Offering taken was the "COD."

Banquet was sponsored by two missionary groups, the Willing Workers, the Frances DeVol Missionary Circle.

Bicentennial Community Application

Michigan Bicentennial Commission has approved the County Bicentennial Committee's application to have Lenawee County designated as a Bicentennial Community. This application will now be sent on to Washington in an effort to get the National Bicentennial Commission to declare Lenawee County as a Bicentennial Community.

Criteria involved includes having a committee that represents the entire community and having Bicentennial projects that are interesting and worthwhile. So far the county committee has endorsed the Bicentennial plans of Siena Heights College, the Town Meeting '76 project of the Clinton-Chamber of Commerce, the Farm Museum, and the "Town and Country" Photographic Display projects of the Lenawee Country Historical Society.

The Country Bicentennial Committee decided at its latest meeting, May 15, to continue developing its Underground Railway project and to really get moving on drawing up a Calendar of Bicentennial Events to be held in Lenawee County this year and next.

Any group or individual interested in helping is encouraged to contact the committee at the Lenawee County Historical Museum, 108 S. Main, Adrian, phone 265-6071.

Legion, VFW, Auxiliaries Boast Top Records

By Kathy Kulczyk Brown

Memorial Day is perhaps the only one day a year residents 'see' Tecumseh's veterans organizations, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) marching.

Although both organizations may not be in the public eye, these men and the Auxiliaries do more for the city than participate in ceremonies.

Memorial Day is a good time to review their histories, goals and activities.

The VFW Hall Slater Post No. 4187 of Tecumseh was organized 30 years ago, June 27, at a meeting in the high school gymnasium. First Commander was Kennith Wills.

An excerpt from the preamble explains the ideology:

"Comradeship and loyalty to the United States Government, fraternal, patriotic historical and educational; to preserve and strengthen comradeships among its members; to assist worthy comrades; to perpetuate the memory and history of our war dead and to assist their widows and orphans to maintain true allegiance to the government of the United States of American and fidelity to its Constitution and laws; to foster patriotism, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom and to preserve and defend the United States from all her enemies, whomsoever."

These goals are exercised through youth programs dealing with patriotism and [illegible] which includes [illegible] and Girl Scout troops, little league baseball leagues, and bowling teams.

It sponsors the Voice of Democracy contest and a poster contest, this year entitled, "Keep America Beautiful."

It has presented awards to the valedictorian and salutatorian for the last 25 years. It also presents flags for schools and other public buildings.

The use of VFW meeting room is available for civic projects.

VFW firing squard are still used at military funerals for veterans.

Money from the VFW poppy sales in May are placed into a separate benfit fund and used to assist needy veterans and families throughout the year and especially at the holidays.

Carroll Conklin, one of the charter members, is present commander. He said no history of the VFW would be complete without tribute to the Auxiliary founded July 20, 1945. They work closely with the veterans in all projects.

The VFW Post was named after Oscar S. Hall, who served in the war of 1898, and Jack F. Slater of World War II.

Oscar S. Hall born in Tecumseh, served in the Michigan National Guard in 1896. He enlisted in Co C, Michigan 31st Volunteers on April 26, 1898. Group was known as Gardners Red Necks.

His discharge shows that he served in Cuba, Philippines, Mendinau, Palawan, Paraguay, Guimeras and many other islands.

Hall died Sept. 23, 1942 at 64. His record described his character as excellent, service honest and faithful.

Pvt. Jack F. Slater was also born in Tecumseh. he lived here all his life and was inducted in the Army March 12, 1943. He was [illegible] Camp Custer, and then to Fort Sills, Okla., where he began his training in field military. He was sent to Shenango, then to east coast and North Africa, and on to Italy.

He was somewhere between Rome and Florence when he was killed July 7, 1944. Slater was in Battery A-125th F. A Battalion.

A gala celebration will mark the 30th anniversary of Tecumseh's VFW Hall Slater Post No. 4187. Celebration also marks the 20th anniversary of the present home on North Evans St.

The Underwood-Orr American Legion Post No. 34 of Tecumseh was organized July 19, 1919 in the Grange Hall, located then over what is now the Des Ermia furniture store. R.K. Anderson acted as chairman of the organization which had 23 charter members. First commander was Dr. H.H. Hammel. Present commander is Edward Brumm.

Anderson also organized the American Legion Auxiliary in April 1921. Alice L. Schneider was first president. Claire Helms is now president.

According to the preamble of the Legion, it is organized to:

"uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States . . . maintain law and order; foster and perpetuate a 100 percent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association during the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; . . . to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate our comradeship by mutual helpfulness."

A partial list of the activities and [illegible] the Tecumseh American Legion and Auxiliary Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 support is the Legion Junior Baseball, Boys' and Girls' State programs, which promote understanding of and stimulate interest in goverment. State Trooper program is a similar civic interest program for young men.

Post also promotes the national oratorical contest on "Americanism," donates flags to schools, Boy and Girl Scout troops.

Legionaires also post flags through the downtown area on patriotic holidays, such as Memorial Day, and place grave markers and flag holders in honor of deceased veterans.

Contributions have been made to senior citizens, Tecumseh Parks and Recreation, especially to help construct the shelter at Tecumseh Community Center.

In addition to civic interest the Legion and Auxiliary help to secure benefits for disabled veterans and dependents of deceased veterans. They are concerned with the medical care training and other help which veterans need. Legion Poppy Day sales held in May also support these needy veterans in the community.

Auxiliary assists in rehabilitation, children in youth, especially the Children's Billet at Outer Lake, a temporary foster home for veterans' children and programs in Americanism.

Legion Post was named after David Underwood of Ridgeway and Wilfred Orr from Tecumseh, both killed in World War I.

Underwood left home for Camp Custer and later Waco, Texas, where was trained as a member of Co. B of the 32nd Division of the Army. He traveled overseas with the 126th Infantry. He was killed instantly by a machine gun bullet in the side.

"He never knew what hit him," Jack Compambs, a close friend, wrote to Underwood's sister, Mrs. Eula Avery of Ann Arbor. Underwood died at Suzigny Soissons, on the front northeast of Paris on Aug. 29, 1918.

Not much could be found out about Wilfred Orr at this writing. He was supposedly killed in the same regiment at the same battle.

The Legion met in several downtown locations before the post home was built at Pottawatamie and Evans.

Commenting on membership of Vietnam veterans, Conklin of the VFW and William Berry, past commander of the Legion, said that some have joined but as yet have not taken leadership.

"Give them a few years. About the age of 30 when they get more settled and I think you will see them more active. Right now they are active in other things," said Berry.

"We have about 50 to 75 Vietnam veterans on the membership ranks. We paid the first year dues for them to encourage membership. But they seem to have too many other things they are involved with," said Conklin.

"They don't get involved in participation. Sometimes the women kind of push them (the men) along. Women can't be Auxiliarians unless their husbands join. Eventually, I think they will work into it. Takes time," Conklin predicted.

Election Concerns Millage, Bonding

BRITTON—Annual election of the Britton-Macon Area School District will be held on Monday, June 9, in the Ridgeway Township Hall. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters will be asked to approve an increase of two mills for additional operating expenses, plus renewal of 13.5 mills that expires this school year. This brings the total number of mills needed to 15.5 for operating expenses.

The two mill increase is needed to offset the rising costs that have taken place during this school year. The rising price of such commodities as natural gas, electricity, textbooks, paper products, gasoline, school buses, labor, and just about every item you can think of, has made it necessary for the Board to ask for additional operating expenses stressed Supt. William Saxton.

He added that there will also be a bonding proposition on the ballot to borrow $205,000 for the construction of a multi-purpose room, band room, band office, and a band practice room. The project will be financed over a 16 year period. Based upon next years state equalization valuation of $18,284,181, it will take approximately 1.3 mills per year to pay this off.

It will not be levying millage on the 1963 or the 1965 debts next year. School has enough money in the 1963 Debt Retirement to cover all future payments and there is enough balance in the 1955 debt fund to meet the next two year's payments.

If the bonding proposition passes, tax payers will be paying about 1.3 mills for Debt Retirement. This represents .3 of a mill increase over what they are paying this school year for Debt Retirement, stated Supt. Saxton.

Bi-centennial Journey

Food Preservation
By Thelma Younglove

Making certain that the pioneer and his family had a sufficient supply of food to last from one season to the next was a big problem. Many fruits and vegetables will not remain fresh for any length of time, and our modern methods were unknown. Perishables could not be obtained from other places due to the lack of transportation.

To keep foods from spoiling some were dried, stored in root cellars, or pitted.

Foods that were dried included sweet corn, peaches, apricots, apples, and pumpkin. When dried, the foods could be stored in a small space and would keep indefinitely.

To dry sweet corn, it was first husked and then cut from the cob, either after being boiled on the cob or before. It was then spread on trays and dried until all of the moisture had evaporated. If the corn had been thoroughly dried and properly stored it would keep well for a long time. To serve the dried corn, water was added to the amount desired and then the corn was allowed to simmer until tender. Just before serving, milk or cream was added. Then it was seasoned with butter and salt and pepper.

Apples were pared, cored, and cut into slices before being dried on shallow trays. When fresh apples were not available, the dried apple slices were used in making pies or dried much the same way as apples.

Soon after the settler built his home he made a root cellar. There the family could store their cabbage, beets, turnips, and other root crops without danger of them freezing.

Not all foods could be stored under like conditions. Some items needed to be kept where they were dry. Nuts and popcorn were dried and stored in the attic or other dry places.

Sometimes apples were kept fresh by pitting them. In the late fall the farmer dug a pit (basin like depression) approximately 18 inches deep and wide enough to hold about three bushels of apples. Into the pit he spread a thick layer of straw. Then the apples were piled onto the straw and a thick layer of straw was put over the apples. Next the straw was covered with several inches of soil. Corn stalks were placed over the last layer to shed the rain and keep the apples from freezing.

If the process had been properly done the apples would keep well through the winter. In the spring when the days were beginning to grow warmer the pit was opened. The layers of stalks, soil and straw were removed from the cold, crisp, juicy apples.

The taste of the apples, resulting from the pitting process is unforgettable and hard to describe, but so delicious.

Donald Reeck Arrives Home from Corps

BRITTON — Donald Reeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Reeck, arrived home last Friday from Ecuador, where he completed two years service with the Peace Corps.

Class of '60

NOW FACES BIGGEST CHALLENGE

Remember when you could send a postcard for 3¢, and for only 5¢ you could buy a candy bar? When 15¢ bought you a hot dog and 10¢ a refreshing root beer? You probably didn't know, but that also was the year your parents could buy a kilowatthour of electricity from us for 2.38 cents.

Things have changed a lot since 1960... music, politics, sports, our entire life style — and prices. Especially prices! For example, the same 10¢ root beer today will cost you 25¢. Why? Because sugar is essential in making root beer. And as the price of sugar goes up, so does root beer. That's exactly what has happened to the price of our kilowatthour.

Prices have soared for just about everything we buy. A coal-burning power plant, comparable in size to one built in 1960, would cost us over four times more to build, today, than 15 years ago. The equipment used to protect the natural environment adds from 15 to 40 percent to the cost of new generating stations. And the cost of coal used in electric generation has more than doubled.

Everyone's biggest challenge, yours and ours, is to make ends meet in these inflationary times. And we will be the first to admit that it isn't easy.

So, along with the price of everything else, the price we must charge you for electric service has been increasing. However, the average price you pay today for electricity has only increased approximately one cent per kilowatthour since 1960. And, when you consider what inflation has done over the past 15 years to the price of almost everything — including a root beer — we hope you will think your electric service is still a good buy.

I REALLY WANT TO FEEL GOOD ABOUT MYSELF! POEMS by former drug addicts Though the authors of these poems are all former addicts in their teens and early 20's, the poems are not about drugs and addiction. In honest fashion, they explore the entire range of human experience.

THE LIFESTYLE OF ROBIE BUCKERMAN, by Barbara Corcoran. A young girl trys to confront the problems of growing up. What makes Robie special? She refuses to put labels on anyone, young or old.

THE INDIVIDUAL, by Paul Good and the editors of Time-Life books. The first volume in a new Time-Life series entitled Human Behavior. This volume discusses what factors make people individuals. Areas explored are the contributions of famous psychologists of the 20th century, such as Freud and Jung, and the nature of creativity.

CHOICE MYSTERIES. An article in the Feb., 1975 WILSON LIBRARY BULLETIN spotlighted a few of last year's outstanding contributions to the mystery genre. Here are a few of those winners, waiting on the shelves at Tecumseh Public Library. All are new to the collection.

KILLERS OF THE MIND, edited by Lucy Freeman. This anthology by the Mystery Writers of America contains 32 stories, by Ellery Queen, Julian Symons and Stanley Ellin. The overall theme is crime of a psychological nature.

JUDAS CROSS by Jeffrey M. Wallman. One of the year's finest police novels. It tells the story of a detective who walks a thin line between duty and dishonesty. The unraveling of Detective Brashear's reputation begins the night his partner is murdered on duty while Brashear is out "doing something he shouldn't."

TRIP PLANNING. The library has many new books which suggest places to go on summer vacations and how to get there.

MOBIL TRAVEL GUIDES. Regional guides contain a wealth of travel information, including detailed road maps of each state in the region, and brief descriptions of cities and towns with suggestions for things to see and do. A very helpful feature is a listing of resorts, restaurants, and accomodations, with ratings and prices. The 1975 regional guides cover every region of the continental U.S.

Beginning readers can enjoy the latest book by Ezra Jack Keats, called KITTEN FOR A DAY. Told almost entirely in pictures, a puppy joins some kittens for a day of cat-style fun.

Doreen Gray - Kelly's unsual way of illustrating BEA'S BEST FRIEND makes this a funny treat for new readers. The silly people and the ugliest - and friendliest - dog are shown in photographs of clay figures. Bea, a girl who is scared by dogs, is "adopted" by a dog that won't stop until he becomes her best friend.

ALL ABOUT ARTHUR (an absolutely absurd ape) is an alphabet book by Eric Carle for young readers who know their alphabet well enough for some advanced word play. Each page of Arthur's travels reveals a new letter and an animal. For example: On a vacant lot in Valley Forge he met a very vain vulture named Victoria, sitting on a vase viewing the valley. (It seems that Sesame Street should select such sounds for some secret students past preschool.)

Maurice Sendak's recent television special, "Really Rosie," introduced many children to Rosie and some of her friends. For further adventures try THE SIGN ON ROSIE'S DOOR. Readers will finish the four chapters still eager for More!"

Primary and middle-grade historians will like Jean Fritz's latest introduction for this age group to little-known stories of famous Revolutionary Americans. WHY DON'T YOU GET A HORSE, SAM ADAMS? follows the scruffy horse-hating brother of the future president, John Adams, as he becomes "the father of independence."

For historical firsts and other unusual facts, middle-grade readers will enjoy browsing through THE ILLUSTRATED BOOK OF WORLD RECORDS by Bill Adler. Scattered throughout the book are the answers to such varied questions as "Where is the dryest spot in the world," "Who invented the parking meter," or "When were pretzels invented?"

Sunday Storm Leaves City, Area in Mess

A severe storm late Sunday afternoon ripped through Tecumseh and area, toppling trees, snapping off branches and causing considerable damages, including $1,500 to the roof of the new Harvey's Restaurant.

Cal Zorn, city manager, reports at least six trees were toppled in the community. Hundreds of limbs and branches were broken off, littering city streets. Tecumseh street department employees were on the job immediately after the storm went through and worked Sunday evening and Monday, Memorial Day, hauling away limbs and other debris from the storm.

Many city streets are still lined with broken limbs and branches.

Local police department received nearly 30 calls from residents, reporting trees and power lines down due to the storm.

Harvey Carpenter, owner of Harvey's Restaurant, estimates $1,500 damages to the restaurant's roof, which may or may not have been caused by a tornado. He reported seeing a "wall of wind" approach his restaurant from the southwest.

He herded approximately 20 people, including employees, to the basement. When the wind passed through, it ripped off much of the roof, discarding it in the restaurant's parking lot and on the adjacent Tecumseh Plywood property.

The storm was also blamed for sucking out insulation in the ceiling of the pro shop at the Tecumseh Country Club, depositing the insulation several inches thick in the main room of the building.

Board Candidates Speaking

Local branch of the American Association of University Women will present the Tecumseh Board of Education candidates in a public forum Sunday, June 1 at 8 p.m. at the Tecumseh Community Center.

The seven candidates vying for the two available positions on the seven person board are William K. Brown and Hugh A. DesErmia, both incumbents; Maynard Harris, Betty Kline, Louis Tepfenhart, Helen Patricia (Ely) Tressler, Stephen D. Walsh.

The candidates will each be given an opportunity to state their views and then a question and answer period will follow.

Dr. Erwina Godfrey, a professor at Adrian College will be the moderator.

AAUW President Virginia Hill stated that, because the Board of Education is an important policy-making body in the school system, we expect much interest in this forum. We in AAUW are happy to provide an important service for the citizens of the Tecumseh area schools."

Rash of Thefts, B&Es Hit Tecumseh Residents

Thefts, including three breaking and enterings, were on the increase here the past week with losses estimated to run over $2,000.

Robert Sterling, 5000 Burt St., reported his residence was broken into last Wednesday with losses topping $1,300, of which $730 was in cash.

East outside door of the house was broken during the entry. The cash and a watch and wedding rings, valued at $600, were taken from the master bedroom.

Other items in the home were not touched. Police are still investigating.

H.A. Tooman, 503 Orchard Lane, reported two electric saws, electric drill, a number of other tools plus two bicycles stolen from the garage at this residence. No estimate of the loss was reported.

Ward Eardley, city recreation director, told police Tuesday that the new press box at the softball diamond on N. Evans St. was broken into with a loss of approximately $50 in softballs. Entry was gained by kicking in a door. Two windows also were broken in the building which was built this spring and just recently opened.

Bicycles were again on the list of thefts.

Mrs. Edward Rapin, 116 Maple St., reported last Wednesday that two 10-speed bikes were taken from the garage at the residence. The bikes were almost a year old.

Paul Kruger, W. Pottawatamie, told officers Tuesday that a 10-speed bicycle, valued at $100, as stolen from his home.

Father, Daughter Walk Away from Plane Crash

A father and daughter miraculously walked away from an airplane crash Sunday afternoon, an accident blamed on the storm that passed through the area.

Richard Van Sickle and his daughter, Kandace, 20, had just taken off from the local airport when he saw the storm approach. In an attempt to swing back to the airport, the plane's wings clipped a couple of trees, sending the plane crashing just south of Dillingham Dr. into an open field.

Van Sickle, of Tipton, a pilot for a number of years here, is in Herrick Hospital with a hairline fracture of the pelvic bone, and severe lacerations of the head and shoulder.

He expects to be confined at the hospital for the next week to 10 days.

Kandace, a junior at Michigan State University, suffered only bruises and has returned to college.

Louis Masters and his family had just returned to their residence on Dillingham Dr. when the plane crashed, about 100 yards from their home. Van Sickle and his daughter were already standing outside the plane when Masters rushed outside to check on the noise.

The plane, a Cessna 140, is a total loss.

Race Winners

The Second Annual Tecumseh Canoe Race, sponsored by the Exchange, American Legion, and Recreation Department was held on Memorial Day, and for the 31 entries, it was a memorable day.

Boy, 6, Is Hospitalized after Being Struck by Car

A six-year-old Tecumseh boy, Lawrence Kabasa Jr., of 210 Cairns, is in St. Joseph Hospital after being struck by a car last Friday near his home.

According to the police report, the young boy ran directly in front of a car driven by Robert B. Lawson, 19, of 508 Cairns. Lawson, who has been cleared of any blame for the mishap, swerved in attempt to miss the boy but caught him with the front right bumper.

The boy is in a cast at the Ann Arbor hospital with a broken femur, possibly broken in two places, according to local police.

Other accidents on city streets were comparatively minor. A resume is:

May 21 - Charles R. Hyatt, 38, of 6671 Mill Hwy., was driving west on Herrick Park Dr. when his brakes failed. Rather than run into a school bus, he swerved off the street and struck a house at 217 Herrick Park Dr.

May 23 - Catherine S. Kopka, 19, Britton and William C. Silberhorn, 17, Rogers Hwy., scraped while both were driving south on N. Evans St.

May 25 - Michael W. Filter, 24, of 110 N. Oneida and Jimmy Martinez, 17, Adrian, bumped when Martinez attempted to pass on W. Chicago Blvd.

May 25 - Thomas M. Cook II, 18, of 1202 Murray Dr., was cited for failure to stop within an assured clear distance after running into the rear of a car operated by Robert D. Cook, 18, of 401 Seneca.

Truck Stolen from Dealer

Les Dallas, local Dodge and American Motors dealer, reported a 1975 Dodge ¾-Ton truck stolen to police Tuesday afternoon.

The truck, equipped with a snow blade, is valued at $6,961.69.

State Starts Project, But -

Surveyors, employed by the State Highway Department, have been working in the congested area of W. Chicago Blvd. in preparation for widening the highway there to three lanes.

Proposed plan calls for three lanes from approximately Sunset Dr. past the Harvey House Motel.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says bids were supposed to have been opened in May but the construction work was never advertised for bids. It's not known whether the state plans to proceed with the construction this summer, or just when.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor;

I would like to take the opportunity provided by our local paper to thank all the people who helped make the Tecumseh band's trip to Holland, Michigan a success.

First to the 91 volunteer band students, including drum major, banner carriers, and twirlers who marched 1.5 miles for Tecumseh in the Tulip Festival Parade. It was a truly fantastic show of support for our marching program.

I would also like to thank Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, my close friend Dean Snyder, and my wife Kathy Rice for chaperoning the trip. And to the bus drivers, Mrs. Tilton and her husband, Mrs. Luce and Mr. Nicolai and his wife. Because of these people our ride was safe and reasonably comfortable.

I would also like to thank the parents who took students in their cars either going to Holland or coming back. And finally found me aimlessly wandering the streets of Holland after the parade. Again, thanks to everyone, the trip was a tremendous success.

Director of Bands

Fun Is First To Tecumseh's New Assistant Librarian

A new assistant librarian, Lois Sprengnether, began her duties at Tecumseh Public Library May 1. Mrs. Sprengnether and her husband, Robert live in the rural area of Dundee.

Mrs. Sprengnether has just completed her Master's in Library Science at the University of Michigan. Except for this last semester as a full-time student, she took one course each semester while working full-time as the head of the Monroe County Library System's Children's Services Department since 1971.

Mrs. Sprengnether created that department under federal funding and developed programs for preschool and school age children in each of their fifteen branches, on radio and cable television, as well as selection of all children's books and films.

She came to the job after a dust allergy convinced her to leave her job as Textile Supervisor at Goodwill Industries in Toledo. Because of this, it's certain that the Tecumseh Public Library books will "gather no dust!"

A native of St. Louis, Mo., her background is a combination of theatre and recreation. While working for the St. Louis Y.W.C.A. as Young Adult Program Director, she worked with every age from six months (in the gym and pool) to grandparents.

Before this she directed a touring theatre company known as Caravan Players, producing shows for children. She assisted the director of the Actor's Workshop of St. Louis, worked at various community theatres and the Loretto Hilton Theatre, a professional repertory theatre on the campus of Webster college, where she received her bachelor's degree.

It may seem like a long way from there to today, but Lois (who never expects anyone to recall "that long last name") states that it began as a child when her mother taught her that books, and libraries were fun.

Mixed into all of this were high school and college summers spent camp counseling, to produce her own recipe for libraries and young people: "first of all it has to be fun."

TECUMSEH THOUGHTS

The time-lag which I am working is a bit confusing. I must allow the post office a few days, once we begin serious packing there will be no article writing time, we are not exactly sure how long it will take the white [illegible] to travel from Florida to Michigan and, let's admit it, the three Duncans are going to need two or three days to rest and unpack once we arrive home. What I am trying to say is that when this article goes to press we should be in Michigan. I am dictating in Florida though.

My thoughts keep straying Tecumseh way and that is probably why the bird action is reminding me of what I will be watching through other windows very soon. Grackles for instance. The horrendous hordes which blackened the yards a few months ago have, of course, thinned out a great deal. There are still too many around, but I imagine there are even more waiting for us alon the banks of Evans Creek.

Actually, if we must have grackles in Michigan, and it appears that we must, it is a shame they cannot be the boat-tailed grackles. I hate to admit it but they are quite attractive. The male looks much like an overgrown purple grackle except that he lacks the yellow eye-ring and thus does not look as evil and sinister. He does though have the same pretty iridescent head. The female is lovely. Instead of being a dull imitation of her mate, her head, shoulders and upper breast are burnished coppery tan.

The male is 16½ inches long and of this a good 7 inches is tail. The female is 12½ inches in length. Both have heavy, large bills.

There is a vacant lot on one side of our coach and just lately it has been the happy anting grounds for a yellow-shafted flicker.

Just to confuse Mom, the other day red-bellied woodpecker lit in the same area the flicker likes. Her first thought was that the flicker had suddenly grown a much larger red crescent on the back of his head, but a second look showed that this was not so. Yesterday the woodpecker lit on Bill's palm tree for a second. The black and white ladder striping on his back showed up nicely.

Gradually the mockingbirds are extending their range into southern Michigan and I only wish we could help matters along by bringing home a whole station wagon full. How we have enjoyed these birds! Their mimicking of other birds has to be heard to be believed.

The same is almost true of their agressiveness. A pair had a nest in a thick clump of - - well, we never have found out exactly what the clump is, but it looks like some kind of a palm with no trunk. Anyway, the birds had a nest there and oh, how they did make sure that nobody else came into the clump. In fact, they would not let a grackle even into the yard. The chases were fast, furious and noisy.

The young mockers are out of the nest now and learning how to forage for themselves. The parents are still taking care of them though, and the chasing covers a larger area than before. Crows are the enemy. Boat-tailed grackles, too.

The mockingbirds work together and synchronize their dive-bombing attacks. Once the 'enemy' has been forced to leave the ground they do not ease up one little bit. They press the attack, and the other day, we watched as they actually made contact. We expected to see feathers fly.

Even some sounds are making us think Tecumseh and the creek. We have seen no quail but they are talking. Loud and clear, their bob-bob-white carries back and forth across the lake — shades of how they talk back and forth across our little creek.

As for the birds we hear each night, I guess a sure identification will have to wait until I can listen carefully to my song-bird records. After dark, and continuing until very late, there are birds that we think say whip-poor-will. Gerry and Vic tell us it is more likely that we have Chuck-will's widow. A mystery to be solved.

The bird-feeder is as busy as ever. But speaking of familar birds, just look at who our patrons have been lately. Handsome papa cardinal, pretty mourning doves, a cocky tufted-titmouse and a few English sparrows. Content to scratch for food that other birds have knocked from the feeder is an occasional song-sparrow. All we need now is a bluejay.

So when you read this, the three Duncans will, without a doubt, be looking at Tecumseh sights but, as it is being dictated, I am merely thinking Tecumseh thoughts.

Bi-centennial Journey

Diets of Early Settlers

By Thelma Younglove

Many changes have been made in the eating habits of people in Michigan since the first settlers established their homes here.

At first, the settlers diets consisted chiefly of meat (wild game), fish, wild fruits and berries, nuts, corn, and other grains used for bread, hominy, mush, and hasty pudding.

From the wilderness, the pioneers were able to get venison, squirrels, and rabbits. Wild turkeys were also common in the area. Since there was no refrigeration in those days and few ways to preserve food other than drying, salting, or smoking, most of it was used while it was fresh.

Not until after the settler had cut down trees and made a clearing in the densely wooded region was he able to plant any crops. At first, for the lack of machinery, the planting and harvesting was done with simple hand tools. With such limited equipment, only small plots were planted among the stumps. Crops were wheat, corn, potatoes, and a few other vegetables.

Each year the farmer tried to clear a little more land and increase the size of the area tilled.

Along with his farming, the settler built a better home - usually a small log cabin. Having provided shelter for his few animals.

To begin with, he had a horse or if finances allowed, a team of horses. Later he acquired a cow or two. Then the family fared better. Cows provided milk from which cream, butter, buttermilk, and cheese could be made. If possible the farmer obtained a pig or two, and chickens. Now the family had eggs and occasionally a chicken to eat.

Farm families had to make do with what they had or go without. What few stores there were in the state were often miles away, and because of the lack of roads and poor traveling conditions, they were not easily reached.

Even if a store had been more accessible, many of the settlers would not have been able to buy. They lacked money for the barest necessities. Yet, those courageous pioneers managed to succeed.

If those early settlers could revisit the scenes of their labors today and see the many, many changes that have come about since they struggled so hard for existence, what would they think? We must give them credit for their efforts and their accomplishments. They did much to make our country great.

LARC Holds Last Meeting

Lenawee Association for Retarded Citizens (LARC) will be holding its last regular meeting until fall June 2. Meeting is at Lenawee Institute, 7:30 p.m.

Program will be "Retarded Persons Need Recreation, too." Everyone is invited to express their ideas on the subject.

LARC initiated a social work program for young adults. It grew, became separately incorporated as LARC Activity Center, and is now part of the cooperative Goodwill-LARC Rehabilitation Center.

LARC initiated a swim program in cooperation with the YMCA and volunteers from area schools and college. That venture has been stimulated by real concern for making it a more structured period with trained volunteers and inclusion of a larger number of swimmers.

LARC is now reaching for a new goal - one that touches every retarded person and his or her family. That is, both physical and social.

A number of young people participated in the Regional Special Olympics held in May at Adrian College Winners will compete June 5, 6, 7, & 8 at the State Special Olympics in Mt. Pleasant, Central Michigan University.

MARC conference will be June 26-28 at Cedar, Sugar Loaf Village, not far from Traverse City. Care is provided for your retarded child, his brothers and sisters. Family is urged to attend.

LARC will pay registration for anyone going. Call Grace Miley for details.

What's Up at THS

By JUDY SIBRT

A new program at Tecumseh High School was launched into action. Now, in addition to their regular counselors, students have been assigned to teachers who will leave their professions behind and become a friend.

The purpose is simply to get the students and faculty closer together; to make better relationships between them.

Teachers along with most students are in favor of this program and feel that it is a really good idea. Although teachers are assigned, students can talk to any other teacher.

Some students feel it is unneeded as they cannot see themselves going to talk to a strange teacher about problems. "That's what friends are for," said one THS student.

The majority of students expressed their desire to have had this program long ago.

The faculty at THS first heard about this program at an In Service Day. They thought it sounded like a good idea, and after asking some of their classes about it, they put it into action.

They formed a committee with Mrs. Diana Wakeford, acting chairman. The committee then proceeded to set up its schedule.

Each teacher had the same amount of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors.

When asked for their reaction to the new program, the Guidance Director John Pobuda simply said, "It's a good thing."

He said it gives students a chance to realize that teachers are human too. He said that interestingly enough some faculty members had remarked to him that their students were very quiet when put in this informal situation. Mr. Pobuda, along with other members of the staff, feels this program should be continued.

When asked if it has been successful so far, Mrs. Ruth Prettyman a committee member, said, "If one student finds a friend to talk to, it was a success." And it is.

Mrs. Holtz, an English teacher replied "I really like the idea and wouldn't want to give it up." She especially seemed to like the idea of meeting more students.

The administrators gave no comment on the programs success as they are not directly involved and cannot evaluate the program until the staff meeting at the end of the year. They will then get comments from the teachers as to how they felt it went.

OFF AND AWAY—Tecumseh's Senior Citizens are pictured on a touring bus shortly before they left for a trip south last Thursday morning. Forty-six made the trip including Ward Eardley. Highlights of the trip included a tour of old and new Grand Ole Opry in Nashville. The group also took in several sights in Bardstown, Kentucky. They all returned Monday night. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Fellowship Plans To Honor Graduates

CLINTON—Members of the Women's Fellowship made plans to honor 26 graduates of Clinton High School, who are associated with the United Church of Christ, during the Fellowship luncheon meeting last Thursday. Senior recognition reception will be held during the coffee hour June 8.

Committee in charge of the reception includes Mrs. David Heimerdinger, Mrs. Hugh Pike and Mrs. Wesley Maki.

Officers of the Fellowship arranged the luncheon attended by 20 members.

Guest speaker at the luncheon, John Barran, director of Maurice Spear Campus, Adrian, named "rejection by parents, promiscuous homes, alcoholism and sexual abuse" as the principal reasons youngsters begin to offend society.

Based on his extensive experience with some of the nation's "toughest kids" in detention centers in several states, the former Brother of the Holy Cross, Notre Dame, called the Spear Campus "one of the best". A recent in-depth study conducted during the past year confirmed this opinion, he said.

Over one million youth run away from home yearly, he said, aged 13 to 17 and over half are girls. There were 25,000 youths in detention in Michigan last year.

The Lawrences moved to Clinton in June 1969.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence are parents of three married children: Terry, Randy, and Mrs. Thomas (Tina) Prichard, all of Clinton. The Lawrence's moving plans are not finalized at this date.

Church Camp Sponsored

CLINTON—Local churches are sponsoring an Ecumenical Community Church camp at Judson Collins campsite, Wampler Lake, June 22-28.

Theme is "Appreciating the gifts of others, of other people, of other religious traditions, and other cultures."

Camp is open to all youth of the community, especially those going into the fourth through seventh grades next fall.

One male and one female counselor will be assigned to each group of five boys and five girls.

Campers will be able to experience God, in the outdoors, hiking, canoeing, swimming and cooking out.

Cost is $44.50 for the week and some scholarships are available for those in need.

For information ask your own pastor or priest or call Rev. Ronald Corl, 456-4972 or 456-4016, or Rev. Earl Lawrence, 456-4363, or the camp deans, 456-7376.

Honors Banquet Is Scheduled

CLINTON—Instead of the usual honors assembly, Clinton High School will have an honors banquet, June 5 at 6 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Honored students and their parents are invited to the potluck dinner and the awards presentation program in the auditorium.

Faculty will present awards to the top ten students, valedictorian, salutatorians, class awards in home economics, math, science, inter-mural sports, student of year, senior athlete of year, and many other awards.

The Adrian facility handles about 400 boys and girls a year and has 64 there now.

Girls are most often detained because of truancy, petty theft, promiscuity, and most have been pregnant once or more have had an abortion.

Boys are there because of adult crimes, armed assualts, manslaughter, armed robbery, aggravated assualt, or B & E's.

All feel they are lacking love, security on the part of parents and self-esteem. Barran said.

After psychiatric testing, youth are placed in positive peer culture groups (PPC) of ten each. All activities and therapy is conducted within this peer group unit, and a youth is never without at least two of his peers at all times.

At lengthy group discussions each night, youth are required to relate their daily transgressions or faults to their peers, who have "an unusual perception" Barran said.

Should additional psychotherapy be indicated, youth are assigned to a case worker or psychiatrist for daily conferences.

Staff members are required to "project the postive" and to encourage the troubled youth to accept the values to general society.

Emphasis on educational help includes remedial reading and math, reasoning, and communication. Music, writing and biblio-therapy are offered. Emphasis is on how to become a better person.

An expanding athletic program is offered and competition is held with other youth institutions.

A youth's peers decide when he is ready to "move out" for a month in preparation for full release. During this time the youth comes back once a week on a trial basis.

Barran suggested that greater "back up" encouragement from communities would be helpful to the youth when they are discharged from the campus.

Some 13 counties have requested access to send youth to the Maurice Spear Campus, an in order to keep the facility filled to its most efficient capacity, many out-of-county youth are accepted. The other counties pay for this service.

The facility operates on a $600,000 yearly budget with state and federal funds providing half of the cost of operation.

"We are a family oriented facility" Barran said. "If you are consistant, compassionate, and understanding, they will reciprocate," he summed up his remarks.

New Fellowship officers were installed at a candlelight service conducted by Mrs. Clayton Strolle. Mrs. Hugh Pike gave the devotions.

Next meeting will be in September.

Another young reference book is the new MACMILLAN DICTIONARY FOR CHILDREN, Intermediate graders can find the spelling, meaning, usage, and pronuniciation of 30,000 words. Believing that "a picture is worth a thousand words," the dictionary has over a thousand illustrations in full-color. Occasional special notes form an introduction to the history of words. For example, did you know that the word garbage first meant "the insides of an animal used as food?" It seems that the people who ate it were only those too poor to buy the more expensive meat. Because of this garbage, now means "food that is thrown out."

SNEAKY PEOPLE, by Thomas Berger, is notable for its colorful characterizations and realistic portrait of the small town Midwest of the thirties. Buddy Sandifer, a natfily-dressed, middle-aged car dealer, decides to murder his wife and marry his mistress Laverne. His problem is how to bring off the crime. Setting and dialogue seem totally true to the time period, and the novel is both funny and wise - an enjoyable reading experience.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS is by Sheila Gordon. Taking place in racially-torn Johannesburg, this novel concerns Paul, a doctor who returns to South Africa after a 10-year political exile in London. Paul had originally been exiled because he had treated a wounded fugitive black guerilla. During his one-week visit, Paul again must decide whether to endanger himself by aiding a black political prisoner. Not only is the novel well plotted, but it provides a detailed description of South Africa's apartheid society.

BROTHERS, by Bobby Jack Nelson, is about Jimmy Ray and Curly, two brothers living in a small Texas town. Curly, restless and argumentative, relieves his boredom by causing trouble; Jimmy Ray, quiet and hardworking, always bails him out. But one day, when Curly humiliates the town bully, he creates a situation Jimmy Ray can not smooth out.

Britton's baseball squad won three contests but lost to Sand Creek in pre-district competition during the past week.

The Tories now post a 7-2 league record and are guaranteed at least a share of the Tri-County conference title. And if they beat Deerfield next Monday they'll own the title exclusively.

Britton easily won over Whitmore Lake last Wednesday 7-2. The Tories had seven hits and Randy Smith pitched the [illegible] three hits, striking out seven and walking seven.

The Tories defeated Dundee Thursday 9-3 with nine hits. Mike Servoss had three hits including a second inning home run. Mike Saxton had two and Craig Wagenschutz one single and one double. Dan Exelby, Jim Cradit and Tim Kurowicki each had a single.

Jeff Brown was the winning pitcher for Britton striking out four, walking five and allowing eight hits.

In pre-district competition, the Tories lost to Sand Creek 3-2. The two runs came from a home run each for Mike Servoss in the fourth inning and Alan Reau in the fifth inning.

Sand Creek scored their three runs in the first inning.

On Tuesday of this week, Britton defeated Faithway Baptist in a non-conference game 8-2.

Nine Tories scored 11 hits including three singles from Craig Wagenschutz, a triple from Jim Cradit and a double from Tim Kurowicki.

Randy Smith pitched the game striking out nine, walking two and allowing three hits.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

Jewelry, as all fine things, should have a place where it can be displayed and admired. You can make a display area for your fine jewlery very easily, with a piece of cardboard, some velvet, and a picture frame. Simply cover the heavy cardboard with velvet -- black or blue are always nice backgrounds -- and fit it into a picture frame. Then pin the jewelry to the velvet. You can hang these "pictures" anywhere in your house, but they are especially nice ornaments for milady's bedroom.

For all your jewelry and gift needs come in and see the fine displays at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Solid stainless by Oneida, sterling silver, silverplate, pewter, decorator clocks are available for wedding, engagement and other gifts, men's jewelry by Anson, American Tourister luggage and Rolf leather goods are here for your Father's Day gift needs.

ALLIE LUCKHARDT WITH 'SATCHMO'

PAVILION TO BE TORN DOWN

End of Era at Wamplers

By KENT DOWNING

Remember "Racing with the Moon," theme song of Vaughn Monroe, and some of the other big band names like Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Duke Ellington, and Harry James? Some of the big bands are still playing, Les Brown and Woody Herman, for instance.

Allie Luckhardt, manager of Tecumseh Country Club, for one, remembers many of the big bands, especially those who played at Allie's Place when he ran it. For 20 years, 1945-1965, Allie owned and managed what is known today as the old Wamplers' Lake pavilion.

Those who visited the pavilion, Allie's Place, and described the place like Allie, "You didn't live unless you went to Allie's on Saturday night," will be sorry to hear that the pavilion is going to be torn down in the near future. Strict new Norvell Township laws demand that present owner, Robert Baumgardner, either fix the building or remove it.

The original pavilion was built by George Niesle. Allie bought the building from Niesle at the end of the 1944 summer. He then opened Allie's Place from May 1 to Labor Day for 20 consecutive years.

Allie sold his place in 1965 to Robert Baumgardner, present owner.

Before Allie opened his place in the summer of 1945, he [illegible] pavilion. Then in 1957, he added additional room in the pavilion for 75 people, and a dance floor in his enlarged bar. Over the years Allie went on to add a marina, campground, miniature golf, Dairy Queen, and arcade.

Activities during this era not only included dancing, but also a Tuesday night smorgasbord and Friday night fish fry.

Dancing ran six nights a week at Allie's, except Mondays, and featured a big band on Saturdays. A house band was hired each summer to play on week days.

Then as the big bands became less popular, Allie was forced to stop dancing in his place one night a week at a time. By the time he sold his place, dancing was only on Saturday nights. The big bands did not play at Allie's the last few years, but disc-jockies played records.

Joe Van, former CKLW disc-jockey, worked for Allie for two years. It was truely the end of the big band era, Allie explained, as the disc-jockies and records became popular.

Do not get the impression here, however, that Allie's place was not popular or successful in its time because the big bands left. Clark Lake, Pleasant Lake, Devils Lake and Wamplers Lake pavilions all changed hands at the time Allie started his place. All the pavilions had at least some name bands, but none survived except Allie's place.

No pavilion had so many name bands playing as Allie's. He named off a list of some of the bands from memory: Harry James, Tommy Dorsey, Ray Anthony, Vaughn Monroe, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Les Brown, Gaylords, Jan Garber, Charlie Spivak, Duke Ellington, Gene Krupa, Woody Herman, Billy May and many others.

Allie's favorite band? No question about it, it was Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

Allie uses two simple, but accurate phrases for Satchmo - he was great and he was quite a character. Allie reminisced to explain Satchmo's character. The big band members traveled by bus, all but Stachmo. Once he sent his band and manager on to Allie's place while he stayed [illegible] Satchmo arrived later in [illegible] that came all the way from Jackson.

Allie's attendance record-breaking band? Again, no question about it. It was Harry James. James drew a crowd of 1,200 in 1947. Name bands there usually drew crowds of 500 to 600, but would range from 200-700.

As the Country Club manager sat in a comfortable chair, he reminisced more, and smiled as many of the old memories popped into his head.

Once, he explained, he had a chance to book Lawrence Welk for $500. Allie had to turn the offer down. He would have lost money on the deal, because Welk would not attract a crowd big enough to make a profit. This was before Welk's television debut.

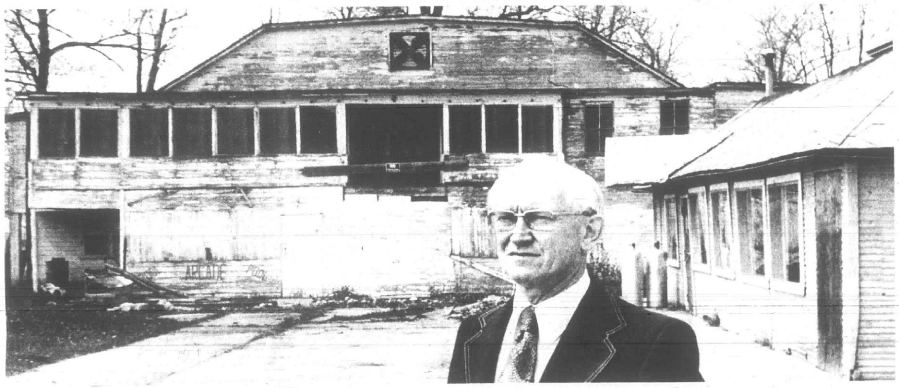
Another time, about 1957, Ray Anthony was playing Allie's Place and asked to use the phone. Anthony promptly called and proposed to Mamie Van Dorn, blond movie star. They married the following week in Toledo. That next week, Anthony played a one-nighter in Sylvania. Allie was a guest at Anthony's table.

[illegible] memories? [illegible] many get Christmas cards from Satchmo, Les Brown, Freddie Martin and Harry James like Allie use to? He still hears from some of the big timers occasionally.

And the crowds? Allie entertained such favorites as Dave and Mike Hill, Supreme Court Justice John Swainson, and many of the Detroit Lions. That is hard to forget.

The memories are many and exciting to Allie and others who visited Allie's Place. That era is gone, however, and the last physical reminder of that era, the old pavilion, is about to be torn down. The memories of that era will probably never be gone, however, as long as people's memories do not fail them.

country's most famous big bands came to Allie's at the pavilion



A JUMPING PLACE — Only a few years ago when the big bands played at Allie's, the pavilion was a jump-place. . fox trot, jitter-bugging and all the latest dance steps for teenagers and those in the twenties. Hard to believe, but those years of 15 to 30 years ago are gone and will never be replaced. And, that includes the pavilion. Only memories remain of that popular spot where Ellington played the piano, Harry James' trumpet rang out, Vaughn Monroe sang Racing with the Moon, and the late "Satchmo" strutted about, water dripping from his face as he entertained hundreds of local youth. Today, Allie Luckhardt stands in front of the old pavilion, a far cry from yesterday. The pavilion will soon be razed, a landmark of Wamplers' Lake and the "good old days" gone forever. VOL. 124 OUR 125th YEAR—NO. 38 THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1975 FOURTEEN PAGES—20c

Funeral Rites Thursday for Dr. George Wilson

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church for Dr. George C. Wilson, 50, 4140 Dillingham Dr., Clinton, who died at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday morning at home.

He suffered from a heart condition for the past six months.

Dr. Wilson was born October 15, 1924 in Tecumseh the son of Harold E. and Mildred C. (Haines) Wilson. He graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1942 and attended the University of Michigan earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1946. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Illinois in 1948.

From 1948 to 1951 he served in the U.S. Navy interning at Harper Hospital in Detroit from 1948-1949. He served his residency at Guantanamo, Cuba, Eglin Field in Florida and Dearborn Veterans Hospital before entering private practice in Clinton in 1952.

He married Lois Johnson on August 29, 1949 who died November 4, 1957. On October 28, 1961 he married Ruby Slusher who survives.

Dr. Wilson was a member of the First Baptist Church and Masonic Lodge No. 175 in Clinton. He was also a member and former Chief of Staff at Herrick Memorial Hospital. In addition, he was a member and past president of the Lenawee County Medical Society and was a member of the American Medical Association, Michigan Medical Association, the Flying Physician's Association, and the American College of Emergency Physicians.

He was licensed to practice in the state of Florida.

Survivors besides his wife include: a daughter, Janice L. and son, Daniel G., Jackson St., Clinton, five children at home, Lana, Rachel, Andrew, Raymond and Jared; his father Harold E., formerly of Tecumseh now living in Bradenton, Fla.; one sister, Mrs. David (Louise) Faling; a niece and nephew David and Laurie of Tecumseh.

Check Cairns for Safety, Stop Sign

Police Chief Ray Walton agreed at Monday night's Council meeting to check on traffic speed and flow on Cairns Street to see if stop signs are possible and safe.

Fifty residents of Cairns Street petitioned Council for traffic signs to slow traffic down along their road. Children safety was their main concern.

Request resulted from cars and motorcycles speeding through the street at rates reportedly often exceeding 40 m.p.h. and drag racing at night. Request also stemmed from a recent child-car accident, but the accident was not the fault of a speeding car.

Residents of the area explained that there were no traffic signs from M-50 to Shady Lane on their road and traffic was unbelieveably fast for a residential area.

Possibility of sidewalks for the street was also discussed, so that children would not have to ride their bicycles on the street.

Board Posts, Millage on Monday's Ballot

Although there are two issues on next Monday's school ballot, neither are apt to pull a sizeable turnout of voters to the polls, which will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The issues include a race for the School Board and 18.5 mills for two years for school operation.

Seven candidates are competing for two four-year terms on the Board. Candidates include two incumbents, William Brown and Hugh Des Ermia, and Maynard Harris, Betty Kline, Louis Tepfenhart, Helen Patricia (Ely) Tressler and Stephen Walsh. A resume of the candidates is on this page.

Millage issue practically amounts to a renewal that voters have approved for a number of years. The increase of a half-mill was forced on the Board through a state aid program still in the legislature at Lansing.

Without approving millage totaling 27 mills, districts could lose a portion of their state aid monies. The 18.5 mills will bring Tecumseh's total to the necessary 27 mills.

If the millage is passed — and it's a must if the schools are to open next September — it does not mean that the School Board will levy the full amount. Last year, for example, voters approved 18 mills and the Board levied just 17 mills.

Officials will not determine until August the amount of funds needed to operate the schools. At that time they will, or expect to know the amount of state aid allocated for the schools for 1975-76.

However, it is doubtful that the school can get by on 17 mills. Inflation, current negotiations with school personnel and a yet to be determined amount of state funds will probably necessitate the schools levying more than 17 mills.

Absentee ballots are available at the Board of Education office from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

7 Candidates in School Board Race

WILLIAM K. BROWN

HUGH DES ERMIA

MAYNARD H. HARRIS

BETTY KLINE

WILLIAM K. BROWN

William K. Brown has served 12 years on the Tecumseh Board of Education, the last two as president. He is also presently chairman of the policy committee and is serving on the finance committee.

Brown has lived in the Tecumseh area since 1934, attended Tecumseh schools, and graduated from Michigan State with a B.S. degree.

The incumbent is married and has five children, one still in Tecumseh High School. He is a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Brown has been in business for 23 years as president and general manager of Kitty Kurtis, Inc.

His concern "is that we maintain the quality schools necessary for our children and community . . . I would like to continue serving on the Board and working toward these goals."

HUGH DES ERMIA

Hugh Des Ermia, incumbent, is a graduate engineer from Michigan State and has resided in Tecumseh since 1932.

As a member of the board for the past four years, he was chairman of the building committee and served on the policy committee.

He is married and has three boys, one still in Tecumseh High School. The incumbent is an engineer with the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn.

Mr. Des Ermia said that the first two years of one's office is largely training, and he feels this experience should not be wasted. He would like to continue to use the experience he gained to serve. As an engineer, he feels he attains experience in dealing with the economic factor, the largest part of school board duties.

"I have no pre-conceived solutions or pet projects. I would gather the facts before making decisions."

MAYNARD H. HARRIS

Maynard Harris has been a homeowner in the Tecumseh school district since 1971.

He is married and has three children. The oldest is seven.

He is presently employed by the Riverview Public Schools and is a member of the Hope Lutheran Church, Adrian.

Harris received his B.S. in elementary education and M.A. in administration and supervision at E.M.U. He was a member of the Board of Christian Education, Lutheran Church, for six years.

His "prime interest is what will most benefit our children by getting the best educational value for the tax money spent on our schools."

Major concerns of Mr. Harris include overcrowded classrooms, fine arts facilities, split-shift education, enough classrooms, new high school and continued public support.

BETTY KLINE

Betty Kline is running for school board because she feels there is a need for parents running who have elementary school age children.

She also feels there is a need for new blood on the board and a woman's point of view.

She is married and has two boys in elementary school. She works out of her home as a professional artist.

Mrs. Kline earned her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Seattle University and has been PTO president at Ridgeway for the past year. She was also active in its tutoring program.

Her positions include open forums for board-public interaction, parent volunteers tutoring, possible closed campus for the junior high school, investigation of possible alternatives to a new high school, and banning the selling of junk food in schools without regular lunch programs.

LOUIS TEPFENHART

PAT (ELY) TRESSLER

STEPHEN WALSH

LOUIS TEPFENHART

Louis Tepfenhart describes himself as a conservative and believes "our first concern should be the need of the community, not the dictate of Lansing or Washington." He prefers local control to federal subsidy.

Tepfenhart also prefers more teachers and smaller classrooms to "psychologists, diagnosticians and other dead weight" that should be eliminated.

He feels our schools should be less permissive and regain emphasis on American values that have "been distorted in the emphasis on minority participation." He prefers less emphasis on extra-curricular activities and views new facilities as an added tax burden.

Tepfenhart and his wife have four children and reside in Tipton. He has been employed with Norfolk and Western RR for 26 years and is a WWII Marine combat veteran.

His family moved to Tecumseh area almost two years ago, because they feared cross district bussing in Lincoln Park, their former residence.

HELEN PATRICIA TRESSLER

Pat Tressler has many reasons for running, but primarily she has "a great respect for education and would like to see Tecumseh area children receive the best education that we can provide."

She believes in "total education." That includes academic and social education so that children are fully prepared to meet society's obligations.

The mother of 7 is a former school teacher, with children in all levels of education.

She taught Sunday school at the Presbyterian Church for 10 years.

Mrs. Tressler has had experience with nursery school education, Little Garden Club, Patterson PTO, Historical Society, and was Sesquicentennial decoration chairman.

STEPHEN WALSH

Stephen Walsh has lived in the Tecumseh area for two years with his wife and four children, who are in all levels of education.

The local pharmacist got his B.S. degree in pharmacy at Ferris State University.

Walsh's "concern is the need for more space in the junior high through high school area."

He believes that Tecumseh has excellent programs for students until they reach junior high school, where the opportunities are turned off, "not due to poor staff, but due to lack of space."

He feels that Tecumseh has an eager staff of teachers who are willing to teach a great variety of appealing courses, but a solution is needed to the over-crowded conditions.

Walsh also was a pharmacist for the late Ralph Hodges, about 15 years ago.

Commencement for 240 Seniors

Sunday, June 8, Rev. Allan Gray is scheduled to give the address, "Don't Be Tired Tomorrow" to the graduating seniors at Indian Stadium, 4 p.m.

Fifty of the seniors will receive scholarships, honorary awards, and grants. Honors will be handed out by Dermont Poley, principal and Raymond Bandlow, assistant principal.

Thirty-five seniors are graduating with a three point or better.

Tim Prettyman, Sheryl Bugbee and Marsha Bale are all valedictorians this year. All three are graduating with better than a four point. Randy Stein is salutatorian.

Four adults are also receiving diplomas this year, with two participating in commencement ceremonies. Adults completed requirements set up by officials for evening classes.

Senior class officers include: Darrell Boxeman, president; Cathy Lawson, vice-president; Sheryl Bugbee, secretary; and Delores Righter, treasurer. Ken Feldman is the seniors' advisor.

City Halts Pickups, Abuses Are Charged to Residents

Cal Zorn reported to City Council Monday night that he ordered city clean-up crews to stop picking up the refuge placed along the curbs.

Crews had initially been sent out to clean up the fallen limbs and trees from right of ways, damage resulting from the weekend storm.

Additional refuse was placed along curbs by residents.

Zorn also reported that many persons living adjacent to city lands were using the land to dispose of their refuse, such as rocks, brush, and lawn trimmings.

Damage to city equipment resulted and crews had to put in additional work.

Areas most often reported violating city ordinances on dumping include Seminole Street residents dumping in the cemetery, North Evans Street residents adjacent to River Acres, Shady Lane residents adjacent to the park on the south side, and Willow Street, south side.

Cal Zorn reported that the areas are mowed regularly, but residents still dump in the areas.

Bike Thefts Rise Again

Stealing bicycles continued to be big business in Tecumseh the past week with eight being reported stolen to police. Total loss was well over $500.

Last week Chari Jagelka, 9520 Tonneberger Dr., reported her 10-speed bike stolen at the high school. Value was placed at $113.

Bret Des Ermia, 100 Maple St., bike taken at Tecumseh Park. Loss set at $25.

Mrs. Donald Clark, 606 Sutton St., told officers a 10-speed bike with a speed-o-meter was taken from the garage. Loss was $185.

Paul Kruger, 508 W. Pottawatamie, a $100 10-speed bike taken from residence.

Antonia Vargas, 809 Shady Lane, bike stolen from garage.

Mark Jackowski, 1633 E. Munger Rd., a chained and locked 10-speed bike taken from rack at Tecumseh Public library. Value was $89.

Mrs. Herbert Camfield, 303 Miami Court, a 5-speed bike, valued at $50, was taken from the garage.

Monday, Gregory ARanda, 106 Muscody St., reported a girl's bike was stolen at Tecumseh Park.

Re-appointed

Glenn Kohler was appointed by City Council June 2 to succeed himself as a member of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Board.

Council OKs Plant Study

City Council approved a Department of Natural Resources facility study for waste water treatment Monday night.

The sewage needs study precedes the preparation of plans and construction of a facility for waste water treatment.

Areas included in the study include Tecumseh, Clinton, Macon, and Raisin Townships, and the village of Britton.

Council decided the study was best handled through the Drain Commissions Office for the most equitable cost sharing.

Funding is 75 percent federal, 5 percent state, and 20 percent local.

Limit Cars on Bidwell

Parking along Bidwell will soon be on one side of the street only, City Council decided Monday night.

Cars parked along that road on both sides during summer softball games make driving on the road unsafe. Fire trucks could never be driven through the street.

Possibility of alternate parking for the softball games is under Council consideration.

Red Mill B&E

A breaking and entering, believed to have occurred over the weekend at the Joe Galazzi residence, 810 Red Mill Dr., is being investigated by the local police.

Uncirculated coins and stamps were taken from a bedroom dresser. Loss or valued was not reported.

Two Named Co-Chairmen

Mrs. Frances Foster and Mrs. Barbara Croft were recently named local co-chairmen of the 1975 Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung diseases.

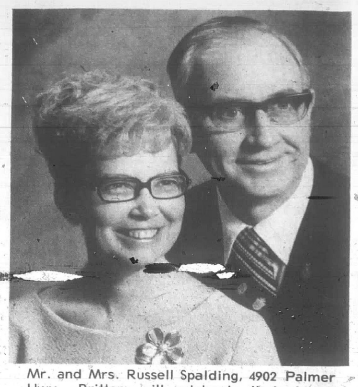
Newly-appointed Tecumseh co-chairmen will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support the research and care for children suffering from cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis and other related lung-damaging diseases.

1975 Campaign will be conducted during the month of September.

Cystic firbosis, presently incurable, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene. It is believed that one in twenty persons carries the gene, usually without knowing it.

When cystic fibrosis research began in 1960, a child's life expectancy was only two years. Today it is eighteen years.

The key to continued progress and eventual cure or control lies in expanded research to be funded by Breath of Life Campaigns throughout the nation.



Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spalding, 4902 Palmer Hwy., Britton, will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Russell Spalding and Johann M. Warner were married June 10, 1950 by the Rev. Readers Write

To the Editor:

In your May 29 edition, a front page article very briefly mentions that proposed plans for the widening of part of West Chicago Boulevard have come to a halt because bids for the work were never sought. Why weren't they sought? Who was responsible for advertising for the bids? What is being done now about the situation?

It would seem that in the interest of reporting news to its readers, that The Herald might seek some of these answers and enlighten the public.

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Ruth Rentschler and Charles Beland on their choice of the site for a senior citizen's apartment house.

It is an ideal one - near to a grocery, laundromat, bank, 2 churches and pleasant surroundings.

Here is strong hoping it becomes a reality. And as Charles says "not in 20 years."

Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf again requests patrons use Zip code on all mail.

"Zip code is no longer a theoretical concept. It is now a reality. All of our largest business firms are pre-sorting mail with zip codes," he said.

"Zip code is work-saving since it cuts down on the number of handlings and speeds delivery, it will ultimately allow us to mechanize our sorting process and speed the mail even more," he explained.

Metcalf suggested questions be directed to the Tecumseh Post Office at 423-2556.

Moore - Cathey Nuptials

Nuptial vows were recited May 24 by Carol Ann Moore and Patrick H. Cathey at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Moore, 5914 Rogers Hwy.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Cathey, Charlotte, N.C.

Ceremony was performed by Dr. B.O. Bashore before a mantle enhanced by arrangements of pastel spring flowers and silver candleabra. The immediate family were in attendance.

An ivory chapel length veil of silk illusion was attached to the bride's organdy picture hat, which was adorned with matching lace flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, pink rosebuds, lilies of the valley, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

A lady's ring is always of a delicate or dainty character, although the Stone may be large in size. The shank is invariably very narrow, with little if any design. On the other hand, the gentleman's ring ranges from a medium to a large masculine size with a wider and ofter more ornamented shank. In cavalier's times, when both sexes dressed lavishly with luxuriant laces and velvets, men and women's jewelry was much more similar in design.

Gifts are given as an expression of feeling and jewelry is one of the nicest gifts you can buy. Stop in to EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715 soon and see our many fine displays. Help Jobs for Teens

Despite media publicity, not one parent appeared at a Job for Teens reorganizational meeting May 14 at the Tecumseh High School library.

Without continued parent leadership, the summer employment program for teens 13 to 18 will cease.

"Jobs for Teens, an idea which grew from discussion at the Community Drop In Center, organized in 1973 with "scads of help" from individuals and service organizations.

"We've got to get more people in this program if it is going to continue," said Barbara Johnson. Together with Gisela Gero and Donna Schiller, she serves as a committeewoman.

Mrs. Johnson explained that the basic program is organized, but parents are needed to do publicity, register students and suggest job candidates to employers.

For the past two summers Jobs for Teens has placed an estimated 90 percent of students registered with summer jobs like pet care, babysitting, car washing, aides to the elderly, janitors and yard work.

This year already six students have been placed. Several students have expressed a desire for placement and employers have offered jobs.

LITTLE HAM— Apparently pleased by all the attention he's getting, a baby pig was petted and held by youngsters at the Calhoun Farm farrowing barn, Friday. They also saw the beef cattle there. Shown are (front, l-r), Maria Watson, Randy Nix, Rachel Rice; back row, Kevin Kozart and Dawn Shock. Two busloads of Clinton kindergarteners and some parents, 112 in all, also made visits to the Robert Voorhee's sheep farm and the David Heimerdinger dairy farm, where they saw cows, rabbits, geese, ducks and kittens, and to the Jack Hartung horse farm. The annual excursion provides an opportunity for the children to see and touch a variety of farm animals. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Randall said, "In 1975 I am more than ever concerned about the educational opportunities of our children and I am very serious about running a quality school system that the taxpayers can afford."

"I think in the last four years I have helped create a sound and progressive school system and I also believe my experience will help to continue the task of solving the problems of Clinton Community School."

Farley Sells Clinton Local

CLINTON — The Clinton Local has been sold by its owner, Hollis H. Farley, who has been publisher there since June 1, 1946.

New owner is Nathaniel Neil Hunter, who has been associated with the Lansing State Journal for several years.

Mr. Hunter and his daughter, a journalism graduate will operate the paper here.

Mr. Farley has been asked to stay on to lend a hand for a while.

The Clinton Local, which developed a character all its own as a reflection of its editor and publisher, was largely a family enterprise for the past 29 years. Mrs. Farley operated the linotype, read proof, and handled the bookkeeping and subscriptions. Daughter, Mrs. George Ford was the social reporter.

Terry Lawrence was pressman and photographer, in the enterprise, which is one of the few remaining "hot lead" operations in the newspaper business.

Albert Fox Is Honored

CLINTON — Albert Fox, who has taught American history, world history, government, economics, world geography, sociology, and guidance, at Clinton High School since 1944, has resigned.

ALBERT FOX

A surprise "This is your Life" program honored Al Fox, May 29 at a special high school assembly. Program was arranged by Blanche Myers and included appearances and comments by many friends, former students, fellow teachers and even Al's sister and nephew from Illinois.

He grew up in Chicago and graduated from Central YMEA College in 1942, and later took some post graduate work at U of M.

He taught in Cassopolis two years, then came to Clinton where he has become a legend in his own time.

He has been senior class advisor at least 15 years, and has served as freshman class advisor, school paper advisor, play director, cheerleader advisor and future teachers advisors.

In 1974 he was elected as Teacher of the Year by the student body.

He served on the Clinton Township Library board for 18 years, on the Civil Defense Committee, was a scoutmaster, served on the Rotary Youth Service Committee and helped organize the Community Chest in Clinton.

In addition he gave illustrated lectures on 19th Century America in this area, in Chicago and Detroit.

He plans to retire to the home of his sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Sutton, in Grant Park, Ill., and to do some more traveling and reading.

Warren Corwin made the presentation of a gift certificate from the senior class.

Thursday evening, 65 friends, relatives, and former graduates attended a dinner at Leutheuser's, Saline, in his honor, where he was presented with a desk lamp and a gift certificate.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Sutton, Grant Park, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. James Sutton, Grant Park, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anglemyre, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bodell, Erie and Sara Parker, Detroit.

Repair Done, Contract Signed

CLINTON — Clinton Township Board, at the meeting Monday, heard a report from Robert Winder that the roofing repairs have been completed on the township hall.

Mrs. William Walker of Walker Sanitary Landfill was present to discuss a new contract. Tonnage each month has increased because of the village trucks.

Mrs. Walker proposed that the township continue to pay the same fee of $125 per month plus $3 per village truck. Village truck drivers would be required to sign vouchers and Walkers will bill monthly.

A five year contract was signed on these terms with Walker Landfill.

Permission was granted to the Lenawee County Drain Commission to make a sewerage study of six eastern sections of Clinton Township.

Board approved a total of $53,000 in building permits reported by Building Inspector Charles Wilson.

Clinton Library Is Re-established

CLINTON—At the regular meeting of Clinton Township Board, Monday, a communication was read from Mrs. Marlene Thayer, specialist for library law, Michigan Department of Education, State Library Services.

Mrs. Thayer stated that the photocopied materials sent to the State Library Services confirm the legal establishment of the Clinton Township Library, executed prior to July 22, 1937.

Also confirmed was the Clinton Township Board's action on March 11, 1937, to "petition to assess one mill tax on the assessed valuation of the Township of Clinton," and that an election be held on April 5, 1937.

Further Township minutes of April 8, 1937, confirm a successful election and transfer of $1,000 to library account.

Mrs. Thayer noted that in a letter dated Oct. 24, 1944, County Librarian, Mrs. Aileen Lindbert, "clearly solicited your township library's help to serve the county patrons in your area."

A March 5, 1945 letter asked that the affiliation with the county be continued.

However, Mrs. Thayer states that the March 5, 1945 letter was not sufficient for an affiliation. A resolution would have been needed by the Clinton Township Library board to forfeit their right to legal establishment before penal fines and state aid could be diverted to the County Library.

A service arrangement could have been made, however, whereby the Clinton library served an area for the county. In exchange for this service to out-township county residents, Clinton library would have use of the same materials.

However, as long as the Clinton Township Public Library was legally established, penal fines, and state aid should have been payable only to the township library.

"Based on the photo copied documents submitted to State Library Service, this office has re-established the Clinton Township Public Library as a legal entity. The penal fine certification will be completed about July 15," Mrs. Thayer concluded.

Entire copy of this communication is posted at the Clinton Township Library.

Board Seeks Additional Mill

CLINTON—Board of Eduction of Clinton Community Schools is asking voters in Clinton School District to approve a renewal proposition for four mills operating, and to also vote an additional one mill proposal, at the annual School Election June 9.

If approved, this proposition will increase the tax levy from 24.22 mills last year, to 25.22 mills, or $25.22 per $1,000 of property valuation.

Board explained that the increase in local district property values does not mean an increase in operational money for the district. This is due to the Bursley State Aid Bill in which the state legislature guarantees the same per pupil revenue per mill levied throughout the state regardless of the value of the local district.

Thus, when local property values increase, proportion of state aid diminishes so that each district receives only the same $968.80 per pupil.

With cost of school supplies, books, heat, lights, gas, oil, water, cleaning materials, and other necessary school purchases, including bus maintenance, increasing drastically, the only way to increase operational money is by a direct increase in the operational tax levy.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

My in-laws recently made a pilgrimage from Marquette to their Macon mecca, being hooked on this area and two grandchildren. All the time they were here, I kept asking myself, "What did I do to deserve this?"

Before you jump to the wrong conclusion, let me say that my husband's parents are different—really.

For example, my in-laws are courageous. When we went out to stalk the wild asparagus, they braved tall, wet grass (and heaven only knows what lurked therein) to pluck the Ewell Gibbons delicacy.

Not only is my mother-in-law fearless, she is smart. Did you know that if you chop an onion outside, it will save your eyeliner? Mom Phillips knows that—and 192 other Heloise hints.

My mother-in-law is probably the most entertaining, too. She can blow the biggest bubbles you ever saw using her hands and a bar of soap. And she tells half-hour bedtime stories that hold a kindergartener's and preschooler's attention better than a soap opera.

My father -in-law is pretty handy to have around also. At the drop of a sinker, he can dig up a can of worms in 12 minutes flat.

Yup, it was quite a visit, and I sure miss the bedtime stories.

We have been assured by grocery store managers that there will be no shortages of canning lids this season. To insure that there are enough for all, let's resist the temptation to hoard, buying only what we need to preserve our garden yields.

Speaking of hoarding, that's what Patti Kosky did—but for a good cause. A local Bluebird, Patti saved over 2,000 cancelled stamps to help benefit a group of mentally retarded children and won her Camp Fire group's first prize.

Other Bluebird news: Leaders Sue Kosky and Mary Foster took their troop (Lynn Baugh, Heather Swanston, Jackie Hearst, Sheila Foster and Anne Kosky) on a hike-cookout last week in the wooded Kosky property. Sue reports that it was a lot of fun but that she and Mary may have to take some instructions on how to build a fire that won't send up 15-foot flames!

Dinner guest last Wednesday evening of the Paul Hovers were Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Hover, their daughter Beverly, and her husband Carl Thomas of Findlay, Ohio.

PROPOSED ADDITION — BRITTON-MACON AREA SCHOOL—Above is an artist's sketch of the proposed addition to the Britton school. Voters will decide whether to approve funds to finance the addition on the June 9 ballot. The addition consists of a multi-purpose room (48' x 68'), a band room (36' x 42'), a band office and storage room (15' x 18'), and two band practice rooms (7' x 10').

Three Candidates for Two Seats

BRITTON—The three candidates vying for two offices on the Britton School Board of Education are Kenneth Bortel, who is running unopposed for a four-year term to fill the expired position of Bill Bearinger, and Allen Wagenschutz and Wesley Gilmore, competing for the two-year term of office left vacant by Beryl Albring's resignation.

Brief resume of the candidates are:

Kenneth Bortel, 37, lives at 11890 Tidge Road with his wife, Sandy, and two daughters. He is a Britton High School graduate, Tecumseh Products employee, president of Michigan Sheep Breeders Assn.; active in 4-H club as leader and is a member of Grace United Methodist Church. He believes in working together to maintain quality education.

Wesley Gilmore, 42, also attended Britton-Macon Area School and is interested in the betterment of the school and eduction of the children and would like to have the privilege of serving on the board to do the best he can for all.

He and his wife, Eileen, and three children live at 12566 Teufel Road and attend Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Allen Wagenschuts, 39, lives with his wife, Pat, and four children at 8481 Britton Hwy. He is a farmer and past president of the Britton-Macon PTO. He and his family worship at Grace Lutheran Church. He is active in the local summer recreation program.

Mr. Wagenschutz feels Britton has a good school system and has many advantages in being small in size, such as easier to communicate in a more personal and friendly manner. He says this should be stressed and improved on.

School Board Election Scheduled for Monday

BRITTON—Annual election of the Britton-Macon Area School Board will be Monday, June 9 from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. in the Township Fire Hall.

At this time voters will be asked to approve an increase of two mills for additional operating expenses, plus renewal of 13.5 mills that expires this school year, bringing the total operational millage needed to 15.5 for operating expenses.

Also on the ballot will be a bonding proposition to borrow $205,000 for the construction of a multi-purpose room, band room, band office and band practice room.

The project will be financed over a 16 year period. Based on the district's 1975 State Equalized Valuation of $18,284,181 it will take approximately 1.3 mills per year to pay this debt off. The board has decided not to levy any millage on the 1955 and the 1963 debts for next year. If the bonding proposition passes, taxpayers will be paying 1.3 mills for Debt Retirement. This represents .3 of a mill increase over what they paid in 1974 taxes for Debt Retirement.

Goodwill To Move

Goodwill-LARC's retail store will move to downtown Adrian on June 13. Building was previously occupied by the D&C store between Mr. David's Fashions and Smith's Cyclery Co.

Building is being painted and cleaned; new shelving has been bought, new racks and hangers have been acquired. Everything is to be hung on hangers and bins will be eliminated for a better overall appearance.

A new color-coded pricing system will be used to insure constant rotation of merchandise in the store. Fresh stock will be put in the store every day so customers will know that they can expect something different in the store each day.

The name of the store will be changed, although a new name has not yet been selected.

At the grand opening, there will be clowns, baloons, suckers for the kids. There will be a ribbon cutting ceremony at 10 a.m.

Report Vandelism Will Help LARC

Collection stations are a vital part of Goodwill-LARC. However, vandals set them afire, throw garbage in them, drop lit cigarettes in them, and even run into them with their cars and don't report to anyone.

People who have to live around these stations complain about the unsightly mess the vandals make. Store proprietors complain about the unsightly mess that takes away their business.

Disabled people who work at Goodwill-LARC depend on any and every piece of material that comes to them. This is all they have to depend on for a chance to earn their own way in life.

If you have information concerning any vandalism to these Collection Stations, please call Goodwill-LARC Rehabilitation Center in Adrian, 263-2135, or your local police station.

Spring banquet of the Wit and Wisdom Club was held May 5, at the First Baptist church with a beef dinner served by the women of the church.

It was guest night and the president, Ralph Comfort, noted the many guests present.

Laminated membership cards for each member were presented by the secretary, Mary Lou Feight. Cards noted the date of the beginning of the club, 1894, and that the club is probably the oldest club in the county that is still active in its beginning endeavors.

The host committee, Mrs. Ester Greene and Mrs. Robert Duhan decorated the tables with handmade flower print menu books made by Mrs. Duhan; spring flowers and candles.

The program chairman, Les Dallas, introduced Mrs. Sally Crouse and Sister Denise of Siena Heights College, who entertained at the piano and accompanied Mrs. Sally Crouse, who sang several popular songs. Sister Denise gave a piano rendition of her mother's, when she played for the silent movie days.

The members were reminded of the picnic meeting to be held at Hidden Lake gardens at 6 p.m. on Aug. 4.

Benjamin L. Bradish, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bradish, 612 Chicago and son of Mrs. Race Rinehart of Onsted, was honored with three scholarships and two awards at Onsted's high school Thursday.

Scholarships came from Michigan Department of Education, Onsted Klump Brothers, and the Anonymous Memorial Scholarship Committee. Awards were in language and government. Bradish will attend Jackson Community College in the fall.

We represent several firms, but we work for only one boss—you. That way we can always place you with a company which we think is best for each line of insurance you need. Naturally, we prefer companies like Auto-Owners who look at a loss and take care of it right away, without haggling or delays. That's one of the reasons we're part of the Altogether Family. Power-up Days are here

5 reasons to power-up right now.

1. More tractors available.

Your IH dealer presently has a wide selection of models. You have a better chance now of getting the tractor you want than you've had for the past two years.

Model 464
44 PTO hp-diesel
45 PTO hp-gas

2. Better prices than you'll probably see for a long time.

The cost of raw materials and most components are going up. So tractor prices almost have to increase. Don't put off getting the power you need now.

Model 674
61 PTO hp-diesel
58 PTO hp-gas

Model 574
52 PTO hp-diesel
53 PTO hp-gas

3. Good chance to cash in on IH-built engine dependability.

Modern, clean-burning for long life. Gas or diesel. Plenty of lugging power to handle the tough jobs.

4. Protection against present equipment breakdown, when you can least afford it.

The most expensive tractor you can own is one that goes down when you need it most. Don't let that happen to you.

5. Muscular chore tractor that can help out in your fields, too.

Loader-tough transmission with lightning-flash shift. Fully-synchronized transmission lets you shift on the go. Separate reversing shuttle. Fast in any gear. Cuts cycle time on back-and-forth loading jobs.

Clean, walkthrough operator's deck. No levers in middle. Safe mount, dismount.

Top-link sensing with torsion bar. Means quicker response and better draft control. Detects 20% load change. So you can maintain more constant engine rpm's for excellent fuel economy and long engine life.

Pressure-lubricated power train with planetary final drive. Gives maximum gear reduction. Takes greater shock loads than ring gear and pinion types. PTO operates off oil-cooled and cushioned clutch.

You couldn't pick a better time to power up to a new IH tractor than right now.

Discuss Conservation

Lenawee County farmers who plan to start conservation practices under the Agricultural Convention Program (ACP) are urged first to discuss their farm's needs with the county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, County Executive Director, Richard Emmons announced.

"There are some differences between ACP and the 1974 Conservation Program and, when a farmer has determined the conservation needs on his farm, he should contact our office," Emmons said.

Objectives of the program are that needed conservation must be beyond what the farmer would accomplish without cost share assistance; and second, the practices must provide enduring benefits.

With the $71,932 allocated to Lenawee County, ACP cost share assistance of 50 to 75 percent will help correct some conservation problems in the area.

"The most important thing we'll do today is fill your prescription!"

COMING HOME

At first I was not going to write an article about our trip home. After all, what new can be said about I-75 — people who drive it know truck drivers, the beauty of the Tennessee and Kentucky Mountains, the 'sameness' of Georgia, the smog of the Ohio River Valley, and the forever and always road construction in Dayton. People who don't drive it probably don't care. However, our trip was such a typical Duncan trip that I simply must share a mile or two.

Of course we had rain. What would a Duncan journey be without it? The morning we were to leave Tarpon Springs was beautiful, sunny and bright and warm.

By the time the last bag was tucked into the wagon, dark ugly looking clouds were rolling in and the weather was definitely deteriorating. Before we reached the fourth stoplight the windshield wipers were swishing back and forth and about twenty minutes out of Sun Valley we had to pull into a parking lot and wait for the rain to ease up. Dad insists that it is easier to drive when he can see the road.

All that day we drove in and out of increasingly bad rain storms and even the next morning there were a few remnents left. Once into Georgia the sunshine and blue skies returned.

It was not until we reached Findlay, Ohio that "old man rain" caught up with us again. The sun was back as we drove into Tecumseh and oh, how good the town looked.

The comic ending to the whole fun trip was that as I sat in the car waiting for the chair to be unloaded, a hard five minute shower beat down. I can laugh now but at the time it was not too funny.

Not too funny either were the tornado warnings which were issued shortly after we were partially unpacked. It was nice to be welcomed home, but there was no need to go overboard.

Speaking of home welcomings reminds me of the send-off we were given in Tarpon Springs. Florida people are as friendly as those in Michigan.

As soon as we started rolling down the ramp the neighbors came from every which way - their best wishes, have a happy trip and hurry back were a nice send-off. Equally nice are all the welcome home messages we have received.

But back to the trip itself. In northern Florida and southern Georgia I-75 travels through some uncultivated country and often this is quite dense. We were surprised at the tall tall magnolia trees and their huge blossoms. Beautiful. It was most frustrating that there were no places to stop for closer looking and picture taking.

Farming in this part of the country seemed strange to us. We grew up hearing that corn should be knee-high by the Fourth of July, but in the third week of May we saw field after field where it was almost hip-high. Fields of oats ready to harvest were also hard to believe.

Peach orchards in Georgia were in full leaf but it was the pecan groves which intrigued me. The pecan tree itself is quite lovely, tall and graceful. The groves are large and manicured like fine lawns.

Fortunately the weather through the mountains was good but oh my, the Smokies were really smoky. We were glad not to be taking pictures for the strongest of haze filters would have been of no use.

Although the inter-state takes the thrill out of mountain driving, it does afford some beautiful looking. Once the Ohio River is crossed — well, what can be said except that the smog problems still exist and the northern part of the state is flat.

Michigan and especially Tecumseh looked great. Everything was so fresh and green and the lilacs were at their peak. A few late tulips greeted us, the flowering crab trees were still pretty and our dogwood tree was a gorgeous mass of white blossoms.

Eventually, of course, the unglamorous aspect of a trip arrives. Unpacking. Why do shelves, closets, and drawers which were left — if not empty, at least not full — suddenly have no space at all to accommodate what is taken from suitcases and foot lockers?

So it is that, although we had a wonderful time in Florida, the old and tired cliche is still true. One of the best things about going away is coming home!

Memoriams

I dream a dream of life, of one that's gone away.
I dream that dream often everynight and day
I dream of the years gone past, when you were here with me.
I dream of what we did,
before God set you free.
I dream of years not here,
of years before I see,
The strong hand of God,
reuniting you and me.
In memory of Doug Lane who left us suddenly 3 years ago, June 2, 1972. Sadly missed by Mom, George, Cheri, Mark, his second family, the Froehlichs, and Frog. 6-5p

Girls Win Districts

Although skies were gray and gloomy in Tecumseh Saturday, the spirits of Tecumseh's softball players were anything but after winning the district championship.

The Indians defeated Chelsea in the morning 16-4 and Jackson Northwest 9-0 to take the trophy.

Earlier in the week, Tecumseh easily brought down New Boston Huron in a doubleheader winning 9-3 and 13-0.

Against Chelsea, the Indians scored 10 hits. Julie Murphy scored a single and triple and Peg Upell hit two singles.

Sue Frazier and Julie Anderson shared the pitching duties. Frazier took the win.

Lisa Lee took over the pitching duties in the afternoon when the Indians faced Northwest for the championship.

She struck out two, walked two and allowed only two hits.

Peg Upell grabbed two hits and Betsy Miller, Tori Iffland, Amy Montague and Lisa Lee each had one single.

The squad now posts a 22-2 overall record. They won the Huron League title with a 12-2 record.

The squad travels to Plainwell near Kalamazoo this Saturday to play Parchment in regional competition at 10 a.m. If they win they'll take on the winner of the Otsego-Brandywine contest in the afternoon for the regional title.

All-League Selections

Selections were recently made for all-league baseball teams from Tecumseh, Britton and Clinton.

In addition, several Tecumseh girls were named to the first and second all-league softball squads.

For the Indians, Darrell Bozeman was named to the first team for third base. Named to the Huron League second team for Tecumseh included, Dave Spillman, outfield and Doug Bunch, short stop.

Bill Smith, Ken Biscupski and Rich Yerebeck received honorable mention at catcher, pitcher and outfield respectively.

For Britton, Mike Saxton, pitcher, and Mike Servoss, catcher, were named to the Tri-County all-league first team and freshman Randy Smith along with junior Craig Wagenschutz were named to the second team.

For the Clinton Redskins, outfielder Ken Roberts was named to the LCAA all-league first team. Infielders Ken Harrison and Warren Corwin were named to the second team and Tom Richter received honorable mention.

In softball, Indians Jane Faulkner, Tori Iffland and Julie Murphy were named to the Huron all-league first team. Julie Anderson, Betsy Miller and Lisa Lee were elected to the second team.

Tecumseh's Department of Parks and Recreation recently announced that those people interested may now register for swimming lessons, family and individual passes at the pool.

Registration will be accepted between 4-6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The pool is tentatively scheduled to open June 11.

Athletes Honored

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh High School saluted its spring athletes last Thursday evening at the Union Hall.

Highlight of the event — in which letters and certificates are given to all athletes — was the naming of most valuable player for the track and baseball team.

In addition, two other special awards were given.

Mike Duhan was elected by the track squad as most valuable runner for the season. Duhan participated in the high and low hurdles and tied the school record in the high jump.

Linvel Lisenbee and Tom Schwartz were named co-captains of next year's squad at the ceremony after a recent election by the team.

Bill Smith, who broke the school record in runs batted in, was named most valuable player by the baseball squad. Bill batted in 19 runs this season, five runs more than the previous record and was the team's catcher.

Teammate Darrell Bozeman was the recipient of the Marsh Award given by RGB Marsh in memory of Gary Marsh. The award is given each year to an athlete who "represents the best aspects of the sports program" and is judged on leadership, character, loyalty and service to the program.

Julie Murphy was the first recipient of a $100 scholarship given by the girls Intramural program.

THS Tracksters Are Champions

In an exciting finale to a superb season, Tecumseh's tracksters won the Huron League meet on Wednesday of last week clinching the league championship with a 7-0 dual meet record.

The Indians - who finished with a 10-1 overall record - garnered 65 and one-third points in the meet. Flat Rock was second with 62 points.

The squad won six events including Jim Karle in the shot put, Mike Duhan in the 120 high hurdles and the 180 low hurdles, Linvel Lisenbee in the mile run. In addition, the mile and 440 relay teams won setting new school records in the process.

Bob Cook also set a new school record in the 440 yard dash with a time of 51.1. He finished third in a close finish.

The squad will be losing five seniors including Kent Jacoby, Mike Duhan, Bob Cook, Shawn Dalton and Jim Karle.

Coach Bill Croft said of the year, "It was a great season. We set six new records and tied another. We're still a young team and the leadership from the seniors brought the younger boys along. I want to thank Ed Oxley, the junior high track coach, and my assistant Roger Young for their fine job this season."

First Place for Tecumseh: Shot Put—Karle, 50'6"; 120 High Hurdles—15.4; Mile Run—Lisenbee, 4:35.0; 180 Low Hurdles—Duhan, 21.0; Mile Relay—Tecumseh, 3:29.9; 440 Relay—Tecumseh, 45.7.

Second Place: High Jump—Cook, Shot Put—Schwartz; 880 Relay—Tecumseh; 880 Run—Scheff.

Other Finishers: Long Jump—fourth, Lisenbee; 120 High Hurdles—fifth, Eaton; 440 Dash—third, Cook; 180 Low Hurdles—fifth, Eaton.

Indians Are 8-6

Tecumseh's baseball squad completed their season over the weekend with a win and loss in district competition.

The loss to Willow Run 2-1 in the finals forced the Indians out of further tournament action.

In Huron League competition last week, the Indians took a close one to Monroe CC on Wednesday 5-4 in 10 innings. Two days later they chewed up Monroe Jefferson 19-4.

The Indians took on Ypsi-Lincoln in the district semi-finals Saturday morning winning 3-2. Darrell Bozeman and Rich Yerebeck each had two hits. Spillman took the win on the mound with eight strikeouts and five walks.

In the afternoon, Willow Run scored once in the seventh inning to win the district championship. Biscupski was the losing pitcher with five strike outs and four walks.

Tecumseh ended in fourth place in the Huron League with an 8-6 record. Overall, they posted a 13-8 record.

Tecumseh baseball team statistics: team batting average - .263; total runs - 101; runs per game - 4.8; strike outs per game - 6.9; fielding average - .934; total runs scored against - 69; runs scored against per game - 3.3; total errors - 37; errors per game - 1.8.

Lots of Action In Softball Leagues

There was plenty of action last week in the slo-pitch softball leagues.

TUESDAY LEAGUE

Sheep Flockers scored 12 runs in the third inning enroute to a 25-3 win over Underwood Chevrolet.

Nine runs in the sixth inning powered Wrong Way Pub over B&W West, 17-3. M. Murphy went 4 for 5 for the winners, now 2-1.

United Savings Bank and Dancers were both unbeaten until Dancers beat the bank 9-6. Six runs in the second inning proved the difference, offsetting a five run rally by the bank in the sixth.

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE

Protco held Tecumseh Jaycees to one hit as they kept a share of first place, winning 16-0. The winners scored in every inning but the first, including a 3 run homer by Johnson in the fifth. R. Proctor had 4 hits for Protco while R. Clement got Jaycees only safety.

Oberst recorded their first win of the season 8-7, over Judkins Insurance. Hood got three hits for Oberst (1-2) and Stewart got three for Judkins (0-3).

Six runs in the seventh inning wasn't enough for Pike Inn as Ponderosa moved into a first place tie with Protco, 12-10.

THURSDAY LEAGUE

Irish Hills got a three run home-run by Davenport in the third inning, then used excellent defense to beat Handley Equipment 9-0.

Two runs in the bottom of the seventh lifted American Legion Post 34 over Watson Brothers Roofing, 9-8. Watson led 3-0 until Legion scored six runs in the fourth.

VFW broke a close game wide open with a nine run sixth inning rally

Make-up games from May 22 were held on Friday, May 30. The VFW beat Irish Hills Merchants 11-9. The rains then came and forced postponement again on the remaining two games.

In a close game led all the way by Irish Hills, VFW scored five runs in the fifth inning to take the win. VFW moved into first place with a 3-0 record.

The postponed games will be played this Friday, June 6.

Best In Years . . .

By FRANK WEIR

With the loss to Willow Run in the district finals last Saturday, Tecumseh's baseball season came to a close.

Although the loss knocked the Indians out of further tournament competition, the earlier victories in the pre-districts and semi-finals were a first for Tecumseh.

In the three year history of post-season tournament action, Tecumseh had never won a pre-district contest. The squad finished with a 13-8 overall record and an 8-6 league record. That's the best record for a Tecumseh baseball squad in 15 years.

Three school records were broken during the course of the season. Bill Smith earned 19 RBI's, Dave Spillman stole 13 bases (one better than the previous record), and Spillman also broke the total runs scored record with 17.

Rich Yerebeck won the batting championship with a .340 average after 47 times at bat and 16 hits.

The squad will be losing four seniors including Paul Lemanski, John Getz, Mike Corley and Darrell Bozeman.

Head coach Bob Ondrovick was understandably pleased with the season, "It was a very rewarding and successful season for both the team and myself. We gained valuable experience for the upcoming year both in regular and tournament games.

"We're looking forward to next season with a sound nucleus of veterans returning. I would like to thank John LaSotta and Richard Montcalm, the freshmen and junior varsity coaches, and the fans who followed us through the year."

Tories Are Tops

Everyone defines happiness in different ways, but for the Britton baseball squad happiness is winning the Tri-County league championship.

And that's just what they did defeating Deerfield 12-0 Monday afternoon to cinch the trophy exclusively.

It is the first league baseball trophy to come to Britton since 1937. The squad finished with an 8-2 league record and a 14-5 overall record.

Six players scored six hits in the Deerfield contest with Mike Saxton the winning pitcher. Saxton struck out 13, allowed only one hit and walked six. Biggest inning for the Tories was the fourth which resulted in seven runs.

With a fine performance on the mound Monday, Saxton closed out his high school athletic career. Other graduating seniors include, Mike Servoss, Dan Exelby, Jeff Brown and Alan Reau.

"We've had a great year in football, basketball and baseball," said baseball coach Jim Sweigart. "We got excellent leadership from the seniors, they're good students. The baseball team was a closely knit one and that was one of our biggest assets."

State Track Results

Tecumseh and Britton track athletes participated in state competition over the weekend.

Indian girl tracksters finished eighth in the state among Class B teams.

Leading the way for the Indians: Carol Duhan placed third in the 110 low hurdles with a time of 15.4; Sue Brown finished fourth in the long jump with a 16'7" distance and sixth in the 100 yard dash at 11.5; the 440 relay team of Duhan, Becky Stormes, Janice Stevens, and Brown tied for a sixth position and the 880 relay team with Patty Brosamer replacing Duhan finished tenth.

Shawn Dalton finished in the sixth spot in the pole vault for Tecumseh's boy track squad with a 13'8". heighth. Linvel Lisenbee set a school record in the mile run with a time of 4:28.2. He ended in the ninth spot.

For the Britton Tories, the 440 relay team of Jeff Brown, Dave Wielfaert, Dan Exelby and Mike Servoss finished in eighth place out of Class D teams with a time of 45.6. That was a school record.

For centuries men have been using nets to reap the rich harvest of the sea. There is a classic rhythm to the saga of the sea and fishermen. It is a tale filled with danger and persistence—success and failure. Indeed, it is very much akin to life itself.

You may not have to wrest your living from the sea, but you can learn a lesson from those who do. Fishermen the world around are, for the most part, devout folk. They've learned the meaning of faith. They know God. Seldom will you see even the smallest harbor town without a church. There men—and the women who wait for them—go to pray.

Have you been to your church lately?

Voters OK Millage, Elect Brown, Tressler

Approximately 12 percent of the district's 7,000 eligible voters Monday elected two candidates — William Brown and Helen Patricia (Pat Ely) Tressler — to the School Board and approved 18.5 mills for operation.

The millage was approved by a better than a three-to-one margin, 640 to 193.

The light turnout was expected, and election expenses reflect a cost of about $1.50 per vote.

Brown, a 12-year board veteran and president the past two years, was easily top vote collector with a total of 428. Mrs. Tressler polled 345, and she becomes the third woman to serve in recent years. June Stone and Katherine Cobb previously were members on the Board.

Betty Kline received 305 votes; Hugh Des Ermia, incumbent, 277; Stephen Walsh 199; Maynard Harris, 111; and Louis Tepfenhart, 55.

Organizational meeting will take place early in July.

Supt. Robert Duhan says 884 voted, including 18 absentee ballots.

The millage was essential to opening the schools in the fall. With the exception of a half-mill, it was a renewal of last year's millage. The new millage will run for two years.

Pass Addition

Britton voters passed an increase of two mills for additional operating expenses at the school election Monday, plus a renewal of 13.5 mills by a vote of 156 to 84.

Voters also approved a bonding proposition to borrow $205,000 for construction of an addition to the Britton school by 145 to 99 votes.

Wesley Gilmore was elected to serve a two-year term on the school board by 149 votes to Allen Wagenschutz's 99. Ken Bortel ran unopposed with 221 votes for a four-year term.

Tragic Mishap Takes Son, 3, at Britton

Services were held Sunday for a three-year-old Britton boy, who died tragically late Thursday afternoon in the backyard at his home, 519 W. Chicago, Britton.

Victim was Brian Robert Dicks, son of Jerry and Barbara (Gibson) Dicks, who died suddenly after being hit by a fly ball while playing with his father.

The ball struck him in the chest. He fell down and stopped breathing. Attempts at a resuscitation failed, and he was pronounced dead on arrival at Herrick Hospital, shortly after 6 p.m.

The young boy's father told deputies that his son was in good health and had not been ill recently. County medical examiner Dr. Robert Harrison, ordered an autopsy.

He was born Feb. 8, 1972 in Adrian.

Survivors, besides the parents, include one sister, Heather Renee; maternal grandparents, Robert and Kathryn Gibson, Britton; Loren and Marian Dicks, Britton; paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Dicks, Ypsilanti, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Renew 4 Mills, Reject Increase

CLINTON — With only 295 voters going to the polls Monday in Clinton's annual school election, a four-mill renewal for operating was approved 208 to 87.

The request for an additional one-mill for operating was rejected, 153 to 134.

In the vote for school board, Norman Randall, incumbent, was re-elected with 217 to his opponent, Richard Krohl's 73, for a four-year term.

Roger Waltz, incumbent, received 261 votes for a one-year term.

Board will organize at the July 14 meeting.

Approve Plans

Tecumseh City Planning Commission Tuesday night approved the site plan review for a development by William Powell, local builder and developer.

Commission's only term was that trash containers be screened for the two two-bedroom and four one-bedroom unit to be located on the 100 block of W. Kilbuck.

Powell, a real estate broker, said the $70,000 project will be California ranch style with ornamental landscaping. Building should be completed in approximately four months. The developer has built other apartments in Tecumseh, including some on Kilbuck, Ottawa and Evans.

Since several commissioners are new to the planning body, one member, Tim Tietsema, questioned why certain details were missing on the site plan maps, such as elevations of the building, width of the right of way and buildings existing within 100 feet of the proposed site.

City manager Cal Zorn explained that by the time planners see the plans, the city engineers have already reviewed the four-page, 42-item checklist that the Planning Commission uses "to make sure all is in proper order and expedite these matters."

This checklist was borrowed from the city of Plymouth for Tecumseh by planning consultants.

Tietsema insisted "We should have a detailed site plan before us, approved by Cal with no exception."

Commissioner Harrison Gonser suggested that city manager or building inspector initial items checked on the site plan checklist so planners could understand what technicalities have been reviewed. "This could eliminate the misunderstanding," Gonser said.

Summer Reading Program

"The Monsters are Coming!" No, that isn't something said in last night's late show. Instead, it is the Tecumseh Public Library Summer Reading Program theme.

Program begins June 18 and ends August 20. No advance registration is needed.

On June 18 children should ask for a booklet to record the books they read. Ten library books are the requirement for a certificate of reading achievement.

Program's goal is to help children discover that reading is fun and establish reading as a habit. For this reason, now pre-readers can count the stories that they hear.

Storytime will be held at the library every Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. Every Thursday storytime also will be offered at the playgrounds. The scheduled times for the playgrounds are 9:30 a.m. at Herrick Park, 10:30 a.m. at Tecumseh Acres, and 11:15 a.m. at Patterson.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a satin crepe gown, embossed with satin roses. Gertrude Golat, Tecumseh, designed the gown which featured a Chantilly lace train and trim on the cuffs of the bishop sleeves.

A Juliet cap with a rose design secured her illusion veil. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the groom.

She carried white roses, stephanotis and deep purple violets.

Surveys Due Aug. 1

Questionaires have been distributed to all city departments by Region II Planners and results are to be submitted by Aug. 1 to help Region II formulate a six-year capital improvement program for Tecumseh.

Departments were asked to list projects considered necessary and desirable, money spent to date, future costs, state of plans, and other related matters.

Allan Hooper, senior planner for Region II, also presented a [illegible] to show Planning Commission how land is presently zoned within two miles around the city.

Planners discussed how they might gain cooperation with township governments in matters that would effect Tecumseh.

Hoopers said since several of these government units are members of Region II, the region planners review items and see if they can be coordinated with other governmental units.

Hooper also presented city planners with a priority list, tabulating results from the Tecumseh Capital Improvements survey taken by the city this past year.

Hooper showed city planners that based on citizen response of what people consider necessary and desirable, "luxury" items, such as tennis court lighting and recreation facilities move up on the priority list.

Macon Dialog

MACON — I knew it wasn't going to be one of my better days. The tip-off was that I had to re-pierce my right ear lobe to get my earring in.

Things got progressively worse from there.

The girl at Co-Op Optical fitted me with my new glasses, stepped back and exclaimed, "Oh, you look just like a bug!"

The morning weather forecast had said "mostly sunny, with a five percent chance of precipitation." You guessed it. I left the optical center, I had to canoe to my car.

When I got home, I found the trash man had taken pity on the neighborhood dogs. He'd picked up everyone's garbage but ours, and a cockapoo and a dog of unknown origins were dining royally on chuck roast gristle, corn cobs and burnt chocolate chip cookies.

Remembering I'd washed a load of clothes before I'd left home, I went downstairs to throw them in the dryer and discovered that I'd washed only one of my tennis shoes. The green one (cut the grass the day before) grinned sheepishly up at me from behind the water softener.

Children's screams came from the den. It was "Monster Week" on the 4:30 movie, and I dashed up the stairs thinking that the show had gotten too scary. The kids were crying from frustration, not fright. The President had pre-empted regular TV programming just when Godzilla was about to eat New Jersey.

Dinner hour arrived, and I fixed an economical casserole, using a magazine's "cooking on a budget" recipe. My husband said he'd be willing to get a second job, and my five-year-old son said he'd get a paper route so we wouldn't have to eat things like THAT again.

Tomorrow if I can't get my earrings in, I'm going back to bed . . .

Let's hear it for Macon United Methodist Church's men's slow-pitch softball team! The Rev. John Vance announced in church Sunday that they've taken their first two games.

Lighthouse BK... study is still meeting 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays.

Horse Course

Michigan residents have only a few days to enroll in Michigan State University's "Horses A to Z" seminar, June 16-20.

"This is one of six locations in the nation holding as comprehensive a program as this. The sessions are much like those in a college week in which intensified instruction is available to students," says Dr. Dick Dunn, MSU animal husbandry specialist.

This seminar, particularly the horse management session, is a good way in which a prospective owner can acquaint himself with responsibilities as well as fun of owning a horse or two.

Other courses in the seminar are geared toward upgrading horseowner's current knowledge of handling and training. Horses A to Z offers three main areas covering 26 separate topics.

The clinic is offered to all age groups, but those under 21 need written consent from their parents. Students enrolled in college can receive credit for the course.

Details may be obtained from a free brochure by writing to Animal Husbandry Department, MSU, East Lansing, MI 48824. Calls may be made to Dr. Dunn (517) 355-1748 or to Ed Farmer, 355-4557.

Book Mark

ALLEGRA is a novel of Regency England by Clare Darcy, a novelist whose skill has been compared to Georgette Heyer's. The book concerns Allegra Herrington, who scorns marriage to her cousin, Sir Derek, to maintain her independence as a teacher. She takes her younger sister Hillary to Brussels, though the continent is disturbed by Napoleon's conquests. The girls' adventures are gracefully written, fun to read, and the story ends happily.

ARE WE THERE YET? is a highly entertaining novel by Diane Vreuls. It is about free-spirited Emma Benson, who packs her belongings into her car and travels with her four-year-old daughter across Ohio to her old home. It's also a journey in consciousness. Going home, says the author, is "not to find out what you left, but to see where you've been since leaving."

PRINCESS ALICE, by James Brough, is a biography of Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the famous Washington nonogenarian who is the daughter of Theodore Roosevelt. When Roosevelt was president, Alice gained notoriety by her flippant disregard of convention, forcing her father to admit, "I can be president of the United States or I can control Alice." PRINCESS ALICE shows he chose the former.

THE WALTON GANG, by Bill Libby, is about Bill Walton's two-season winning streak with UCLA, about the teammates who made up the Walton gang, and about their coach, John Wooden.

THE CASE AGAINST COLLEGE, by Caroline Bird, is not an anti-intellectual assault on learning, but an examination of why college may be unsuitable for many young people. Bird maintains that many young students who attend college to "find" themselves are disappointed, as are those who believe a college degree will guarantee a better paying job. The author believes young people should be encouraged to explore college as one of many possible past high school choices.

EMERGENCY CARE, by Burton A. Waisbren, provides exact instructions to fit accident, illness, and emergency situations. It also includes information on non-emergency topics such as blood pressure, weight control, and back pain. Rather than superceding a physician's advice, this book tells the reader what to do until the doctor comes.

IF THINGS DON'T IMPROVE SOON I MAY ASK YOU TO FIRE ME, by Richard K. Irish. The author offers management advice to workers at all levels. He feels that the ability to fire — and to know that you might be fired — is an essential precondition to a healthy work environment. Without it, he says, employers and employees are trapped by excessive feelings of obligation, dependency, and guilt.

"Insurance costs less than 1% of value?"

Correct. Insurance to protect furs, jewelry, coin and stamp collections, artworks and sporting goods usually costs considerably less than 1 percent of value. Such 'floater policies' cover loss, theft or accidental damage, both on and off the premises.

ROBINS

Guess which birds have been affording us the most fun since we arrived home? The title gives me away of course. Robins. I do not know when we have enjoyed them so much. Their actions, their appearance, their songs. Just marvelous.

Lets take [illegible] first. Has there ever been a season when the robins were so handsome? Right now I am watching a trio, a male and his two kids, and he is the brightest thing imaginable. His bill is bright yellow, his head a deep black, and his breast a rich blend of brick and russet red. He knows he is good looking and, in fact, is quite vain.

Two favorite perching spots are on top of the covered feeders. Rather unrobin-like perches but oh, he certainly does show up well.

His two children are unusually good looking too. Had we not seen him stuff a billfull of wiggly-crawlies into one kid's mouth, I almost doubt that I would have recognized the youngster as a youngster. Since when do young robins have breasts almost as red as an adult's?

A close look shows a light area at the top of the breast which is heavily freckled, and he has the characteristically short tail. Colorwise though, this kids is grown up.

His actions are far from grown up though. He chases after his father begging. When food is offered he immediately crouches down and opens his bright yellow bill unbelievably wide. At first the trembling wings were part of the act, but lately we have noticed that he has outgrown this.

The weather has been cold and damp thus the windows have remained closed, so we have not heard the shrill and squeaky noise which I know goes with the begging and feeding act.

The third member of the trio is a regular tag-a-long. Unfortunately he does not tag-a-long close enough to get a fair share of the food.

In the robin family it is the squeaky kid that gets fed. Oh, this little guy is not suffering from malnutrition and no doubt, when on his own, will grow into a fine robin. However, as of this dictating, he is slightly smaller and less well colored. Still handsome, but not quite as much as his brother.

In this area robins are extremely well known birds. It almost seems that every yard has its own resident pair. Even non-bird people know robins and [illegible] about the mud and grass nests they build.

It was happy to read that should a cowbird trespass and lay an egg in a robin's nest, the robin will toss it out. Unlike wrens, warblers, and oh, so many, many other birds, the female robin is not about to play foster mother to a cowbird youngster at the expense of her own.

The statistics of a robin family are quite simple; incubation takes thirteen days, the youngsters stay in the nest ten to sixteen days, the female does most of the egg sitting, and both parents feed the nestlings, although the female provides most of the food.

Once the kids are out of the nest, the male takes over. For the next two weeks he has almost sole responsibility for them.

The numbers that really surprised me were that the day before leaving the nest, a robin will eat fourteen feet of worms. In their entire nest stay, this robin and his siblings will down over three pounds of food. Or at least so says H.H. Collins and N.R. Boyajian in their FAMILIAR GARDEN BIRDS OF AMERICA.

We are thoroughly enjoying the robins' early morning song fest. Lovely to hear and although loud, not loud enough to waken us. It is nice to slowly regain consciousness to the accompaniment of his chorus.

The book mentioned above devotes almost a page to robin talk. They claim the birds make at least 10 different kinds of sounds.

Among them a "seech-ook", a "pleent, tut-tut-tut" of which they say the first note could be written as "plint" but sounds like a "week", a "he-be-be-he" described as a laughing giggle and "hisselly-hisselly." I like best the "chill-ill-ill" and they say that "the chill (is) struck firmly, the ills slightly lowering . . . to the final ill." Except for the laughter, they listen to different robins than I do.

So it is good to be back looking through my Logan Street at Evans Creek windows and oh, what a grand sight and sound show is being put on by the robins.

Council Elects Officers

River Raisin Watershed Council, formed under Act 253 of Public Acts of 1964, is a volunteer advisory board which provides a forum for local units of government with a common interest in the river to meet and plan water-use together.

Council meets each month in Tecumseh.

[illegible]-laws and budget have been adopted by representatives of the sixteen municipalities that have joined in the organization.

The temporary organizational officers chosen in December were elected as permanent officers at the April annual meeting. There is also a representative board of directors.

Three standing committees have been appointed, Soil Erosion and Water Quality Committee, Flood Warning and Control Committee, and Public Action Committee.

Initial year's dues has been set at $100 per member municipality. A more significant and equitable dues formula is being studied for the future.

Council has applied for and expects to receive about $2500 in federal grant funds this year to help develop the organization's objectives.

Service clubs and community organizations of all kinds are encouraged to become interested in the council activities.

This is only the beginning of a long range program of cooperative effort to protect and improve the River Raisin.

Elfie E. Buell, 11400 Tipton Hwy., participated in the June 7 commencement exercises at MSU. She received her BA, majoring in Spanish. She graduated with high honors and is presently seeking a teaching position in an area school.

Gifts Benefit Adrian College

Adrian College recently announced two major gift commitments totaling $218,000 to be received from two anonymous sources. President John H. Dawson stated $118,000 is earmarked for the Ritter Art Center remodeling project. The remaining $100,000 will be used to support Adrian's education operating budget.

The college's Board of Trustees earlier this year approved a $250,000 remodeling scheme for the dining center originally built in 1958. Work was authorized to begin when sufficient funds and commitments were in hand.

President Dawson, in announcing the gifts, indicated work would begin about July 1 with complete remodeling planned for the Lenawee, Tobias and Adrian Rooms. "To further improve our food service operation and community service, we are giving priority to this project," he said.

Dr. Dawson noted that over the years the dining center more than any other campus facility, has experienced heavy day-to-day use and wear from students and banquets. "The Adrian Room alone," he said, "which is used primarily as a community and conference banquet center, over the past 12 months hosted about 75 community banquets and met the needs of 35 conferences."

Bi-centennial Journey

LUMBERING
By Thelma Younglove,
Member of Bicentennial
Committee for Ridgeway Twp.

The first settlers in Michigan found much of the land forested. Since the early settlers were chiefly interested in farming, the heavy timber served as an obstacle. Before the newcomers could plant anything, it was necessary to clear a plot of land. In clearing a plot many trees were felled and burned to get rid of them.

What a wasteful thing to do. If that excellent timber had been saved from destruction, it would have been worth millions of dollars at the present price of lumber.

Not all of the trees that were cut down were destroyed merely to get rid of them. The pioneers made use of the timber for many purposes. The pioneer and his family needed a home. Logs were used to make his log cabin.

More trees supplied material for shelter for the family's livestock, fuel, furniture, tools, equipment, and fuel for cooking and warmth.

A son of one of Ridgeway Township's early settlers described his childhood home as being a large one room log cabin with doors at end, big enough to drive a team of horses through.

When fuel was needed for the fire place, a team pulled a piece of a tree trunk into the cabin. The wood could be rolled into the fire place.

The same man said that his father burned excellent ashes to get the ashes to sell. By hauling two wagon loads of ashes to Clinton, where he sold them, he received enough money to pay his taxes.

About 1870 Michigan led in the production of the number of board feet of lumber. By 1890 the state led in all types of lumbering activities with over 2000 sawmills in the state. Soon after 1890, the lumbering industry began to decline. Much of the valuable timber in the state had been cut.

At the time the lumbering business was thriving in Michigan, there were four sawmills in Ridgeway Township. None are left.

At one time Britton was a railroad shipping center for lumber. Fine lumber amounting to 90,000 feet, was shipped to New York in one week. Finally the supply of good timber in the area was depleted. Lumbering and the sawmill business came to an end.

The final chapter in the lumbering business for the area ended this spring with the closing of Britton Lumber Yard. Only the empty buildings remain as another reminder of the past.

Board Conducts Routine Business

BRITTON—At the last regular monthly meeting of the Ridgeway Township Board acted on the following routine business:

Dave Linn requested a zoning ordinance change to permit a commercial beverage warehouse to be constructed on M-50, west of the new Ridgeway Baptist Church. It was approved, allowing him to sell this four acre parcel of land for roadside commercial use.

A petition by the Ridgeway School PTO was presented by local parents requesting the township to assist in providing a school crossing guard at M-50 during the afternoon school dismissal. They said there is a traffic problem due to workers from Tecumseh during that time of day.

Petition was formulated by mothers and the Ridgeway PTO, who stated the problem was serious and they were unable to get cooperation from enough parents to carry out the project.

The Township Board will check the cost, personnel availability and the legal and other requirements. However, no final action was taken. Most of the members of the board felt it was a favorable and worthwhile project.

Other action considered was implementing the local zoning ordinance in which the township board will become the enforcing agency of building, plumbing and electrical inspection for all new buildings and additions in the township. Plans are to hire or contract with Britton Village and other local governing units.

Frank Becker is now serving as local building inspector for Britton and Ridgeway Township, as he has for the past several years.

These units of government will use the cooperative approach to employ the services of plumbing and electrical inspectors.

To qualify for these positions the person must be experienced and licensed in his field and not actively employed in the electrical, plumbing or building trades in the local area, due to conflict of interest.

A board of appeals for the zoning ordinance was appointed according to the building code ordinance; the members are Larry Wagner, Russ Spalding, Don Abersold, Douglas Fairbanks and Harry Pape. This board will handle only those zoning problems unresolved by the Planning Commission or the Township Board.

Maintenance on the Township building, roof repair and painting the Township meeting room was approved. A committee was charged to get bids for carpet and floor.

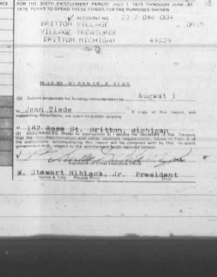
GENERAL REVENUE SHARING PLANNED USE REPORT (6)



Action Delayed on Environmental Study

By Russ Spalding,
Ridgeway Twp. Treasurer

BRITTON—Ridgeway Township Board delayed action on new Watershed and Environmental Control Study and Survey.

The Village of Britton and the Township of Ridgeway have been asked to join a watershed environmental control area of the northeast part of the county with the county drain commission acting as agent and grantee to restudy the need of waste and sewerage disposal.

After lengthy discussion of this project the Ridgeway Township Board failed to take positive action, due to the lack of votes for such a resolution.

Main objection was that much time and money has already been spent on surveys and studies in the past, with little or no results in solving sewerage problems in the Britton, Ridgeway and immediate surrounding area.

Another objection was that just a few months ago, Donald Mitchell, drain commissioner, and an engineering representative of environmental control, told Britton Village and Ridgeway Township at a public meeting that the proposal was low on the priority list and not considered a serious pollution threat to the environment.

"Then all at once, again, the local units of governments are asked to act hastely on a new proposal for waste and sewerage control, which will cost more money," said the township board.

Ridgeway Township Board welcomes the citizens to voice their feelings on this proposal.

Graduating Class Receives Diplomas

CLINTON — With an audience of nearly 1,000 relatives and friends attending, Clinton High School's largest graduating class received their diplomas Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium.

Gymnasium was unusually colorful for the occasion as the 93 seniors, girls in pink and boys in burgundy caps and gowns, marched through an archway decorated with crepe paper streamers. Each had a white rose, the class flower.

Pedestal bouquets of pink and burgundy chrysanthemums flanked the podium.

Concert band, directed by Robert Calkins, played "Pomp and Circumstance" for the processional.

The Rev. Charles Sanders of the Assembly of God, gave the invocation.

Cindy Piatt, salutatorian, offered the greeting, noting "this is the happiest week of my life, yet, I am crying," which found a receptive audience among her classmates, as many were noticed flicking away a tear or two.

Co-salutatorian, Roberta Girbach compared the graduates to the figure of Janis in Greek mythology, with one face looking to the past and the other to the future.

Superintendent Richard Wegner introduced Dr. Norman Brown, 4-H youth director with the Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan State University.

Dr. Brown asked the graduates to consider several questions of importance to their future concerning their career choice, selection of a marriage partner, obligations to family and community, and commitment to one's creator.

Howard Oesterling, high school principal, introduced the class as Robert Werner, president of the board of education awarded the diplomas.

Joy Clark gave the farewell message and invited her classmates to shake hands with each other.

Benediction was given by the Rev. Floyd Vaughn, of Clinton Baptist Church.

Council Draws up New Plant Contract

CLINTON — In the regular monthly meeting of Clinton Village Council, members decided to draw up a new contract with Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May in regards to the proposed waste water treatment plant.

Village attorney Melvin Smith suggested that a contract drawn up recently with the company is too vague and should be rejected.

Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May is an architectural and engineering company in Ann Arbor that designs waste water treatment systems.

In other action, the council accepted the bid of $4,475 from Driscoll Brothers for a ½ ton pickup truck to be used by the fire department for grass fires. Driscoll offered the fire department $175 for the departments' old jeep but council accepted the recommendation of the fire board that they try to sell the jeep themselves.

Council members also changed the effective date of the new water and sewer charges to June 15 from June 1 to coincide with meter reading days.

In addition, the council accepted the planned use report for revenue sharing funds.

In other action, board members passed a motion calling for the refund of deposits on electrical utility bills to customers who have demonstrated "good credit."

Electrical utility customers who are renters are required to pay a deposit. When that customer moves out of Clinton his deposit is returned and an interest rate of 5 percent is paid on that sum.

With the vote Monday night, those customers who pay their electrical bills on time for a period of 12 consecutive months will receive their deposits back plus the 5 percent interest.

Report Cards To Be Available

CLINTON — Students and parents are advised that final report cards will be available at the principals' offices June 20.

Offices will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Students and parents at the middle and high schools are urged to come in on that day.

Elementary report cards may be picked up the last day of school or on any day through June 20th.

New Booths Are Scheduled

CLINTON — Some unusual booths, quite different from last year's Fall Festival sidewalk display have been registered to take part in the Oct. 3, 4 and 5 event. A few examples are, the Helgrin Rug Hooking Guild, Irish Peddlers, a boats and balloon game, bread dough art and a moon walk.

It is also possible that a one ring circus might be scheduled.

To date, over 30 booths have been registered. About 15 booths still remain unpaid. Anyone who has not paid the registration fee should contact Kathy Thomas or Mrs. Gary Sexton.

To add to the "old time" theme of the Fall Festival, Kathy Thomas chairman, announced she will contact historical societies throughout the area asking for displays of artifacts in Clinton merchant windows.

Individuals with private antique collections, can take part in the store window exhibit. To make arrangements, contact Kathy Thomas from 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays at 456-4167, evenings 456-7348.

OPENING SUPERMARKET — Charles Mattis and Joseph Busch are opening J&C Family Foods, Inc., Monday, in the former Vescio building on E. Michigan Ave., Clinton. The independent store will offer groceries supplied by Spartan Foods of Grand Rapids. They'll be open from 8 to 9 daily six days a week with a staff of 15 employees.

Local Men Open Market

CLINTON — Joe Busch and Charles Mattis, life-time residents and experienced in the grocery business, will open a supermarket in the former Vescio's building in Clinton, Monday. Busch will be the manager at the Clinton store.

Joe Busch started in the grocery business with a partner, Charles Carlton, Jr. in 1947 when they built a brick and block structure, one half mile west of Clinton, and opened Clinton Country Market. In successive years, the independent operation expanded to include Country Markets in Tecumseh and Manchester.

In 1960, the Clinton Market moved into a new building just east of the main intersection in the village, and in 1965, Vescio's of Saginaw bought out Busch and Carlton, with the two men joining in statewide Vescio operation.

Busch was manager of the Tecumseh Vescio store for several years, and after the sale to Vescio, became general merchandise specialist for them for eight years.

Mattis started working for Country Markets right out of high school, and for Vescios ten years and has managed Vescio's markets in Manchester, Coldwater, Milan, Howell and Saline. Recently he has been a district supervisor.

Plans also call for a second J&C Family Foods, Inc. market to be opened in about 10 days in the former Vescio building in Saline, with Mattis as manager there.

Plat Book, Atlas Given to Society

CLINTON — Edward Wisner family recently presented a 1916 Lenawee County plat book and a 1953 county Atlas to the Clinton Historical Society.

Members had an opportunity to peruse these articles at a meeting last week.

Mrs. Shirley Fraley, chairman of the Bicentennial committee reported that the date of May 1, 1976 has been confirmed by Greenfield Village as a Clinton Day. Arrangements will be made for Clinton people to attend a dinner that day at the historic Clinton Inn there.

The Society adjourned until Sept. 1.

John Colton Fills Vacancy

CLINTON—Mrs. Marlene Thayer, law specialist for State Library Services, attended a special meeting of the Clinton Township Board, Monday, when the legal technicalities of the re-establishment of the Clinton Township Library were explained.

Harry Comstock stated that the library board has been proclaimed by the state as legally elected, and therefore no need for re-appointment of members.

The necessity for establishment of a library fund was explained. All bills are to be presented by the library board for payment from the library fund by the Clinton Township treasurer, co-signed by the clerk.

For an undetermined time, the library board had been handling all of its own funds and paying bills.

However, the library board will continue to have exlusive control over all library fund monies.

A budget must be submitted to the township board, and the township supervisor will be authorized to levy tax millage "up to one mill" to raise sufficient funds to cover the budget.

Fund will be composed of the tax millage raised and proceeds forthcoming from state penal fines and state aid. Present library funds will be transferred to the new Township Library Fund immediately.

For many years the penal fines and state aid have automatically gone to the Lenawee County Library board, and the library services have been provided to Clinton Township Library on an informal basis.

Mrs. Thayer said, "You will want a legal contract with the county library for their services."

Comstock asked whether there might be a conflict of interest in having a member of the Clinton Library Board also serving on the County Library Board. Present chairman of Clinton Library Board, Mrs. Philip Groeb, serves in these two positions now.

Township Board members and others present agreed no apparent conflict of interest would be involved in this case, Mrs. Thayer concurred.

According to statute, the only time executive session of library board was to be held without librarian present was when her salary was being discussed.

New status of the re-established library now makes it available for possible state grants, and it will be placed on the state mailing list on which certain services become accessible to the library.

Library board now has authority for the maintenance or construction of the library building, to appoint the librarian and assistants and fix salaries.

Since the township board was authorized to fill vacancies on the library board, action was taken at this special meeting to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Henry Louwerens.

Although he wasn't required by statute to do so, Supervisor Comstock asked for suggested names from the library board for the vacant positions and the two names submitted were John Colton and Nicholas Holt.

Township board named John Colton to fill the vacancy.

Complete library board member list must be filed with the State Library Services now, Mrs. Thayer said.

Colton will serve until the next general election in 1976, then he will be eligible to seek election for the unexpired Louwerens term.

John Colton, a resident of Water Wheel Estates, for the past five years, was a civil engineer with Grand Trunk Railroad prior to his retirement. He had previously served on the board for one and one-half years to compete the unexpired term of Robert Braden, and was defeated at the polls, when he sought election to that posistion in 1974.

There were seven visitors at the meeting and three members of the Township Library Board, Mrs. Groeb, Mrs. Hans Schmidt and Mrs. Agnes Geiger.

Construction Is Underway

The first on-site construction work to restore Adrian's venerable 1856 Croswell Opera House, has begun with modifications in the stage area of the Maumee street playhouse, it was announced today by Carlo Heikkinen, board president of the Croswell Opera House and Fine Arts Association, operators of the theater.

"This beginning of actual construction marks the culmination of many years of planning, fund-raising and generous personal efforts by its sponsors and dedicated Adrian citizens", said Mr. Heikkinen.

"When the full $300,000 program is completed, the Croswell will stand as a true symbol of earlier American heritage in a county-wide community that always has honored its historic past".

Updating the stage equipment will eliminate a minor distinction heretofore enjoyed by the Croswell. By professionals it was known as the only remaining "hemp house" in Michigan. This referred to the rope rigging used to suspend, raise and lower its massive curtains.

Originally, these were hauled by hand by muscular men stationed in the "fly loft," 60 feet above the stage floor.

The hemp rope is now being replaced by modern steel cables actuated at floor level. New wiring for stage lighting is also being installed, as is a new fire sprinkler system for the entire house.

Further improvements such as painting and decorating, rearrangement of some seating and structural changes are scheduled to preclude any interference with current theater productions.

New Degrees Approved

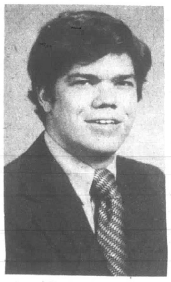
In recent action, the board of trustees of Siena Heights College formally approved two new degrees, a Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice and a Bachelor of Applied Science.

Both degrees are a natural outgrowth of programs previously offering only two-year associate degrees.

The Bachelor of Science, Criminal Justice, requires a minimum of 120 semester hours with 36 of these hours in criminal justice and related courses.

At present, approximately 55 students are majoring in the Siena Heights Criminal Justice program. Many are police officers, correctional officers, and courtworkers.

The Bachelor of Applied Science degree is Siena's response to student demand, societal expectation, and employer need. Rather than adopt a proliferation of science degrees (engineering, electronics, biology, etc.) it was elected to have one degree cover all the area in which the applied science student has majored.



Dr. Barry Lamkin graduated May 30 from the Medical School of the University of Michigan and will serve his internship and residency at the University of Michigan Hospital. Barry is a 1968 graduate of Tecumseh High School. He lives in Ann Arbor with his wife, Nancy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lamkin of Tecumseh.

Additional Judgeship for County

By request of the Lenawee County Board of Commissioners, Republican State Senator Hal W. Ziegler, of Jackson, has introduced a bill that would create an additional circuit court judgeship in Lenawee County.

"Due to the unusually heavy caseload, it is generally felt that an additional judge would help to expedite some of the cases pending before the court," Senator Ziegler commented.

Judgeship will be filled at the 1976 general election for a term of 6 years. The position will take effect on January 1, 1977.

"The passage of this bill should help to assure a more efficient processing of cases in Lenawee County courts," Ziegler concluded.

Indians Honored

Tecumseh's athletes have won the all—sports trophies for both boys and girls athletics for the 1974—75 season in the Huron League.

A school is awarded points in a sport according to where its team finishes in league standings. If they take first place in the league the school is awarded seven points. Second place is worth six and so forth. If two teams tie for first place, they each receive 6½ points.

The boys won the honor with a total of [illegible] while the girls won it with 27½ points.

Tecumseh's boys took a first place finish in football, golf and track. For the girls, they took a first place finish in basketball, volleyball, the softball team tied with Jefferson for first and the girls track squad tied with Airport for first place.

Boys baseball squad finished fourth in the league, the wrestling squad took second, cross country took fifth, and the basketball team tied with Grosse Ile for third place.

The girls all-sports trophy has been in existence for just two years and Tecumseh's girls have won it both times.

Tecumseh athletic director Don Brazee will accept the all—sports trophy for boys and girls this Friday at a banquet of Huron League personnel in Toledo.

Tourney

Girls Win Regionals, Head for State Finals

Typifying Tecumseh High School athletics at its best, the Indian softball squad won the regional title last Saturday and the right to participate in the state Class B finals this weekend.

This is the first year for post-season softball tournament action and the Indians could earn the distinction of being the first state Class B softball champs with two wins Saturday.

The final two games will be played at Dickinson Field in Kalamazoo.

Tecumseh first met Parchment in regional competition also in Kalamazoo last Saturday. They easily burned their adversaries 16-4 with Lisa Lee at the pitching helm.

Lee struck out two, walked one, allowed four runs and 10 hits.

Six players grabbed Tecumseh's 12 hits including Julie Murphy and Julie Anderson with a single and triple apiece, Betsy Miller and Tori Iffland with three singles each, Jane Faulkner and Carol Zimmerman each with a single.

In the afternoon, the squad took on Brandywine in the regional finals. The Indians were victorious with an unbelievable final score of 24-1. Sue Frazier got the win on the mound with three strikeouts, one walk, allowing one run and two hits.

No less than eleven players chipped in for the squad's final 21 hits.

Julie Murphy and Betsy Miller each had four singles, Julie Anderson, Sue Frazier and Carol Zimmerman all had two singles, Tori Iffland had a triple and Sandy Banda, Veda Yoder, Jill Hibbard, Jill Greenfield, and Vickie Smith all had a single apiece.

The Indians will play Fenton in the state preliminaries Saturday at 12:30 in Kalamazoo. If they win that one they'll play the winner of the Grand Rapids Catholic Central-Dearborn Divine Child contest for the state title.

The final game is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m.

Four Teams Undefeated

After slo-pitch action last week, Dancer's, Ponderosa and Protco, and VFW remain undefeated in their respective leagues.

Tuesday League

Three runs in the fifth inning proved the difference as United Savings Bank beat B&W West 3—1. Three singles in the first accounted for the lone West run.

Dancer's remained undefeated beating Underwood Chevrolet 11—1. Locker and Hoffman each got three hits for Dancer's.

The Sheep Flockers evened their record at 2—2 beating Wrong Way Pub 13—6. Service led the Flockers with four singles. Sanchez was three for four for WWP, also two for two for the season.

Wednesday League

Oberst Agency made an upset bid against unbeaten Ponderosa but a six run rally in the sixth inning gave Ponderosa the win 10-6. The winners were paced by Tripp who had four hits.

Judkins Insurance recorded their first win of the season beating Tecumseh JayCees 12—0. Stewart connected for a three run homer for Judkins.

In a good defensive game Protco edged Pike Inn 6—4. Protco is 4—0 in the league while Pike Inn slipped to 2—2.

Thursday League

Irish Hills Merchants scored eight runs in the fifth inning to slip past Rumpf Trucking 16—13. The winners were paced by Johnson who collected four hits while Rumpf was led by Pieh who was three for four.

VFW remained unbeaten by downing Watson Brothers 22—3 in five innings. The winners pushed across eleven runs in the third with the big blow a three run homer by Allen. Aiuto added a solo blast in the fifth.

Make-Up

Henning hit two home runs in the first inning as Rumpf scored eleven times en route to a 17—1 decision over American Legion Post 34.

Watson Brothers and Handley Equipment were in a tight ball game until Handley scored seven runs in the fourth inning to take the win 17—1. Salisbury homered for Handley.

In the nightcap, Handley Equipment repeated their first game tactics to win over American Legion 9—1. Handley Equipment is now 2—2 for the year while the Legion is 1-3.

City ... Kids Need Sidewalks

Council recommended Monday night that sidewalks be installed to discourage kids from playing in the street on Cairns.

A letter, explaining Council's position, will be sent to the 50 residents who petitioned for stop signs to slow traffic on that street.

At the June 2 Council meeting, residents were upset by a near tragedy of a six-year-old boy who was hit by a car.

They wanted signs on Pottawatamie and Cairns and at Park and Cairns to slow down traffic to 25 mph.

Mayor Harold Easton told Council Monday that he observed the situation on that street right after the last council meeting. He said he saw "four kids on two wheel bikes, too young for them. I sat there for 20 minutes to watch them riding into the street from the driveways, not heeding traffic."

"There is no reason to put stop signs on every corner, if parents can't control their kids," said Councilwoman Mary Bowers. She suggested a special assessment for sidewalks, "so there's no excuse to play in the streets."

City manager Cal Zorn said sidewalks can be put in by special assessment of property owners.

Zorn reported that there were four accidents on Cairns St. in the Sunset Mead, Sunset Meadows subdivisions. Three were at the intersections of Cairns and Sunset.

The situation was improved by replacing the yield signs with stop signs, reported Zorn.

The fourth accident was at Cairns and Park Streets. The stop signs at Park were stolen at least twice and the ones at Willow once, since they were installed last summer.

To date in 1975, there have been four accidents, one at Pottawatamie and Willow, and two between Pottawatamie and Willow, continued Zorn.

Since the last meeting, approximately five hours was spent on radar patrol and seven tickets were issued for excessive speed of 10 mph over the limit. Only one of these was traveling over 35 mph.

Zorn suggested the situation be improved if parents prohibit children from playing in the street, park cars in garages or driveways and construct sidewalks.

He termed Cairns as a "collector street" not exactly a main road but one where traffic turns onto. Regarding stop signs Zorn said, "Streets are to move traffic. You will get people driving over the limit on any street."

25,000-Square-Foot Addition to THS Will Cost $1.5 Million

By Frank Weir

At the monthly meeting of the Tecumseh School Board Monday, members voted to proceed with a $1.5 million 25,000 square foot addition to the high school without a vote from the district electorate.

Supt. Robert Duhan told members that "boards of education have the authority to bond up to 5 percent of the state equalized value, of their district without a vote of the people."

If the district's valuation hits the projected figure this fall of $91 million, the Board could have a total bond indebtedness of $4.5 million. At the present, the schools still owe approximately $900,000 on the Sutton elementary school.

With the $1.5 million addition to the high school, the Board still has about $2 million for capital improvements.

Duhan briefly reviewed the space and discipline problems facing the high school. Board members feel that the addition "isn't the answer to everything, but it solves some of the major problem areas."

The addiition will enable the cafeteria to seat and serve over 400 students at one time, allowing Tecumseh High School to be changed to a closed campus.

Four new classrooms will be added along with an art and music area and a new hallway. The construction will take place on Maumee and includes reconditioning 1,500 square feet of the present building.

Hugh DesErmia, chairman of the building and grounds committee which worked with the architect on the addition said, "It's our consensus that we need this, it solves all these problems."

Duhan said that the building would be tentatively available by September of 1976 by using the bonding method. If put to a vote, the construction could take much longer. He added that Sutton Elementary was built using this method in the late 1960s. The bond issue would be for 15 years.

In discussing the bond proposal, member Todd Herrick wondered whether voters should have the final say on the addition. "Voters have the right to say yes or no and it's up to the Board to convince them. I hate to think that the voter isn't bright enough to see what we see."

Board president William Brown answered by saying, "The voters are not aware of all the problems that lead to this decision. I don't know how you get to the people."

Other members, including Hugh DesErmia commented on the apparent apathy of Tecumseh voters toward school problems.

Assistant Supt. Eugene Cooley summed up the Board's feelings, "Apathy is a matter of great concern to us."

The Board then voted to build the addition using the bond method with Herrick at first voting no and then later changing to a yes vote.

Pinned Between Concrete Trucks

Man Killed Instantly

Lowell J. "Red" Edwards, 49, of 500 N. Maiden lane, died as a result of an accident while at work Wednesday morning in Adrian.

He had worked for Kreighoff's of Lenawee County for the past 10 years.

He was killed instantly when pinned between two concrete trucks, the other truck lurching forward while he was disconnecting a chain used in towing one of the trucks which wouldn't start.

Mr. Edwards was born on Oct. 1, 1925 in Britton, the son of Drew and Blanche Edwards.

A life long resident of the Tecumseh and Britton area, he married Emma Jean Osburn on March 24, 1946 in Tecumseh. She survives.

He was a veteran of WWII serving with the US Navy.

Survivors besides his wife include: his mother, Mrs. Blanche Edwards of Ocala, Fla.; three sons, Scott and Tom of Tecumseh and Jack of Saline; one brother, Charles Edwards of Ocala, Fla., and two grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his father.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at the Purse Funeral Home with the Rev. Edmond Watkins officiating. Burial will be in the Ridgeway Cemetery.

Grading Change for Elementary?

School Board member Todd Herrick told the Board Monday night that he has "not been happy" as a parent with the satisfactory—unsatisfactory grading system used in Tecumseh elementary schools.

Herrick said he would like to see a switch to conventional letter grades or at least give parents the option.

"As a parent, I did not get sufficient feedback on scholastic achievement tests taken by my children. Children will be compared with others all their lives and elementary school is not too early," said Herrick in speaking for a letter grade system.

Tecumseh curriculum coordinator Wayne Kaiser said that the satisfactory—unsatisfactory system was started "because parents could come in and talk with teachers. That's better than looking at a card with A B C D E F. What are you comparing with a letter grade?"

Board president William Brown referred the situation to the policy committee for further study and recommendations.

Two Officials Deny 'Dispute'

By KATHY BROWN

Councilwoman Mary Bowers and Police Chief Ray Walton denied Tuesday that an exchange between them during Monday night's council meeting was a "policy dispute" over whether or not the 12-man force should have helmets.

Monday night, Mrs. Bowers asked the chief if helmets had been purchased by the men. She said she was upset to hear that the policemen were going to or did buy the equipment themselves.

"If the equipment is needed, $300 is a small price to pay to equip them instead of going to Adrian for them. I don't feel it is right the men buy their own," Mrs. Bowers said.

She raised the same question at a Council meeting during the Tecumseh Products Co. strike. "I felt that I did not get any answer from anyone at that time," Mrs. Bowers said.

Chief Walton said Monday that riot helmets are needed more in patrol cars "You try and get the men to wear them, they won't," he said.

He explained Tuesday that some men ordered their own helmets from a "service fund" the men had raised. When the treasurer would not relinquish funds, they went to the department and "expected to be bailed out," said Walton.

The order was cancelled by the men Monday night before the Council meeting.

At Monday's meeting, Walton said the department "Won't be my worry for very long." Asked if he threatened to resign, Walton said, "Any resignation would not be over that incident." He said he has considered resignation. "The risk and responsibility is not worth the reward. It has nothing to do with the money," Walton emphasized.

"I don't feel badly towards the lady at all," Walton said, "It is not the question of the helmets, but the way they (the men) went about it," that the chief said he reacted to.

Monday night Mrs. Bowers also inquired, on behalf of a resident, why only one man was on patrol and one at the desk on the 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. shift. She agreed with the citizen that one man is not enough.

Walton said four men normally work the shift, but vacations and sick leaves cut it to one.

Mrs. Bowers thought the resident said it took the officer too long to answer the call. Actually the officer responded by first investigating the suspicious situation with other neighbors.

The officer did not volunteer the information that he was the only officer in the car; he was asked by the complaintant who his partner was.

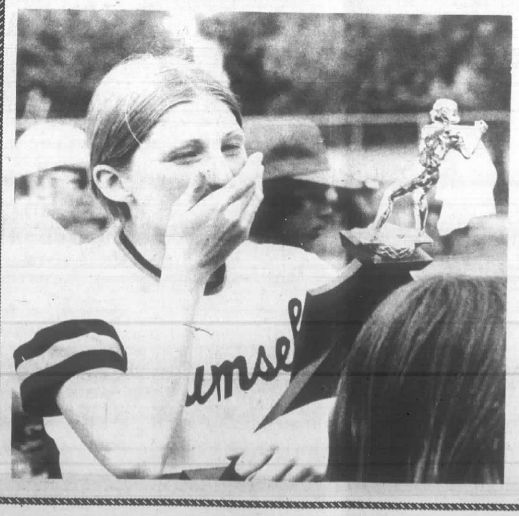
No Lease Yet with Church for Schools

School Board members are still pursuing an agreement with church officials, regarding the renting of three classrooms at St. Elizabeth's school to be used by high school students next fall.

Supt. Robert Duhan told members Monday night that Tecumseh has not yet arrived at a lease agreement.

In addition, church officials in Lansing have not made a final decision.

Utility and custodial fees for St. Elizabeth's have yet to be decided upon.



Girls Bow in Class B Softball Finals

There's probably not another school in the state that can boast of the athletic talents and achievements which have been accomplished the past year by the Tecumseh girls. They won the state Class B title in basketball and just missed adding a second championship crown Saturday. Lisa Lee, left, can't hold back the tears while clutching the runnerup trophy presented to the Tecumseh girls after their loss in the Class B softball finals. In retrospect, however, it has been a great year for the girls, one they can be proud of - and the schools and entire community, too.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

The late Rana of Dholpur, sometimes called the "Prince of Pearls," possessed a collection of pearls unrivaled by those of any of the other Indian princes. It is reported that the Prince had an offer of one million dollars for a string of pearls often shown to encircle his neck in photographs. The pearls are large, unusually so, and have perfect luster. The offer was not considered, since it was against the tradition of Indian royalty to sell jewels. The entire collection of this Prince was said by experts to be valued at over seven million dollars.

Two Recognized for Restoration

Two individuals in the area were recognized with the first awards for architecture preservation by the Tecumseh Area Historical Society recently.

Bill Krawchuck, former owner who restored 128 E. Chicago Blvd., was recognized in the commercial division. Mr. and Mrs. John Doerfler, 2501 Rogers Hwy., who restored the Holloway railroad depot, were the homeowners recognized.

Krawchuck said the building is at least 105 years old, traced back to photos taken in 1870. It is also in photos prior to that year. In 1880, the building housed a book and stationery store. In the 1900's it was a millinery shop, owned by Maude Bell for 30 years. A restaurant and barbershop occupied the building in more recent years.

Krawchuck sold the building to Charles Maskill, owner of MasterKraft.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doerfler bought the Holloway depot in 1968. It was built in 1902 and bought by J.D. Jaqua after the last two trains ran past the depot in 1955. Jaqua now deceased, was the last station agent. He moved from Holloway to its present location on Rogers Hwy.

Original items found in the depot include a telegraph and desk, bulletin board with the last schedule, ticket desk, casings and trim and outside signs.

The Doerflers said they purchased the depot since he likes trains and she fancies antiques. They are from Riga and Blissfield, respectively.

The couple have no plans to sell their home and are still restoring it.

Mrs. Doerfler works at Stauffer Chemical and Mr. Doerfler is a self-employed carpenter.

THS Counselors Guide Students

By Kathy Brown

Now more than ever, it seems high school students need preparation for the job market. But where can they get it?

Tecumseh High School students receive help to make their career choices through the guidance office. "We try to help the individual student make the most of his education in line with his aptitude and interest," said John Pobuda, 20 year veteran guidance counselor at THS.

"Kids don't tie their basic preparation in high school with the work-a-day world. We try to give them enough information, right down to the nitty-gritty, the good and bad things about their career ideas and education plans," he said.

The guidance office, also manned by experienced counselors Thomas Muncie, Mary Fall and Ronald Spagnoli, operates as an information center. Its services are varied.

Counseling begins in the eighth grade. Students are assigned counselors and asked to consider what they are interested in doing the rest of their life, what they do well and like to do.

At each grade level, counselors initiate contacts with students, gathering personal data through tests and interviews.

Results of these tests are reviewed by students and counselors. "It is impossible for a student to walk through the Tecumseh system without seeing a counselor a number of times each year," explained Pobuda.

After four years of high school, the student finds himself with one of three choices. 1. He can continue his education through post high school training, college or trade school. 2. He either has a job lined up or 3. "He takes his heart into his hand, and says "I'm going out to find a job." This is the student that we work the hardest with," said Pobuda.

Students who attend Vo-Tech Center, Adrian, have additional opportunities to discover interests and talents through co-op jobs in their senior year. Vo-Tech offers placement service.

Guidance counselors also work closely with prospective college students,relaying the most recent information from colleges.

In selecting a college, the counselors emphasize a student consider, 1. what college is it? 2. what are the entrance requirements? 3. what size is the school? 4. where is it, near or far? 5. what is the cost and is there any financial aid?

"Today, mom and dad also play a pretty big part in deciding which college, due to their financial support. It is a two way street. Students have an obligation to their parents," said Pobuda.

The battery of admission tests required by some colleges often bewilder students. The Preliminary Aptitude and Scholastic Aptitude Tests (PSAT and SAT) and the American College Test (ACT), are known to students by initials. Each of these testing programs also has a financial aid form to be completed by parents of students requesting aid.

A student applying to three colleges, requiring different tests could conceivably spend $20 or more in registration and score transcript fees.

"Can you imagine a senior taking a packet of information home, applying for these tests and trying to remember which college requires what? Counselors explain all requirements to the student and keep a carbon copy. This is one way we help them swim in the alphabet soup," said Pobuda.

These college tests understandably can cause anxiety for students and parents, particularly in filing financial aid statements.

"Some parents ask me if it is worthwhile. If the student gets $200 or $300, that is so much he doesn't have to worry about," reasoned Pobuda.

"We get our share of financial aid for our kits; we go after it," he said.

A "resume hour" tells the student what can be expected in college. "Personal adjustment, not academic, is most trying to students. Colleges try to carry out responsiblity to student success through guidance agencies on campus," said Pobuda.

"Guidance is not paperwork or filling out forms. It is working with educational progress. Now more group counseling is used because the paperwork involved takes the counselors' time," Pobuda added.

GUIDANCE TEAM — John Pobuda, foreground, marks 20 years of counseling Tecumseh High School youth this year. Together with Thomas Muncie, six years, Mary Fall, three years and Ronald Spagnoli, four years, the guidance team has 33 years combined experience. They try to keep up with career ideas of students from eighth grade to senior high, over 1200 students each year. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Phillips Hold Open House for Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah H. Phillips held an open house Sunday for their daughter, Andrea, a member of the 1975 graduating class at Tecumseh.

A buffet luncheon, featuring a cake decorated in the class color of lavender, was served and a lavender candle with purple violets served as a centerpiece. Alison Phillips was in charge of the guest book.

In the fall she will attend the University of Michigan, majoring in medicine.

June 16th, she will leave for Denmark, Sweden and Germany to tour with the Blue Lake Fine Arts International Band.

Survey Explains Plans

By Kathy Brown

A follow-up survey of Tecumseh High School's 238 graduating seniors by the guidance counselors shows 37 percent of the class plan to attend college this fall.

Combined with seven percent planning to attend junior college and one percent enrolling in technical or trade school, a total of 45 percent will seek post high school education. The guidance office indicated that some junior college hopefuls are enrolled in technical courses.

Second largest category are graduates looking for full employment, 28 percent, or graduates who are employed, 16 percent, with a total of 44 percent.

Survey shows six percent of the graduates have entered the military, a higher percentage than in recent years.

Three percent of the women indicated that they were married or intended to marry.

LOCAL ARTISTS SHOW IN SALINE—Jane Callison, ceramist, left, and Jeanne Cease, candlemaker, will display their art at the Saline Summer Art Fair, Saturday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Curtiss Park, Saline River Bank. Mrs. Callison's specialty is ceramic figure music boxes in 90 different tunes and crazy quilt cookie jars. Mrs. Cease makes carved scented candles, as the one she holds, "water candles" and some decoupaged with diamond dust. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Saline Art Show

By Kathy Brown

At least three Tecumseh artists have been lured to show at Saline's Summer Art Fair Saturday and Sunday.

Jane Callison, 3633 Noland, a former Saline resident, and member of the Saline Arts Council, has been a ceramist for five years. Main feature of her display will be ceramic music boxes.

The Saline Arts Council, fair sponsor, is a non-profit organization which promotes art in the city and benefits local artists in sales.

Mrs. Callison explained city art council advertises extensively to benefit the artists. City also benefits through tourism. Mrs. Callison suggested that Tecumseh organize a similar council. "There are talented people here. . .if you could only get them out of the shadows." She said the local art council could utilize the Community Center as a perfect setting for shows by Tecumseh artists.

She for one, uses her profits to invest in bigger and better projects. She believes that more communities should encourage artists to produce.

Mrs. Callison's fun and profit convinced her neighbor, Jeanne Cease, 3592 Gady Rd., to make candles. Her most unusual are the carved candles in three colors, worked when the wax is the hottest. "Water candles" which look like a castle, are made by dunking hot wax into water.

Fred Choske, 707 Wenonah, will display his wood carvings with another artist from Ann Arbor. Choske, a botany graduate student at Michigan State University, uses cherry, walnut and mahogany for decorative pieces.

Biggest reason art fairs appeal to artists is they want someone's opinion of their work, one artist confided.

In case of rain, the fair, with its 50 entries, will be in the former Dancer's store in Saline.

For those with a few "Bicentennial Minutes" the Tecumseh Public Library has an interesting assortment of books for pre-teen and teenage readers in the Young Adult section.

THE WAY IT WAS 1876 by Suzanne Hilton shows what life was like when America celebrated its first Centennial. Already drugs were a problem because of self-doctoring with patent medicines containing narcotics. The Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia introduced the parts of the Statue of Liberty (just arrived from France); the can-can; electricity; and many other exciting marvels, including ice cream sodas and the telephone!

To go back to a frequently forgotten U.S. war, Mary Kay Phelan presents THE BURNING OF WASHINGTON - AUGUST 1814. British soldiers are seen as they destroy the buildings on Capitol Hill. The President's House is burned and looted, but the First Lady, Dolley Madison, saves a carriage-full of government papers. If it wasn't truth, you could read this as an interesting novel.

A series of histories of the original 13 colonies also provides information for tourists and stay-at-home dreamers. COLONIAL DELAWARE tells how an early Dutch settlement was wiped out by Indians only to be re-founded by a 300 pound Swede. The Revolutionary War is well-covered, as well as an explanation of the survey by Mason and Dixon, which settled a dispute by William Penn and Lord Baltimore, only to later form a dividing line between the North and the South. Different authors cover different states, giving a list for further reading, historical dates and sights to see.

An absorbing new autobiography of a little know historical figure is THE PERSONAL MEMOIRS OF JULIE DENT GRANT, wife of Ulysses S. Grant. Mrs. Grant, the daughter of a Missouri planter, was brought up in the luxury of plantation life, and looked back on that life with regret. Yet she married one of the men most responsible for destroying the planter class. Readers will be glad Mrs. Grant has been rescued from obscurity.

A MOST UNIQUE MACHINE, by George S. May, recounts the beginning of the automobile industry in Michigan, all the say back to Charles B. King's first road test in Detroit in 1896.

INDY 500 MECHANIC, by Clint Brawner, is for readers who would like to look at the famous race from an insider's viewpoint. Brawner, a 20 year veteran of the Indy 500, talks candidly of the politics, money, and personalities which make up his exciting world.

WEATHERING THE STORM, by Elizabeth Evans, is a record of women of the American Revolution, told in first person through their diaries and journals. None of the women are famous, but all produced vivid portraits of themselves and their times.

GREEN BEACH, by James Leasor. During World War II, Jack Nissenthall, son of Jewish refugees, volunteered to penetrate a key German radar station high on a cliff at Dieppe. To find out how it operated was essential to Allied plans for D day, but the mission was extremely hazardous. What happened reads like a topnotch adventure novel, yet the events are all true.

IDEAS FOR DECOUPAGE AND DECORATION, by Betty Lorrimer, is jam packed with pictures and instructions for many lovely and unusual decoupage projects.

Three Car Choice, Not One at Festival

CLINTON — Three cars, not just one, will be available for the Fall Festival drawing, Joe O'Donnell announced at the recent car ticket sales committee meeting.

John Underwood Chevrolet-Olds-Pontiac, George Underwood Ford-Lincoln-Mercury and Driscoll Bros. Motor Sales will furnish cars at cost.

"The dealers have been just great," O'Donnell said, "and the 100 percent support from the churches has helped, too."

"Win the car of your choice" will be the slogan for the Fall Festival car ticket sales, O'Donnell said. Only one car will be given away.

Cars will each be one patriotic color, red, white or blue.

Raffle tickets will be ordered as soon as the model of each car is decided upon, and will also be red, white and blue.

Profits of the event will be shared by the four village churches.

Goal was set at $10,000 and a thermometer will be placed in the State Savings Bank to mark the progress of the ticket sales.

Boron service station will provide a grassed area for the three cars to be on display downtown, and they will be taken to many summer events throughout the area.

Present at the meeting were Kathy Thomas, Festival chairman and the car ticket sales representatives from the participating churches, Mark Bauer, St. Dominic's Catholic; Edwin Piatt, United Church of Christ; Dennis Reeve, United Methodist; and Mrs. Gus Smith, St. John's Episcopal Church.

Macon Dialog

I'm about to tell you something even my best friends don't know about me. I've come close to revealing this to several people I thought I could trust to carry the confession to their graves, but somehow the words would never come out. Well, this is 1975 and attitudes have changed, so here goes.

I can't crimp.

You will better understand the shame in this statement if I explain that I am a long line of expert crimpers. My great-grandmother was a crimper par excellence: her ruffly edges stood up proudly around the circumference of every pie she turned out.

Grandma, mom, my aunts and cousins—and even Uncle Frank were endowed with talented thumbs and index fingers. My problem is basically a case of rotten timing; I'm not at all thumbs when I should be.

Too embarrassed to seek instruction from my family, I turned to Betty Crocker. But there are certain things one can't learn from a manual. The full-color diagrams were most inspiring, but I only became frustrated trying to manipulate my crust the way the hand with the red fingernails in the picture did it.

I considered private tutoring but had trouble locating anyone with the required expertise at an affordable price. I then decided that practice would have to make perfect.

I crimped until I got dizzy from going around and around and around pie shells. I crimped until I needed cortisone shots to uncramp my deformed-looking fingers. Forty-two hundred pounds of flour and a ton of Crisco later, and I still haven't gotten the hang of it.

My husband has been patient and has tried to mask his disappointment, but every once in a while I catch him sneaking an admiring glance at some woman's coconut creme. And without meaning to be, children can be very cruel.

Last year I worked up enough courage to donate pies at Macon's Pie Social. My five-year-old son told me he had had a piece of one of my pies. I explained to him that there were over 1,500 pieces of pie there, and told him he couldn't be sure that he had eaten my pie. "It was your pie all right," he assured me. "It had those funny edges."

I burned my pastry cloth.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

TO SEE AND HEAR

We see them often, hear them constantly, but have no idea where they are nesting. I am certain there is a nest close by, because the only thing more sure at this time of year than wrens singing is that they are also busy raising their families. And it follows, of course, that about the only thing more fun then listening to these characters is watching them raise those families

Just lately the days have been full of wren talk. It is pretty to hear — the loud happy serenading is full of joy. There may be some question as to the musical quality of the serenade, but no one will argue about its volume.

These tiny five inch characters are loud and noisy. In fact, the Chippewa Indians are reputed to have called the wren "O-du-na-mis-sug-ud-da-we'-shi" which supposedly translates "a big noise for its size."

The National Geographic's SONG AND GARDEN BIRDS OF NORTH AMERICA begins its article about house wrens by calling the bird "a bustling bundle of nervous energy." They then go on to use such words as jaunty and belligerent. True, all true.

The little guy we see is also as curious as all get out. He is forever investigating and poking his long slender and slightly curved bill into everything. The empty suet feeder on the dead limb of the walnut tree is of special interest — we think he simply cannot figure out what it is.

It is fun to watch him exploring, or rather investigating, this feeder. It is on the biggish side and he is so small that it actually is an exploration. A very thorough one too. He scrambles up and down the wire sides and crawls over the wooden frame. Not an inch is overlooked and in true wren fashion, he hurries, hurries, hurries. It must present quite a challenge.

From the suet feeder he is apt to fly down to the roof of one of the covered feeders. The ridge of the pitched roof on the one provides an excellent singing spot. He almost always stops there for a minute or two and thrills us with a loud outburst of song. Tail cocked up and head thrown back, he opens his bill wide and out comes that "big noise for its size."

So close is this feeder to the front window that we can see his throat vibrate as he sings. We can also see the black bars on his wings and tail and the finer stripes on his back. His two black eyes are bright. I intended to say snappy, but that would be a bit too much — his quick nervous actions are more indicative of his character than his eyes.

Our old wren house did not survive the winter intact. A replacement will necessitate a little 'tree surgery' and as yet there has been no time for such things. There are many nest building spots for these little songsters so we are not worrying about them.

Actually wrens build nests in many things and places other than the cute wren houses humans provide for them. Every spring, just as there are stories of unlikely robin building sites, so too are there tales of wrens filling pockets of a white shirt with twigs, appropriating a mailbox, etc.

Of course, just because one hangs out a wren house does not insure wren occupancy. The female is funny and fussy — the male she chooses may have built six to twelve nests and who knows what standards she uses for choosing or settling on one.

Then once the location has been chosen, she more times than not will tear out and discard all of his hard work and build her own nest. That is woman's lib carried to the extreme, I should say.

Wrens are hard working parents and raise large families. There are people who make a study of such things and with infinite patience take detailed notes. One such tireless observer reported that a busy male wren, during the course of a long hard day, made one thousand two hundred and seventeen trips to the nest. What a hungry family he must have been feeding!

So it is that although the mystery of where they have hidden the family is not solved, we have been enjoying the wrens — they are such dears to see and hear!

Dear Mr. Woodford:

In a May 29, 1975 article in the Tecumseh (Michigan) Herald it was stated that funds had been approved for the widening of a section of West Chicago Boulevard (M-50) in the newer business section of our town, but that no bids had been sought for the work (bids to have been received in May) and it was therefore at a standstill.

I have been referred to you to find the answers to my questions. Why were no bids sought for this work? Who was responsible for the advertizement for bids? What is being done now about this situation?

(Editor's note: Letter is correct, except article did not say that funds have been approved.)

Dear Sir,

Last week at the pony fields on Russell Road parents and youngsters were shocked to witness a verbal attack against one of the pony league coaches. A mother, dissatisfied with the way the coach was handling things, took matters into her own hands. And when she didn't get the results she wanted, she took her boys and left the field, shouting obscenities all the way.

We're sure we can speak for the other parents when we say we appreciate the job all the coaches are doing. It isn't easy to work with so many boys and keep everybody happy. But the coaches spend their own free time every week with these kids, doing the very best they can.

They all deserve a lot of credit and respect for the service they perform. They should never have to be subjected to the public humiliation which we saw last week. On behalf of the rest of the parents, our deepest regrets for that incident.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnstone

If she has kept up with the course all term, she'll not flunk because of this nap. BUT—if she is counting on the midnight oil to pull her through the exam . . . Too bad!

You've heard of people being converted to Christianity on their deathbed. True! As Christ promised salvation to a penitent thief on the cross, so God's love reaches out even in the final hour to those who call on Him in faith.

But don't live your life on the dangerous principle that last-minute cramming will satisfy all your religious needs.

There will be millions of adults and children in church next Sunday. They are seeking spiritual truth, gaining Christian convictions . . . not because they need some religion to die with—because they need Faith to live by.

Bi-centennial Journey

EARLY FARM PRACTICES
By Thelma Younglove

Early farms in the county were very small. Many contained not more than four acres. Reason for the mini-sized farms was pioneers were unable to clear a larger plot before the planting season began.

Often crops were planted among the stumps with very simple hand tools. As soon as the farmer was able to clear more land the acreage increased.

By the turn of the century, many of the farms were still not very large compared to present day standards. Forty acre farms were common. Some had 60 acres; a few 80, and rarely 120. Larger farms were uncommon. Number of sons in the family often helped determine the size of the farm.

Present day young farmers may wish an explanation for the mini-sized farms. Horses were the only source of power in early days. Plowing was done with a walking plow that turned one furrow. The plowman walked behind the plow guiding the team and holding the plow handles at the same time.

Plowing was hard work and by night the workman was tired. Naturally the amount of plowing that could be done in one day then was just a fraction of what one man can plow today with modern equipment.

Fitting the seed bed and planting with the tools in use in the early 1900's was slow. Tending the growing crops was also hard. Harvesting was difficult and time consuming. Tools, such as a cradle and scythe were used before the horse drawn mowing machine and the grain binder were invented.

Interests of the early farmers were somewhat different. His aim was to raise sufficient food for his family and live stock with some to sell to get money to purchase things he could not produce, pay his taxes, make payments on his property, and meet his other expenses.

By hard work, thrift, and careful management many of those ambitious pioneers were able to live comfortably (by standards of that time), make the payments on their home, improve it, increase the size of their holdings, and save for a rainy day. Because of their determination and foresight, they paved the way for future generations.

Retiring Teachers Honored

BRITTON — Retiring teachers, Mrs. Frank (Lillian) Kniffen and Mrs. Leon (Beulah) Squires, were honored at a recognition dinner June 6 at Vigo's in Ypsilanti, for their 29 years of service in teaching profession. Dinner was sponsored by the elementary teachers and faculty of Paddock School in Milan. Over 100 persons attended.

Mrs. Kniffen, who lives at 10996 Kniffen Rd., is a native of the Britton area and a graduate of Britton High School. She received her teaching certificate from Blissfield County Normal, and a BS degree from Eastern Michigan University.

During her 29 years of teaching, she taught six years in rural schools (K-8 grades); five years at the Britton school (first grade) and for the past 18 years she has been teaching third grade at Paddock Elementary School.

She plans to enjoy more leisure time with her husband, Frank, a retired farmer, and spend more time with her three grandchildren. The Kniffens have a daughter and son, both married.

Mrs. Squires resides with her husband, Leon, on their farm on Pennington Rd.. She is a graduate of Capac High School, located in the thumb area, and earned her BS degree at Eastern Michigan University.

Her 29 years of elementary teaching began in her home town of Capac, where she taught for two years; eight years in Milan rural schools (K-8 grades); and the remaining 19 years as second grade teacher at Paddock.

Mr. and Mrs. Squires have three married children and nine grandchildren.

Her future plans include helping around the farm and looking forward to spending some time in Florida this winter.

Two Place in Essay Contest

Some 200 schools and 4,000 students participated in this year's contest which was conducted through 52 Farm Burea Insurance Group Offices around the State.

State Title Hopes Crushed

By FRANK WEIR

Although they literally gave their blood, sweat and tears in an injury-filled afternoon, Tecumseh High's girls softball squad just couldn't put it together Saturday, losing in the Class B state finals in Kalamazoo to Dearborn Divine Child.

Final tally stood at 12-4.

The heart-breaking loss came after a triumphant Tecumseh victory over a weak Fenton team, 10-3, in the semi-finals earlier in the day.

As the girls began the final contest, they were fired-up with state-title fever carrying over the momentum of that first game. They quickly jumped out to a 3-1 lead.

That momentum was broken when shortstop Tori Iffland was injured in the bottom of the first inning in a freak accident.

Tori was taken to a local hospital for treatment by Indian athletic director Don Brazee.

Dearborn picked up another run in the first inning after Tori was injured and the Indians would not score again until the last inning. Dearborn picked up four more runs in the second inning and three each in the fourth and fifth stanzas.

Six errors in the game for Tecumseh made a crucial and costly difference. Dearborn made only one error.

Coach Nancy Fisher says of the loss after an easy victory, "I felt we lost it in the first inning when Tori got hurt. This team is closely knit. They have been through the basketball and volleyball season together, and mentally it really shook them up."

"I don't want to take anything away from Dearborn because they were a good team, but I think it would have been a different game if we hadn't lost Tori."

Earlier, in the Fenton game, Peg Upell collided with Amy Montague near a light pole close to first base and Peg chipped her tooth. Late in the Dearborn game, Julie Murphy suffered a minor injury to her finger.

Coach Fisher commented on the injury-prone Indians Saturday, "We didn't have any injuries all year. We felt very lucky that we hadn't suffered any during the regular season and then to suffer three . . ."

In addition to the injuries, Tecumseh just wasn't hitting in the finals, coming up with only five hits.

Julie Murphy and Jill Greenfield each had a double and Betsy Miller, Jane Faulkner and Julie Anderson each had a single.

Lisa Lee pitched the final game, striking out five, walking one and allowing 11 hits.

The team will be losing the talents of Lee and Julie Murphy, only two who graduated.

In the game against Fenton, six girls scored Tecumseh's 11 hits, including Julie Murphy and Betsy Miller with two singles apiece, Tori Iffland with a single and double, Jane Faulkner with a triple, Julie Anderson with three singles and Amy Montague with a single.

Sue Frazier pitched against Fenton, walking one and allowing nine hits.

The Indians ended with an overall record of 25-3

Softball Tourney

Any persons aged 15-18 or team interested in signing up for the co-ed softball tournament sponsored by the recreation department, is urged to do so before June 20th.

There must be a 10-person team for entry, consisting of five boys and five girls.

The tournament will take place on June 28 at the athletic field. There is a registration fee per team for umpires and trophies.

A list of rules can be obtained at the community center.

Dancer's, Ponderosa Each Suffer 1st Loss

TUESDAY LEAGUE

Wrong Way Pub came out on top of Dancers. It was the first defeat of the year for Dancer's, now with a four and one record. Wrong Way Pub went the right way in this game as they scored 14 runs to Dancer's 7. Four men, Pike, Shimmel, Phillips and Rutherford, each had two hits for WWP, now three and two. In a losing cause, Bozeman hit a homerun.

In the second contest of the evening, United Savings Bank beat Underwood Chevrolet, 9-1. After the Bank scored four runs in the first inning, Underwood did not allow the Bank to score again until the sixth inning when they cashed in for five runs. Durkee collected a home run for the Bank, while Baxter, Oxley, Cooley and Nelson each got two hits for the Bank. There were seven hits for Underwood, each coming from a different player.

In the closest contest of the evening, Sheep Flockers defeated B&W West 7-4. Both Bennet and Ehnis rounded the bases for the winners. Slusher got three hits for Sheep Flockers. B&W West got seven hits, with Stoddard getting a three bagger in a losing cause.

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE

Due to rain conditions on Wednesday, the games were made up on Friday evening.

In the first game, of the night, Pike Inn beat Judkins Insurance, 9-2. Vogal hit a home run for Pike Inn while Pittman got three hits. Judkins could only claim two runs, each collected two hits apiece in a losing cause.

In an extremely close contest, Proctor served Ponderosa a 6-5 loss. The win for Proctor was accomplished by Proctor, Clayfield, and Grinnell each collecting two hits apiece. Tripp and Hoffman each rounded the bags.

In an error-filled game, Oberst beat the J.C.'s 23-4. The J.C.'s had nine errors in the contest, Barricklow and Philo each hit a home run, while Owens got four hits, with three other team members getting three hits apiece. The J.C.'s got 10 hits, each one coming from a different team member.

THS Golfer Qualfies

Sophomore John Gibson tied for a fourth spot with an 82. The tournament was held at Radrick Farms Golf Club in Ann Arbor.

John will now go on to state competition July 20-21 in Lansing.

Other Tecumseh players who participated but did not qualify included, Scott Macbeth, Steve Lynch, Dave and Sandy Jacobs, Jeff Steiner and Dave Baldwin.

Servoss Is All-State

Mike Servoss, catcher for the Tory baseball squad, has been named to the Associated Press Class D All-State baseball team it was announced Saturday.

Servoss was also named to the Class D All-State football team last fall. He just graduated from Britton-Macon High School ending a successful athletic career.

His career batting average ended at .367 on 58 hits in 158 times at bat. In the season just completed, he was tops in the county in batting with a .467 average knocking in 15 runs and scoring 18 runs himself.

In addition, he has a career record of 57 stolen bases out of 58 attempted.

Tennis Lessons Offered

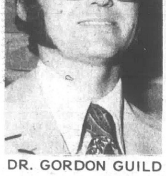
Boy, 14, Is Killed in Gun Accident

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at Proctor Funeral Home for Jeffery Elliott, 14, who was killed in a gun accident at his home about 12:45 Saturday noon.

He was sitting in a living room chair when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged. His brother, James, 11, was in a bedroom dusting the gun. The bullet went through the open doorway, striking Jeff in the chest, according to the Tecumseh police report.



He ran out the front door, apparently to seek help from a neighbor, but then collapsed in a drive way. Another brother, 16, also was at home but both parents were away at the time.

Jeff was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elliott, 738 S. Union St., and would have entered Tecumseh High School next fall. He was born on March 31, 1961 at Gallipolis, Ohio.

He was a member of the Lenawee Free-Will Baptist Church of Adrian.

Survivors, besides the parents and two brothers, are two grandmothers. Mrs. Layuna Niebert, Gallipolis, and Mrs. Thelma Elliott, Point Pleasant, W.Va.; great-grandmother, Mrs. Ida Lucas, Gallipolis, and several aunts and cousins. He was preceded in death by both grandfathers.

The Rev. E.L. Sneed officiated at the services, and burial was in Lenawee Hills Memorial Park, Adrian.

Thomas C. Tuckerman, 25, of 418 Adrian St., compounded his problems about 2:00 Saturday morning when he attempted to elude police from Clinton.

Tecumseh police were called for assistance and stopped the fleeing driver in front of Green's Clothing in downtown Tecumseh.

Charges against Tuckerman by Clinton police are driving on a suspended driver's license, fleeing and eluding police officers, reckless driving and speeding.

Possible charges from the City of Tecumseh are malicious destruction of property - approximately $415 in damages to a new city patrol car which was rammed at the end of the chase.

Tuckerman was taken to the county jail.

Six mishaps, including one involving a bicycle, were investigated by local police the past week. Most were minor.

Katherine A. Ocamb, 19, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Ocamb, 500 S. Occidental, escaped serious injury Saturday when she rode a bike from the lane to her home out into S. Occidental Rd.

She landed on the hood of a car driven by Howard L. Rathke, 45, Adrian, who told police he did not see the girl until it was too late. He was not held responsible.

She was taken to Bixby Hospital for treatment of minor injuries and observation, and was released.

Other accidents were:

June 19 — Evelyn S. Arnett, 24, Adrian, was cited for violation of the basic speed law after attempting a turn into W. Pottawatamie, jumped a curb and hit a stop sign and street sign. She was headed north on S. Occidental Rd. at the time.

Officials Backing Walton To Stay as Police Chief

By Kathy Brown

Ray Walton, Tecumseh police chief since May 1973, handed his written resignation to Cal Zorn, city manager, last Wednesday morning, effective "at Council's earliest convenience," said Walton.

Council is expected to act on the resignation at the next meeting July 7.

Walton gave no reason in his short, two-paragraph letter. He told the Tecumseh Herald, "I want a job where I have to account for my own actions."

In both his letter and a personal interview, Walton said he regretted that his sudden resignation was unfair to the city. He will continue until a suitable replacement is found.

The resignation came on the heels of the June 16 Council meeting at which Walton revealed his displeasure over an intra-department action.

Walton said he decided to resign after the Council meeting that Monday night, but in an earlier interview with the Tecumseh Herald, he emphasized any resignation would not be over Mrs. Bowers' questions about buying helmets for the 12-man force or the fact that some of the men wanted to buy them themselves.

Walton refused to comment on other situations in the department which could have prompted his resignation. He did not comment whether his authority was undermined.

Zorn hoped that Walton would reconsider but after talking with him Monday, Zorn said "Walton did not indicate he would reconsider." Walton told the Tecumseh Herald his resignation was "definite."

Two years ago Zorn made a four-month search, through the services of the Michigan Municipal League, to find the former Ypsilanti police chief and 27-year police veteran. "I hoped he would be the last police chief I'd have to hire. They aren't easy to find," said Zorn.

Zorn rated Walton's performance as "excellent . . . In the short time that he has been here he has earned the respect of the community. I'm sorry he's leaving."

Zorn indicated the new search would probably begin with the MML again.

Walton, originally from Armada, began his police career April 15, 1948. He spent 25 years on the Ypsilanti police force, holding the office of chief from 1964 to 1969 and was captain of detectives until 1972.

He said he expects to continue residing in Tecumseh.

Three Gain Top Political Offices at Girls' State

By Kathy Brown

Betsy Miller, Becky Barron and Amy Montague, Tecumseh High School juniors, have proved themselves effective politicos. They captured the state offices of attorney general, lieutenant governor and sergeant at arms of the senate during the 1975 American Legion Auxiliary Girls' State at Olivet College, June 14-22.

Girls' State stresses the importance of government, stimulates interest in and enlarges understanding of government through running a mock government.

Excitement for the girls began when they arrived at Olivet Saturday and a book of "laws" was thrust at them to study for the state bar exam Sunday.

The Tecumseh trio were among the top 100 scorers to qualify as lawyers from 503.

Betsy and Becky were active as city party chairmen and participated in the state central committee. Following the political scheme, they worked on a platform for the Federalist party, organized the party convention and screened candidates for state offices.

Meanwhile lawyer Amy was assistant prosecuting attorney in a trial and rose to sergeant at arms of the senate after an appointment by the lieutenant governor, Becky.

Betsy was one of two candidates running for the job of attorney general and Becky was one of six running for the office of lieutenant governor of the Federalist party. The girls said one reason they won two of four top state offices was because their party was better organized than the Nationalists.

Mrs. John Snyder, local auxiliary Girls' State chairman, said Tecumseh High School students participation in the annual Lenawee County Youth Convention gave the girls' an edge in understanding of government.

"Thanks to the THS teachers, the Tecumseh girls knew what was happening at Girls' State. Most others don't realize what is going on until the end of the week.

In addition to learning more about government and politics, the girls also learned how to organize their strongest personal talents to win.

Girls' State has proved to be a lasting experience for the trio. Attorney general Betsy Miller is now seriously considering a law career. Perhaps she will follow in the foot steps of Tecumseh's Gail Hohenstein, a Girls' State alumna, now in law school, who received the citizenship award, as Betsy did.

Becky Barron, selected parlimentarian for the upcoming county youth convention, said she is now more confident in her role. Amy Montague commented that meeting people, learning about issues and local government are fascinating experences she won't forget.

Girls were sponsored locally by the American Legion Auxiliary Underwood Orr unit no. 34, under Claire Helms, president during 1974-75.

Tecumseh Business and Professional Women's Club and Tecumseh Products Co. support the program financially.

Students were selected on the school's recommendation and review of overall achievements, interests, and qualities.

Chief, City Manager Reply on 12-Man Police Force

By KATHY BROWN

Is a 12-man police force big enough to serve Tecumseh's needs for protection?

This question was debated briefly between councilmen at the last meeting and at least two felt Tecumseh should have more.

Presently, there are four men per shift-days, afternoons and nights. However, vacations, days off and sick leave can bring this down to two men per shift, one at the desk and one in a patrol car.

Police chief Ray Walton told the Tecumseh Herald Monday that the department has been operating with two men per shift for the last three days, although this situation is not frequent. "There are never less than two men on duty," Walton said.

Walton said back up is provided by the Michigan State Police and the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department.

"This occurs about twice a month in a situation where a disturbance or a suspect is potentially dangerous, armed with a gun. Sometimes they request back-up from Tecumseh if they are in the area," said Walton.

Asked if he thought 12 men are sufficient, Cal Zorn, city manager said, "Tecumseh has more police per 1,000 people in any city in Region II, which includes Lenawee, Jackson and Hillsdale counties, except in the case of Hillsdale, where their men are fire and police men. We even out rank the city of Jackson," he related.

Chief Walton views the question of hiring additional men from a cost-benefit standpoint. "I look at the city as a business. You have only so much money and have to decide what is desirable. What people want and what they are willing to pay for are two different things.

"To make a significant change in the department, you would need to add at least three men, one to each shift, a total cost of about $35,000," he added.

Zorn said Walton's estimate is low. Each patrolman receives a $12,000 salary alone. Fringe benefits are about 35 percent of pay. Benefits include Social Security and retirement, the most expensive, life insurance, hospitalization, workman's compensation, vacations, holidays, sick leave, unemployment and clothing.

The 1975-76 police budget is $230,000, a good deal of it is salaries and benefits.

Possibility of hiring civilian dispatchers to release patrolmen from the desk was tried once. "At one time the city hired older people as dispatchers. They were replaced with a full-time officer. Reasoning was that these people must decide what to do in an emergency and they should be qualified patrolmen," said Zorn.

Walton said compared to other cities its size, Tecumseh is average in its crime rate and traffic accidents. He said the heavier traffic is due to higher percentage of industry.

"Here in the city it is hard to be in an area where an officer's cry for assistance wouldn't be noticed," Walton continued.

Walton claims that the more a community spends for police protection, the less the citizen takes personal responsibility for his safety. "More a city spends, the more often you hear people's excuse 'I'm paying for police protection.' Police alone can't do the job. It requires complaints, witnesses, those willing to testify and to serve a jury."

State Title Hopes Crushed

By FRANK WEIR

Although they literally gave their blood, sweat and tears in an injury-filled afternoon, Tecumseh High's girls softball squad just couldn't put it together Saturday, losing in the Class B state finals in Kalamazoo to Dearborn Divine Child.

Final tally stood at 12-4.

The heart-breaking loss came after a triumphant Tecumseh victory over a weak Fenton team, 10-3, in the semi-finals earlier in the day.

As the girls began the final contest, they were fired-up with state-title fever carrying over the momentum of that first game. They quickly jumped out to a 3-1 lead.

That momentum was broken when shortstop Tori Iffland was injured in the bottom of the first inning in a freak accident.

A ball struck Tori squarely in the mouth after a bad bounce, severely damaging one front tooth and loosening the other.

Tori was taken to a local hospital for treatment by Indian athletic director Don Brazee.

Dearborn picked up another run in the first inning after Tori was injured and the Indians would not score again until the last inning. Dearborn picked up four more runs in the second inning and three each in the fourth and fifth stanzas.

Six errors in the game for Tecumseh made a crucial and costly difference. Dearborn made only one error.

Coach Nancy Fisher says of the loss after an easy victory, "I felt we lost it in the first inning when Tori got hurt. This team is closely knit. They have been through the basketball and volleyball season together, and mentally it really shook them up."

"I don't want to take anything away from Dearborn because they were a good team, but I think it would have been a different game if we hadn't lost Tori."

Earlier, in the Fenton game, Peg Upell collided with Amy Montague near a light pole close to first base and Peg chipped her tooth. Late in the Dearborn game, Julie Murphy suffered a minor injury to her finger.

Coach Fisher commented on the injury-prone Indians Saturday, "We didn't have any injuries all year. We felt very lucky that we hadn't suffered any during the regular season and then to suffer three . . ."

In addition to the injuries, Tecumseh just wasn't hitting in the finals, coming up with only five hits.

Julie Murphy and Jill Greenfield each had a double and Betsy Miller, Jane Faulkner and Julie Anderson each had a single.

Lisa Lee pitched the final game, striking out five, walking one and allowing 11 hits.

The team will be losing the talents of Lee and Julie Murphy, only two who graduated.

In the game against Fenton, six girls scored Tecumseh's 11 hits, including Julie Murphy and Betsy Miller with two singles apiece, Tori Iffland with a single and double, Jane Faulkner with a triple, Julie Anderson with three singles and Amy Montague with a single.

Sue Frazier pitched against Fenton, walking one and allowing nine hits.

The Indians ended with an overall record of 25-3

Softball Tourney

Any persons aged 15-18 or team interested in signing up for the co-ed softball tournament sponsored by the recreation department, is urged to do so before June 20th.

There must be a 10-person team for entry, consisting of five boys and five girls.

The tournament will take place on June 28 at the athletic field. There is a registration fee per team for umpires and trophies.

A list of rules can be obtained at the community center.

TUESDAY LEAGUE

Wrong Way Pub came out on top of Dancers. It was the first defeat of the year for Dancer's, now with a four and one record. Wrong Way Pub went the right way in this game as they scored 14 runs to Dancer's 7. Four men, Pike, Shimmel, Phillips and Rutherford, each had two hits for WWP, now three and two. In a losing cause, Bozeman hit a homerun.

In the second contest of the evening, United Savings Bank beat Underwood Chevrolet, 9-1. After the Bank scored four runs in the first inning, Underwood did not allow the Bank to score again until the sixth inning when they cashed in for five runs. Durkee collected a home run for the Bank, while Baxter, Oxley, Cooley and Nelson each got two hits for the Bank. There were seven hits for Underwood, each coming from a different player.

In the closest contest of the evening, Sheep Flockers defeated B&W West 7-4. Both Bennet and Ehnis rounded the bases for the winners. Slusher got three hits for Sheep Flockers. B&W West got seven hits, with Stoddard getting a three bagger in a losing cause.

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE

Due to rain conditions on Wednesday, the games were made up on Friday evening.

In the first game, of the night, Pike Inn beat Judkins Insurance, 9-2. Vogal hit a home run for Pike Inn while Pittman got three hits. Judkins could only claim two runs, each collected two hits apiece in a losing cause.

In an extremely close contest, Proctor served Ponderosa a 6-5 loss. The win for Proctor was accomplished by Proctor, Clayfield, and Grinnell each collecting two hits apiece. Tripp and Hoffman each rounded the bags.

In an error-filled game, Oberst beat the J.C.'s 23-4. The J.C.'s had nine errors in the contest, Barricklow and Philo each hit a home run, while Owens got four hits, with three other team members getting three hits apiece. The J.C.'s got 10 hits, each one coming from a different team member.

THS Golfer Qualfies

Several members of Tecumseh's high school golf team participated in the Independent Insurance Agents Youth Classic's regional golf tourney on Monday of this week.

Sophomore John Gibson tied for a fourth spot with an 82. The tournament was held at Radrick Farms Golf Club in Ann Arbor.

John will now go on to state competition July 20-21 in Lansing.

Other Tecumseh players who participated but did not qualify included, Scott Macbeth, Steve Lynch, Dave and Sandy Jacobs, Jeff Steiner and Dave Baldwin.

His career batting average ended at .367 on 58 hits in 158 times at bat. In the season just completed, he was tops in the county in batting with a .467 average knocking in 15 runs and scoring 18 runs himself.

In addition, he has a career record of 57 stolen bases out of 58 attempted.

Zorn rated Walton's performance as "excellent . . . In the short time that he has been here he has earned the respect of the community. I'm sorry he's leaving."

Zorn indicated the new search would probably begin with the MML again.

Walton, originally from Armada, began his police career April 15, 1948. He spent 25 years on the Ypsilanti police force, holding the office of chief from 1964 to 1969 and was captain of detectives until 1972.

He said he expects to continue residing in Tecumseh.

Three Gain Top Political Offices at Girls' State

By Kathy Brown

Betsy Miller, Becky Barron and Amy Montague, Tecumseh High School juniors, have proved themselves effective politicos. They captured the state offices of attorney general, lieutenant governor and sergeant at arms of the senate during the 1975 American Legion Auxiliary Girls' State at Olivet College, June 14-22.

Girls' State stresses the importance of government, stimulates interest in and enlarges understanding of government through running a mock government.

Excitement for the girls began when they arrived at Olivet Saturday and a book of "laws" was thrust at them to study for the state bar exam Sunday.

The Tecumseh trio were among the top 100 scorers to qualify as lawyers from 503.

Betsy and Becky were active as city party chairmen and participated in the state central committee. Following the political scheme, they worked on a platform for the Federalist party, organized the party convention and screened candidates for state offices.

Meanwhile lawyer Amy was assistant prosecuting attorney in a trial and rose to sergeant at arms of the senate after an appointment by the lieutenant governor, Becky.

Betsy was one of two candidates running for the job of attorney general and Becky was one of six running for the office of lieutenant governor of the Federalist party. The girls said one reason they won two of four top state offices was because their party was better organized than the Nationalists.

Mrs. John Snyder, local auxiliary Girls' State chairman, said Tecumseh High School students participation in the annual Lenawee County Youth Convention gave the girls' an edge in understanding of government.

"Thanks to the THS teachers, the Tecumseh girls knew what was happening at Girls' State. Most others don't realize what is going on until the end of the week.

In addition to learning more about government and politics, the girls also learned how to organize their strongest personal talents to win.

Girls' State has proved to be a lasting experience for the trio. Attorney general Betsy Miller is now seriously considering a law career. Perhaps she will follow in the foot steps of Tecumseh's Gail Hohenstein, a Girls' State alumna, now in law school, who received the citizenship award, as Betsy did.

Becky Barron, selected parlimentarian for the upcoming county youth convention, said she is now more confident in her role. Amy Montague commented that meeting people, learning about issues and local government are fascinating experences she won't forget.

Girls were sponsored locally by the American Legion Auxiliary Underwood Orr unit no. 34, under Claire Helms, president during 1974-75.

Tecumseh Business and Professional Women's Club and Tecumseh Products Co. support the program financially.

Students were selected on the school's recommendation and review of overall achievements, interests, and qualities.

Chief, City Manager Reply on 12-Man Police Force

By KATHY BROWN

Is a 12-man police force big enough to serve Tecumseh's needs for protection?

This question was debated briefly between councilmen at the last meeting and at least two felt Tecumseh should have more.

Presently, there are four men per shift-days, afternoons and nights. However, vacations, days off and sick leave can bring this down to two men per shift, one at the desk and one in a patrol car.

Police chief Ray Walton told the Tecumseh Herald Monday that the department has been operating with two men per shift for the last three days, although this situation is not frequent. "There are never less than two men on duty," Walton said.

Walton said back up is provided by the Michigan State Police and the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department.

"This occurs about twice a month in a situation where a disturbance or a suspect is potentially dangerous, armed with a gun. Sometimes they request back-up from Tecumseh if they are in the area," said Walton.

Asked if he thought 12 men are sufficient, Cal Zorn, city manager said, "Tecumseh has more police per 1,000 people in any city in Region II, which includes Lenawee, Jackson and Hillsdale counties, except in the case of Hillsdale, where their men are fire and police men. We even out rank the city of Jackson," he related.

Chief Walton views the question of hiring additional men from a cost-benefit standpoint. "I look at the city as a business. You have only so much money and have to decide what is desirable. What people want and what they are willing to pay for are two different things.

"To make a significant change in the department, you would need to add at least three men, one to each shift, a total cost of about $35,000," he added.

Zorn said Walton's estimate is low. Each patrolman receives a $12,000 salary alone. Fringe benefits are about 35 percent of pay. Benefits include Social Security and retirement, the most expensive, life insurance, hospitalization, workman's compensation, vacations, holidays, sick leave, unemployment and clothing.

The 1975-76 police budget is $230,000, a good deal of it is salaries and benefits.

Possibility of hiring civilian dispatchers to release patrolmen from the desk was tried once. "At one time the city hired older people as dispatchers. They were replaced with a full-time officer. Reasoning was that these people must decide what to do in an emergency and they should be qualified patrolmen," said Zorn.

Walton said compared to other cities its size, Tecumseh is average in its crime rate and traffic accidents. He said the heavier traffic is due to higher percentage of industry.

"Here in the city it is hard to be in an area where an officer's cry for assistance wouldn't be noticed," Walton continued.

Walton claims that the more a community spends for police protection, the less the citizen takes personal responsibility for his safety. "More a city spends, the more often you hear people's excuse 'I'm paying for police protection.' Police alone can't do the job. It requires complaints, witnesses, those willing to testify and to serve a jury."

Equipment Totals $40,000

New officers were unanimously elected at the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary May meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Crause was elected president.

Other officers include: first vice-president, Mrs. L.D. Thompson; second vice-president, Mrs. Larry Bauman; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Jobes; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Graham Foster; treasurer, Mrs. Ray Stockinger and assistant treasurer, Mrs. Dermont Poley.

Health career scholarships went to Sharon McFadden of Tecumseh, and to Cindy A. Piatt, Clinton. A third applicant, Micholine Towers, Clayton, received a half scholarship of $250.

Auxiliary's main function, to provide equipment to the hospital, was successful this year. Club authorized the purchase of nearly $40,000 worth of equipment. Major items included emergency heart equipment, X-ray film processor, monitors for the new intensive coronary care unit and a motorized treadmill for evaluating heart problems.

Among fund raising activities, the auxiliary reported that the Holiday Ball produced a profit of $905; salad luncheon, $883; town hall tickets, $45; sesqui dances, $390.

Twenty-one groups of bridge and euchre players, 336 persons, vied for the prizes during the card tournament. A profit of $1,907 was returned to the auxiliary.

At the hospital, the club reported that the candy striper program was temporarily discontinued due to low student interest. Volunteers continue to work on the cart, which with the vending machines, brought a profit of $1,167. Gift shop reported its value at $4,141.

Auxiliary explained that the television rental service was a major fund-raiser, with a profit of $10,159. New televisions will be purchased for the new part of the hospital.

Party and Tree Honors Resigning Sutton Principal

Enthusiasm was high during Otto Bufe's going away party, but the kids were not happy to see their principal leave. Bufe resigned to accept a position as school superintendent in the Upper Peninsula.

Highlight of the party proved to be the tree planting on the west side of the school. The White Pine will remain at the circle drive, while Bufe will keep a scroll the teachers made to send with the principal.

Party started with a pizza lunch. A PTO open house followed for the school children's parents.

Gifts Bufe received as going away presents included cards and books from each grade, a brief case from Sutton's PTO, and the tree and scroll. He was also made an honorary Blue Boy by the Sutton Camp Fire Girls.

Karen Bufe, sixth grade teacher at Herrick Park School, has also resigned to accompany her husband.

You Told Us

Most of us are familiar with Michigan's motto: "If you seek a beautiful peninsula, look around you." But few of us appreciate "home" until we've been outstate on summer vacation. Considering how rich we are in natural resources, especially water for all sorts of year around sports, we Michiganders have a lot to boast about and care for.

This summer why not be an ambassador for Michigan and Tecumseh. Show 'em why we're called the "land of hospitality." Be courteous to visitors in town. On the road, extend courtesy to all; your driver's license plate is showing. Wherever you are, protect resources: don't litter, be careful with matches, drive safely.

THE PERFECT PRESCRIPTION

Monday was almost a perfect day. The sun was bright and just right for 'sitting in'. A nice breeze was partly responsible, it was just cool enough to counteract the sun's warmth. A good day for picking up a sunburn, which is exactly what I did.

Our excursion into the yard started out to be a short trip, I just wanted to see the peonies. The single red Mikados and the huge double pinks, whose name has long been forgotten, were in full bloom and pretty, even though the weekend's rain had beaten them down.

The weather was so lovely that the short trip grew into a many-hour affair. After all, the hair washing could wait for another day and the note, letter, and article writing we had planned would also wait. (They had before.)

The dictating would not have had to be postponed had we not looked at the barberry clump. It needed a bit of attention. The three Rogers were here, Auntn, Rog and their Miniature Schnauzer, Penny, so it was quite a gathering in the front yard.

Suddenly Dad remembered things he had to do inside and Rog remembered some calls he had to make in Tipton. The burst of memory was prompted by my merely wondering what was growing in the barberry bushes and Mom heading for the garage. When she came back with pruning shears, gloves, long handled clippers and the yard cart, the fellows were long gone. However, Penny and I had a good crew to strawboss.

By the time Mom and Auntn were through the barberry had lost its wild grapevines, several weed trees that had started to top the bushes, a wild rosebush, and I don't know what else. They had full sets of sore muscles and I was a bright lobster red. But oh, how nice the bushes looked.

We have always said that some dogs are smarter than people and the little Schnauzer leads the list of smart dogs. Mom and Auntn had chairs after all, rest periods now and then are quite necessary.

Penny investigated the yard but was never far from where the action was. She also was very careful to keep track of Mom and Auntn's work. However, most of the time she was curled up in a tight little ball under either one of their chairs or mine. It was fun to notice how she contoured her shape to fit the little patches of shade, of whichever chair she was under. Very clearly she was having the best of both worlds. She was staying close to people but enjoying the coolness of the shade. They could bake and broil but she had other ideas of how to spend a perfect day.

I too was enjoying the best of two worlds. Unlike Penny, I thoroughly enjoyed the sun and was seeking no shade. I was also bird watching. Oriole watching to be more exact. Now I know there is a hassle to drop the Baltimore from the Oriole's name.

Old habits die hard though and I find myself still calling these gorgeous orange and black birds Baltimore Orioles. But regardless of name, they are lovely to watch and we are always thrilled when they nest in the neighborhood.

And they are nesting nearby. I know the trees, if not the exact spot in that tree. It is a tall towering elm, one of the few remaining elms, and when the leaves are down we shall look to see from what branch these master weavers hung their intricately worked hanging-basket type of nest.

From my vantage point in the front yard I watched both the male and female make repeated trips to the same area of the tree. They always flew to the branches about midway up in the top but so dense is the foilage that they disappeared without giving away the secret of exactly where their nest was. It was quite apparent that they were feeding youngsters - nothing else would call for such hard work.

Fortunately for me most of these food carrying trips took the birds right over our front yard. I almost developed a stiff neck, it was like watching a tennis match. But, as the birds flew back and forth, I had ample opportunity to see that he was a beautiful bird with a bright orange body and jet black head whereas his lovely lady seemed darker than many females. Her head was definitely not black but it was certainly dark brown and her body a dark, lemony yellow.

When I was finally the red which signals "enough sun" and Mom and Auntn had the sore muscles which holler "stop", we decided the bushes looked okay and headed inside. Just as we went by the walnut tree, the yard exploded into the most beautiful oriole serenade ever. Lord Baltimore thrilled us with his loud clear whistling songs.

So it is that for a most satisfactory day I found that sunshine, family, and orioles mixed well and taken in a large dose is the perfect prescription.

Representative John Mowat Objects to Teacher Strike Bill

By Rep. John S. Mowat, Jr.

After months of discussion by educational interests and certain legislators, the House finally took action on a bill proposing to prevent long teacher strikes.

Following about one hour of debate, the issue passed by a 66-39 vote.

As one of the leading opponents to a bill which would legalize teachers strikes up to five weeks, the last two weeks with loss of pay, I believe the House in its sincere effort to do something to prevent prolonged strikes passed legislation that will cause more problems then it corrected.

My objections are that at a time when society is beginning to recognize that strikes in the private sector often result in negative impact to the general population and frequently fail to provide a real net gain for the strikers, it would seem foolish to extend the right to strike to the public sector.

Once we open the door for teachers, then why not extend the right to strike to the balance of the public sector.

Further, the bill relaxes by ten days the requirement of 180 days of school, and in the case of a legal strike would place the matter in the hands of the Circuit Court where the judge could—at this option—enjoin the strike, order further negotiations, or arbitration, or do nothing.

In an area such as Lenawee County, I do not believe we are doing teachers any favors by passing this type of legislation, as strikes can only hurt their image as professionals in their communities.

I beleive that there is a better alternative than to strike and that is when an impasse occurs to use a form of binding arbitration with certain conditions.

As a member of a special committee this was our bipartisan recommendations as proposed in H.B. 4469. However, this concept was fought by both the state teacher representatives and the lobbists for the school board associations.

I am pleased that Governor Milliken has stated his strong objection to the passed legislation. Hopefully, as the Senate considers the legislation, appropriate changes can be made which will improve the bill. I have to believe that the Legislature can do better than it did in passing H.B. 5181.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

Everybody puts up with ants on picnics because, after all, the little critters' domain is being invaded. But when they invade my domain—namely my kitchen—it's a whole new ball game.

I wasn't too shook up when I first discovered red ants had taken a liking to the formica area around my sink. Ants are pesty to be sure; an ant practicing the back stroke in your pea soup isn't exactly conducive to a good digestion But there isn't the stigma that goes hand in hand with—ugh—roaches.

So I said to myself, "Well, it could be worse." I am eating those words now. There is nothing left in the house TO EAT.

Our guests were content at first with a few Hillbilly bread crumbs washed down with strawberry Kool-Aid. Then they developed wierd cravings for Alphabits and Sure-Jell. The last straw came yesterday.

I came home to find my husband giving the kids the third degree: "All right, which one of you took it?" "Took what?" I asked innocently. "My chocolate eclair. I left it right here on the counter!"

The case was solved a moment later when a tiny army of six-legged beasties portaged the Pepto Bismol over the dish drainer.

Black Flag, here we come....

By Dick Eggleston

The most highly prized pearl, according to experts, are those that are spherical in shape. These are of many colors. When a pearl, that has been cut from the shell, presents a hemispherical surface, it is sometimes called a perie bouton. If a solid pearl has an irregular shape however, it is known as a baroque pearl. It is also known that pearls can be hollow, and these are called coq de perle. To experts, pearls may be described as pear, bell, or drop, according to their shape.

Highly prized gifts are those that come from EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. For weddings we have sterling silver, silverplate and pewter, wedding attendant gifts by Anson and of course the wedding bands by Keepsake. Bi-centennial Journey

FAMILY HEIRLOOMS

By Thelma Younglove

Many families, especially whose ancestors were among early settlers, have in their possession items classified as family heirlooms. Many of those things are irreplaceable and should be taken care of and cherished. The Bicentennial celebrations are arousing interest in antiques and families are becoming aware of articles in their homes of value because of their age and origin.

Little did people realize they would see the day when numerous things, once considered trash, would be valued if kept in good condition. Now some families regret loads of once unwanted items were consigned to the trash heap and were burned or buried.

Before getting rid of unwanted articles that could be antiques, consider where they came from, how old each is, and were the original owners ancestors.

Did you ever attend a household auction listing antiques for sale and notice the number of people in attendance? Then when the sale commenced and the bidding began watch how people fairly trod on each others toes attempting to get nearer to the item being sold. Were you amazed at the high price some articles brought, especially if several persons hoped to purchase the same thing?

Have you ever strolled along the tables where several antique dealers were displaying items for sale? Not all of them were in mint condition either. Were you somewhat surprised at the figures on the price tags? Did you remark to yourself or someone else, "I had no idea that was an antique. I have some junk like that at home."Such simple common place things as the old-fashioned wooden clothes pin are considered antiques auctioneers tell.

People interested in family heirlooms should make a list of the things they have and give a few pertinent facts about each item. Many historical facts have been lost because people neglected to keep written records.

Bell To Return for Adrian Parade

CLINTON — Adrian's old city hall bell will lead the "ringing of the bells" in Adrian, July 4 to signal the start of the Sesquicentennial parade.

For the Adrian Sesquicentennial the bell has been lettered with a quotation of John Adams, on July 4, 1776. "It seems to be this day should be solemnized with the ringing of the bell."

The bell will be at the 11 a.m. ceremony at College Ave. and Church St., Adrian, July 4, when that city's time capsule is buried to remain for 50 years.

More to Bees Than B-U-Z-Z-I-N-G

By KATHY BROWN

If all you think about bees is how hard they sting, or perhaps how colorful they are, think again because their importance in pollinating fruits, melons, cucumbers and other crops, makes a big difference in total crop production.

"Honey is getting . . . consumer resistance. Alternative is to rent bees for pollination," said Raymond Buell, Tipton, who with his wife, Geraldine own 5,800 colonies throughout the southern half of lower Michigan. They have kept bees for 25 years and process honey near Milford.

Raymond Kussmaul, Clinton, has a smaller operation of 800 colonies between here and Hillsdale. Both beekeepers rent bees to farmers.

"Blueberry growers in the state find their yield increases five to six times more by pollination," said Buell.

Beekeepers warn that insecticides kill bees. "Kept bees are needed more than people realize. In California, almond crops are in danger of failure due to lack of bees," said Kussmaul.

Today the federal and state governments provide assistance to keepers who lose bees through carless spraying.

High quality honey is still a significant crop for its cash value.

Sweet found in flowers is not honey but similar to sweetened water. This "nectar" is gathered, evaporated and modified by the bees into honey.

A beekeeper's work begins in the spring. The colonies are checked and given food if needed. (Bees live on the honey in winter.) Broods are also given drugs in liquid feed to protect them from disease.

In the spring, the keeper may also introduce a queen to begin a new colony for swarm control.

Early spring is the time of year that bees swarm in a terrifying, flying ball of thousands of bees.

All workers, with one queen in their midst, move out to find a place to build a new hive when a new queen is raised in the colony.

After buzzing around for a while, they finally rest on a firm place, waiting for the scout bee to bring word of a new home.

"Out of fear and ignorance, many people use bug bomb and try to destroy it," said Kussmaul. He suggests people call a beekeeper who will take the swarm.

"People get a bang out of watching me in patched overalls approaching the swarm," his wife, Sharon mused. They are fascinated by the keeper's courage in approaching the swarm, which reminds one of the mysterious snake charmer.

"There are approximately 10,000 or more bees in a hive now. By July, there will be 80,000. Those that are hatched now, will live six weeks. They literally work themselves to death making honey," said Buell.

It requires 160,000 bees to gather and prepare a pound of honey which represents 50,000 miles as the bee flies, or twice around the globe.

Work in the hive keeps the brood temperature at about 70 degrees in winter.

There is one queen per colony, but she does not rule over the inhabitants. Her sole purpose is to lay eggs, up to 2,000 per day. The worker bees (female) feed and groom the queen.

A queen mates for life with two or three drones. Since drones are also dependent on workers to be fed, they are cast out when not needed.

A new queen is not raised until a colony wants it. First new queen kills all others that may be raised. Sometimes the older queen helps raise the young or they fight and one takes a swarm to start a new colony.

Worker bees keep the small city of the hive in operation. Each has a specific job, whether it be street cleaner, water carrier, nurse, sentry, mason, engineer or air conditioner.

Bees carefully regulate their work force to the seasons and the amount of work to be done. When a bad season comes the bee city reduces its population. Efficiency is prime concern.

The honey business fluctuates as does others. Weather determines a good or bad year.

"This year has been cold. Bees won't fly under 50 degrees, nectar in dandelions doesn't flow until about 55 degrees. For sweet clover, 70 degree weather is necessary for nectar to run. If the weather is too dry, there is no nectar; if too wet, the bees won't fly out," said Buell in his straightforward manner.

"If farmers get corn planted and make hay, we can make honey," he generalized.

When blossoms are open, bee scouts go out to report the exact direction and distance. This is done by a bee dance, the slower the speed and quieter the talk, the further away is the sweet. Sun is used by bees as a point of reference.

The Buells said 1973 was a good year with 72,000 pounds of cut comb and 111,000 pounds of extract. Last year they had half of that.

Grandfather once said a bee sting is supposed to be ideal cure for arthritis, it loosens all the joints.

There might be some truth in this quip. Kussmaul said that bee venom is being studied as a possible cure for arthritis and research on stinging is being done in the Soviet Union.

KEEPING TOGETHER— The Raymond Kussmaul family of Clinton poses in beekeeper's gear at Meyers Airport. Left to right are wife, Sharon, Ray, Kendra, 5, David, 11, holding the frame and Richard, 12. Kussmaul has "worked bees" since his dad led him into the hobby at age 14. Family now assists Ray in the sideline. They also enjoy the Honey Festival each fall in Chesening, north of Owosso. Area girls can vie for the title of Michigan Honey Queen. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Honey in Recipes, A Natural Sweetener

Honey is nature's natural sweetener; the only unmanufactured sweet readily available in stores. History records it as the first sweet.

Today cook with honey for better flavor and storing qualities.

Here are tips for using honey in recipes:

When measuring honey, moisten cup or spoon with oil or melted butter, or measure shortening before measuring honey.

To use honey in place of sugar substitute equal amount of honey, but reduce other liquids by ¼ cup.

Cakes or cookies made with honey are improved in keeping qualities as honey tends to retard drying out, which is an important factor in baking in advance, also in sending cookies or other honey baked items to out-of-town friends or members of the family.

Lower baking temperature of oven about 25 degrees to prevent over-browning of honey baked goods.

Mrs. Raymond Kussmaul, Clinton offers these favorite honey recipes to our readers:

POPCORN CRUNCH

½ c. honey
3 qts. popped popcorn
1 c. nuts

Blend butter and honey. Heat until well blended. Pour over popcorn-nut mixture. Mix well. Spread over cookie sheet in thin layer. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 10 to 15 min. until crisp.

HONEY APPLE CRISP

6 c. sliced apples (about 2 lbs.)
1 t. lemon juice
⅓ c. honey
1⅓ c. all-purpose flour
2⅓ c. rolled oats
½ c. brown sugar
¼ t. salt
1⅓ c. butter

Arrange apples in greased baking dish and sprinkle with lemon juice. Spread honey over apples. Mix dry ingredients. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse bread crumbs. Sprinkle over apples. Bake at 375 degrees F. until apples are tender and crust is browned (about 30 min.) 6 servings.

Honey should be kept in a closed container in a dry place. Do not refrigerate as it hastens granulation.

Honey Butter should be kept in a cool place, not refrigerated.

Should granulation occur, place the container in a kettle of hot water until all crystals melt. The honey container should not rest on bottom of kettle. Granulation of honey does not injure color or flavor.

HARVESTING HONEY — The Raymond Buells process honey near Milford. In the fall, frames are removed from colonies and the thin, wax cap bees put on cells are uncapped with an electric machine, as Buell demonstrates with a knife. An electric extractor, which works like a laundry extractor, draws out the honey. It is strained and packaged and is also packaged "cut comb." (Photo by Frank Weir)

Book Mark

Readers can beat the heat with these new novels from Tecumseh Public Library:

THE COOK-GENERAL, by John Cashman, is a novel based on the Barnes mystery of 1879, a British case in which an English widow was murdered by her cook, Kate Webster. The murder's unique feature was Mrs. Webster's grisly method of hiding the body. Although Cashman details the case and its outcome in the foreword, his [illegible] creates a novel filled with tension and suspense.

THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY, by Michael Crichton, is another novel based on fact. The great train robbery took place in 1855, when a train carrying two safes filled with gold bullion for the British army fighting in Russia arrived minus the gold. The mystery remains unsolved to this day. But Crichton has plotted so well the reader feels he must be reading an account of how the robbery was actually brought off.

THE BENGALI INHERITANCE, by Owen Sela, introduces Richard Chan, a brilliant Chinese detective working in Hong Kong. Chan investigates the murder of a mysterious Indian and the whereabouts of a plane full of gold that had crashed in Taiwan in 1945.

THE MEMOIRS OF A SURVIVOR is described by author Doris Lessing as "an attempt at autobiography." It envisions life in the near future when barbarism is the norm and each person must struggle to survive. The narrator not only watches the disintegration of civilized life, but relives her own past. In such a setting the novel is autobiography turned fable.

A THREE-PIPE PROBLEM is the latest mystery novel by Julian Symons. Two seemingly unrelated murders have been committed in London. The only similarity was in the method-a karate chop to the neck. The superintendent of Scotland Yard is mystified when Sheridan Haynes, of Baker Street, begins to take an interest. Sheridan plays Sherlock Holmes on TV, so he's a natural sleuth. This is a well-written mystery with a few new twists.

FAR TORTUGA, by Peter Matthiessen, is a novel which has attracted a great deal of enthusiastic attentions from literary critics. The plot concerns a turtle fishing voyage in the Carribean and the adventures which befall the crew. The style is poetic and impressionistic; it is a style which remains very noticeable to the reader throughout the novel. Let's see whether Tecumseh critics agree with the ones in New York!

THE LITTLE HOTEL, by Christina Stead, is the author's attempt to describe post-war European society by putting the tenants of a seedy Swiss hotel under the microscope. Each character is funny, frail, somewhat bizarre, and thoroughly human.

Six Receive Ferris Degrees

Six Tecumseh area residents were graduated during spring commencement exercises at Ferris State College in Big Rapids.

Memoriams

In loving memory of my husband George Henry Jr. who passed away 4 years ago June 24, 1971.
God took you away so sudden,
The shock was hard to stand,
But he wanted you in His garden
In a much more beautiful land.
God did not give me a warning
He was taking you away,
For he knew I loved you dearly
And would beg Him to let you stay.
Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren. 6-26p

In memory of Bernie Pate who passed away three years ago June 29, 1972.
Those who we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind;
Loving and kind in all his ways;
Upright and just to end of his days;
Sincere and true in hearts and mind
Beautiful memories be left behind.
